

THE AURORA OBSERVER

THURSDAY, JANUARY 2, 1919.

N. C. WESCOTT

EDITOR AND PUBLISHER

Entered as second class matter March 28, 1911, at the postoffice at Aurora Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

I pledge allegiance to my flag and the republic for which it stands, one Nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice to all.

Nineteen eighteen is ended and Marion county is $100,000 behind its quota of war stamps. Some one has been shirking!

The guarantee for the 1919 wheat expires June 1, 1920. The price has been fixed by presidential proclamation, at $2.26 per bushel at Chicago, and the end of the war or the proclamation of peace does not change the price or the date in any way.

There are still a few people in this section who cannot forget, though they would like to, that the Observer has given the pro-Germans, the slackers and the shirkers no rest during the last 20 months. The next 20 months, however, with the return of peace and the boys in the service, may be still more uneasy months for the slackers, the shirkers and their pro-German cronies.

According to Judge Bushey, Marion county pays $82 per day to care for its poor. This includes the amount paid out for widows pensions, and amounts to the startling total of $30,000 per year. Ten years ago the cost was less than $8000 per year. Judge Bushey attributes the great increase to many indigent people from the east having become wards of the county.

Willamette Valley is the natural home of all small fruits. During the next ten years, it will supply the world with fruit juices, jams, jellies and preserves. Mr. Reader you will find it profitable to help furnish the fruit for this purpose. The opportunity is here. If you are not convinced of this, ask the Observer about the matter. It is convinced that berry culture is one of our profitable natural industries.

All that the state can raise by taxation next year under the 6 per cent limitation is $3,021,402, which the state institutions and departments claim is short of their needs by at least $810,520. Instead of expecting the legislature to find a legal way to raise this amount, the people should demand that the state institutions and departments make their expenditures fall within the lawful income of the state.

Press despatches of December 24, included the name of Clarence Stevens of Macksburg as one of the enlisted men released from the German prison camp of Hammelburg. Sometime ago he was reported as missing in action but later his parents received a letter from the war department that their son was a prisoner of war in a German prison camp. Now comes the press news of his release. Though not official it is probably true.

Few people know that slavery prevailed in every German colony in Africa, with all the attendant horrors of cruel floggings, chain-gang tortures, starvation, and brutal executions for every trivial offenses. Will the civilized world approve the restoration of the African colonies and the black slaves of Prussia to German rule? No sane man can contemplate such action without repugnance. If the peace conference hands back the African colonies to Germany, it will stand convicted of every crime the Kaiser has committed.

The emigrant gates at Castle Garden New York will not swing open as easily in the future as it has in the past. In the old days the European emigrant passed through the gate inward, declared his intention of becoming an American citizen, and in most stated thereby acquired the right to vote as well as practically all other important right possessed by full citizens. But times have changed. No longer can the newly landed alien acquire many of the rights of citizenship by a mere "declaration of intention". Restrictions have been placed upon indiscriminate entry, and still more restraints will be added. The American gate will not open inward as easily as of yore, but the gate is wide open to all who prefer some other land to ours. To the pro-Germans, to the Kaiser lovers, to the American Bosheviks, to the libelers and the traducers of America, and to the human snakes and reptiles that have crawled under the American fence, to all these the gate is open outward,

Hoover tells Baron von der Lancken and Dr. Reith, former Hun food administrators of Belgium to "Go to Hell", yet some Aurora residents are peeved because some red-blooded American boys wrote on the sidewalks, "To hell with the Kaiser."

PICTURE HANGING SCHOOL MA'AMS

Some one writing to the editor of the Salem Statesman, referring to the Wilhelmina Doerfler-Kaiser-picture business, says, "It is a pity that old pioneers like the Doerflers have to be so belittled because they have a German name".

The editor of the Statesman will doubtless tell that correspondent that to most men names mean little or nothing. Hun, Vandal, or other barbarian names, with few glaring exceptions, mean no more than good American, French, or names of other enlightened people.

But it appears to the most of us that the possession of a "pioneer" name, barbarian or otherwise, cannot excuse the lack of sense and discretion that allows a teacher to display to her pupils in an American school room, in time of war, a picture of the Hun Kaiser, under the misapprehension that he is one of the "Great men" of the age. As the arch criminal of the world, the Kaiser's picture might adorn a rogue's gallery, but has no place in any American school room nor in any American home. Picture-hanging school ma'ams, no matter what their names, should keep a tight rein upon that trouble breeding impulse to display "great" faces in their school rooms. Better stick to safe American physiognomies.

John Jay Knox

Money he earned and saved while a village youth he spent on an education. As a bank clerk, later, he was studious and thrifty. At middle age a great financier, Knox lectured and wrote about banking topics and as Comptroller of the Currency he helped refinance the government after the Civil war.

Are you preparing for future prosperity and comfort by saving regularly a part of your earnings? Will you be able to take advantage of opportunity for profitable investment when it comes? Could you weather a sick spell without going heavily in debt?

Be able to say YES to these questions a few months hence by starting a savings account with us with a part of your pay this week. Watching that account grow will stimulate your energies.

Multiply your money in our care.
