The dance given by the band boys Saturday evening drew a large crowd, this being one of the best dances ever held here. The order kept was perfect and all present felt fully repaid for attending. An agreeable surprise was the selections rendered by the Tuxedo Male Quartette of Portland, who were present. The band boys are making preparations for a Thanksgiving Ball, to be given on Thanksgiving night, and everyone wishing to enjoy themselves at a nice dance should not fail to attend.

D. A. Keil has sold his saloon and property on which the saloon stands to A. Klinger, of Hubbard.

Merle Schuerer and Gladys Stevens were over from Butteville Monday.

Last month Geo. Miller completed his 25th year as agent for the Southern Pacific at this place.

During the month Wm. Giesy sold a set of double work harness to Geo. Will, and a set of single work harness to P. Roth, of Woodburn.

The bank has a force of men busy preparing the ground for the erection of a wood shed.

A crowd of 600 people greeted the demonstration train last evening. Aurora was the only town on the iteniary of the train to meet it with a band. The train made a stop of an hour and a half and every minute of the time was profitably spent, the only regret being that the time was not longer. Already there is a strong sentiment that the trip should be repeated next year, with longer stops at the stations. Aurora was the last point on the journey, and the train disbanded here, the cars containing the exhibits and equipment returning to Corvall's and the remainder going direct to Portland.

The Oregon building, the first building to be completed at the Seattle fair, is ready to receive exhibits. Oregon will begin the shipment of its exhibits about January 1. The first consignment will be 3,000 boxes of apples, which will be placed in the cold storage plant, in the basement of the Oregon building, until within a few weeks of the opening date.

A Valuable Dog

Chas. Forrester of the Orpheum theatre of San Francisco, is billing every S. P. station between San Francisco and Portland with full page posters offering a reward of $100 and no questions asked, for the return of a Saint Bernard dog to himself or any S. P. agent. Forrester lost the dog from a Southern Pacific train on Sept. 22nd, somewhere between Ashland, Ore., and Weed, California.

Sam Miller went to Portland this morning.

A. Lundeen and wife left this morning for a short trip to Portland.

Henry Snyder was a visitor in Portland the first of the week.

Now is the time to visit
California

When summer has passed in these northern states, the sun is only mild under the bright blue skies of Southern California. This is one of nature's happy provisions—eternal summer for those who cannot endure a more severe climate.

California has been called the "Mecca of the winter tourist." its hotels and stopping places are as varied as those of all well regulated cities. Visitors can always find suitable accommodations, congenial companions, and varied, pleasing recreations.

Southern Pacific Company

Will be glad to supply some very attractive literature describing in detail the many delights of winter in California. Very low round trip excursion tickets are on sale to California. The rate from Canby or Aurora to Los Angeles and return is $55.00. Limit six months, allowing stopovers in either direction. Similar excursion rates are in effect to all California points.

Don't Say Cologne.

She sprinkled eau de cologne liberally in the bath of pink marble. "It is this perfume," she said learnedly, "which makes us think that the town of Cologne must be scented. Johann Maria Farina invented 200 years ago in Cologne a perfume made of the oils of neroli, citron, bergamot, orange and rosemary. He called the perfume after his city, eau de Cologne—water of Cologne. By the same token, had he been a Londoner, he'd have called it eau de London. In that case the illiterate would now think London a scented city, and instead of saying correctly, 'Put a few drops of perfume on my handkerchief,' they would say, 'Put a few drops of London on it.' In fact, it is a very vulgar and silly error to call all perfumes cologne. You might as well call them Chicago or Denver."—New York Press.

No Satisfaction.

The Editor—Eh, what's wrong?

The Correspondent—In that letter of mine that you printed this morning several gross errors were permitted to appear. Look at this. I wrote "Nobody has any desire to impeach the rugged quality of Mr. Skimmerhorn's honesty," and you turned "honesty" into "hosiery." Look at it!

"I see it. And, what's more, I see nothing wrong about it. Anything else?"

"Yes, here's another. This is what I wrote: 'Mr. Skimmerhorn's ripe experience and his respect for honor must not be forgotten.' And you speak here of his 'tripe experience' and his 'respect for Homer.'"

"Yes, that's so. And they're both highly commendable virtues. Good morning, sir."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Hurry Fad.

"Mr. Cleveland," said a Princeton lecturer, "had little sympathy with the rush and hurry that the American business man so complacently affects—no sympathy with train and boat dictation, with the lunch table telephone, the letter phonograph and the other bluffs.

"'Don't rush so,' Mr. Cleveland once said to me. 'Lightning might do a great deal more if it wasn't always in such an awful hurry.'"—Washington Star.

The More Notable.

"Which would you call more notable, the prima donna's debut or her farewell?"

"Her farewell. Wouldn't you?"

"Don't know that I would. She can make but one debut."
