Notwithstanding the cold breeze which prevailed on Friday evening of last week a good crowd assembled on the lawn at the Congregational church. The young folks indulged in games that warmed them up and young and old partook of the delicious ice cream served by Sunday school children assisted by the officers and teachers. The affair was counted a success especially by the young people who were probably those most interested.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. Church served ice cream under the shade of the maples at the residence of Mr. Galeaner Wednesday afternoon. These Oases in the desert of summer have come to be a weekly refreshing event, to which the public look forward with pleasure.

P. Louer has several thrifty tea plants, grown from seeds furnished by the government. These plants were started 7 years ago. Experts claim that the plants have developed more rapidly than in their native country, Japan, and demonstrate that this climate is favorable to their growth. Your correspondent has sampled it and can testify to the excellent flavor of the beverage brewed from it. It seems that a new industry may be developed for our people.

Mrs. Henry Scholl is convalescing rapidly.
