Stick to the farm, young man. It insures you a good living and a free and independent life. The free lunch supply in the cities is being cut shorter every year.

Harry Thaw isn't proving so great a bonanza as his attorneys had hoped. They are suing him to collect their fees for defending him in his recent trial for the murder of Stanford White.

Cold storage politics is now the order of the day. If you wish to hear Bryan or Taft on imperialism or any other ism, all you have to do is to order a new record for your phonograph. You can also have the moving picture accompaniment if you desire. If Washington, Jefferson, or any of the statesmen of the old regime who did their campaigning on horseback, should appear and see the presidential candidates of today talking across the continent over a telphone wire, while tens of thousands of "talking machines" are spouting their speeches, wonder what their comment would be?

The Pleasure of Work.

He is a happy man who finds pleasure in his daily work, and an unhappy man who doesn't.

We are too prone to hold the idea that work is a species of drudgery required of every one in order that he or she may exist. Such a view is erroneous and does injustice to the dignity of labor. The wholesome exercise of hand and brain is the process required by nature by which every man or woman shall come into possession of and enjoy a well poised manhood or womanhood. Idleness leads to mischief and mischief, unchecked, leads to crime.

Action is the parent of growth, the stimulus of development. When an individual no longer has normal employment his mental and physical faculties begin a sure and steady deterioration. His mind becomes weak, his muscles flabby, and his moral fabric insecure. Only wholesome employment of hand and brain will maintain a well balanced mental, moral and physical equipment.

There is such a thing as overwork, to be sure, but we see less of its deleterious effects than from idleness. The idle man is discontent, no matter whether he be a pauper or a millionaire. He seeks for pleasure but does not find it. "Society" becomes a nostrum and vice is often resorted to as a sort of expediency by the pitiful victims of idleness.

An example of the evil tendencies of the idle rich is furnished in a press dispatch from New York announcing that a well known rich society man will give a Salome garden party in which the scenes of King Herod's court will be reproduced. Noted actresses will dance, clad in nothing but jewelry, veils and atmosphere. The base and indent practices of a heathen monarch are being revived by leaders of New York's exclusive social set—a practice that puts the blot of shame on the escutcheon of our boasted civilization!

People often wonder why the toilers are the most happy lot of people on earth. The reason is plain. It is because of the pleasure that comes to them in earning their daily bread; the consciousness that their task is well done; their reward justly earned, and not extorted from society without adequate return.

MARKS PRAIRIE.

August 30.

Threshing all done here and hop picking will begin Sept. 2nd by those who will pick. Fully one half of the hop yards here will not be picked.

Geo. Oglesby and sons arrived home from Square Lakes with 70 gallons of huckleberries last week. They report a fine time, and had plenty of trout to eat while out there. Charles and Frank caught about 200 fine trout.

The rain here has been a big help to gardens and potatoes.

Mrs. Henry Kraus has been on the sick list for a few days.

Mrs. Geo. Taylor was a caller at Oglesby's Sunday.

Your correspondent had a fine visit with Mr. Rube Fanton's family who have a fine ranch at the end of the wagon road on the route to Roaring river.

Oglesby Brothers will begin picking their hops on Sept. 2nd.

Why a Backbone Beats a Wishbone.

"Trouble with most fellers," says Uncle Si Simlins, "is that their backbone is mostly all wishbone."

Uncle Si's sage sarcasm applies to people in every town. Some of us in this town might study it with profit.

You wish you could succeed in business. You wish you could do as well as your neighbor who does succeed. You are overworking your wishbone. Give your wishbone a rest. It's tired.

YOUR BACKBONE NEEDS EXERCISE. IT'S BACKBONE THAT DOES THINGS—NOT WISHBONE. STRENGTHEN YOUR BACKBONE AND GO UP AGAINST COMPETITION.

Marshall Field had competition, but his backbone gave him the nerve to advertise big in newspapers when advertising was not known to be such a Necessity of Business Life as it is now universally recognized. John Wanamaker had the same sort of backbone.

Their backbone backed up their wishbone.

Backbone builds business by booming business.

Business is boosted by backbone.

And the backbone of business is newspaper advertising.

CANBY ITEMS

Cal C. Kocher and Miss Louise Vorpahl, both of Canby, were married at the the home of the bride's parents, Thursday afternoon. Rev. Ross of the German Evangelical church performed the ceremony. They will make their home in Canby.

Rev. B. F. Roland left for Silverton Wednesday after a brief visit with his family here.

The Canby school begins Sept. 21 for an 8 months session. Prof. J. F. Mitts will serve as principal with Miss Marion Swanby and Miss Florence Stoddard as assistants. It may be possible to extend the term to 9 months, as a three mill tax has been levied, but some expenditures will have to be made outside of the teachers' salaries.

John Simms is building a cottage on his property near the Fair grounds.

Pete Hornig is building an addition to his house and painting the building.

Roy Stalnaker was struck by a ball and had his nasal aparatus put out of commission at the ball game between Canby and Oregon City, Sunday. His nose was broken in two places. Dr. Dedman reduced the fracture.

The Willamette Fruit Company will begin picking and drying their prune crop next week.

Miss Hazel Howard left Saturday to re-enter Mt. Angel Academy and College. Hazel spent last year at this institution and speaks very highly of the school and the Benedictine Sisters. She was accompanied by her mother who remained over Sunday, returning Monday afternoon.

Howard Eccles is painting his residence.

Jack Howard has sold his confectionery and grocery store to Ralph Knight, the latter taking charge Tuesday. Mr. Howard will buy a farm near Newport and take life easy.

J. S. Yoder of Needy was in town Wednesday.

Miss Flora Armstrong will leave Sunday evening for Walla Walla, where she will re-enter school for the winter.

Just Received a carlord of sulphur and a carload of Burlap. Those wishing to purchase should call and get prices. A. J. Mishler.
