New Years Resolutions By Home People

N. E. Manock: "During 1922 I will endeavor to grasp every opportunity to help put Aurora where center and home town. May the year be a successful one."

J. W. Sadler: "As we turn back the last page of the old year calendar and begin the journey of the New Year, I am prompted to make just a few resolutions. That I will practice and inculcate the principles of the Golden Rule in public patt and private life. That I will get up in the middle of the night if called upon to promote the interest of the Aurora Union High School and the Pythian Home for Aurora. That I will at all times strive with all my might and main to make a bigger and better Aurora."

Zeno Schwab: "A New Year's Resolution? Let us all Resolve: To do everything possible to keep Keefover & Thompson: "We resolve that 1922 shall be a good year can help. We are for everything that is good for the community."

F. D. Elliott: "To be of such sincere, wholehearted service to the farming people round-about Aurora that they will always make Aurora their destination, whether on pleasure or business bent."

A. W. Kraus: "My time for progress of the town. Finish what we Where there is life there is hope. Pythian Home First."

J. M. Will: "Believing in all that is good, for the betterment of humanity, I, Johas M. Will, Resolve to do all that is in my power to help make Aurora and it's surrounding community a better and happier place to live."

E. G. Robinson: "It has never been my practice to make any more resolutions on January 1, than at any other time. However, my rather than to retrogress. My endeavor is to improve from day to day, from month to month, always sistant military attache at London and resolving to do better in every undertaking than I have in the past.

My resolution is to be more efficient each day, each month, each year and I would say in a nutshell, that all resolutions be progression rather than retrogrossion.

Born in Atlanta in 1876, Mr. Lowry was chucated in private schools, the Georgia Military institute and by private tuiors, and began his journalistic career at the age of tweaty-four. In 1904 he was sent to Washington and has been there almost continuously ever since. He has been the political correspondent of Harper's Weekly, has written many articles for the periodical press and since 1913 has been the Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post, and for a considerable time the managing editor of that paper. When Germany started the World war the government naturally found important work for Mr. Lowry. on the British front in Flanders, and was with the American Army of Occupation in Germany. For his valuable work he was awarded the British Military Cross. Recently he wrote 'Washington Close-Ups," a series of character sketches of eminent figures in the national capital, which the country is reading with vast enjoyment. For two years Mr. Lowry has been making a close study of the business of the government. He is given credit in congress for his aid in passing the budget bill and in bringing about the naming of the joint committee of the house and senate to investigate and report upon the administration and organization of the government executive departments. He now wants the peo-ple of the United States to know the details of the United States government, which is their business. He believes the knowledge of these details will make of them better Americans and give them a better government.

No man not imbued with Mr. Low-ry's high ideal could have carried out this study of the government business so exhaustively and painstakingly as has he. Probably he now knows m about it than any other man in the world. With extraordinary perseverance and dogged persistence he went after hidden facts and multifarious detalls-and got them. Nothing was too big for his comprehension or too small for his attention. At one time he went to a member of the cabinet with the statement that the government had on its payrolls, exclusive of the officers and men of the army and navy, one employee for each 68 people of the United States ten years of age and over engaged in gainful occupations. It took that cabinet officer, with the assistants he had at his command, a considerable time, and considerable ef fort to verify Mr. Lowry's statement but he found it to be true.

As the result of his careful studies

Mr. Lowry has written a series of articles on the business of government income and expense; where the money comes from, and how and for what it is spent; whether the organization of the business side of government is efficient or inefficient; whether the government wastes the money we sire is
