OFFICIALS IN JAPAN ARE TO TRY TO REDUCE THE EXPENSES OF THE GOVERNMENT.

Peace is nearer than ever. Japan has offered to sign a peace treaty with the United States and Europe, and is willing to renounce its claim to China. The Japanese government has also agreed to give up its fleet and to reduce its army and navy. The peace treaty is expected to be signed within the next few days.

The United States and Japan will sign a peace treaty, which will be ratified by both governments. The treaty will end the war between the two nations, and will provide for the exchange of prisoners and the restoration of war-damaged property. The treaty will also provide for the payment of reparations by Japan to the United States.

The treaty will be signed in Washington, D.C., on the 10th of the month. The signing ceremony will be attended by President Harding and the Japanese ambassador. The treaty is expected to be ratified by both nations within the next few weeks.

RALPH WAGNER.

At the recent Senate hearing, Senator Wagner made some very critical remarks regarding the administration of the government. He charged that the administration was wasteful and inefficient, and that it was not doing enough for the people. Senator Wagner also said that the administration was not doing enough to prevent the spread of communism.

The administration has denied Senator Wagner’s charges, and has said that the government is doing everything in its power to prevent the spread of communism. The administration has also said that it is doing everything in its power to improve the efficiency of the government.

The Senate is expected to take up the issue of the administration’s efficiency at the next session.

SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLICS.

The South American republics have been discussing the possibility of forming a federation to promote the interests of the South American nations. The negotiations have been going on for several weeks, and it is expected that an agreement will be reached in the near future.

The federation would be modeled on the European Union, and would be designed to promote cooperation and development among the South American nations. The federation would also be designed to promote the interests of the small nations in the region.

The negotiations have been going on for several weeks, and it is expected that an agreement will be reached in the near future.

PORTLAND.

A large public meeting was held in Portland last night to discuss the question of the sale of the city’s water system to a private company. The meeting was attended by several hundred residents of the city, who were opposed to the sale of the system.

The meeting was addressed by several speakers, including Mayor Johnson and several prominent citizens. The speakers condemned the sale of the system, and said that it would be detrimental to the public interest.

The meeting was adjourned at midnight, and the decision of the city council on the issue will be announced at a later date.
