BOOMS

Indications point to increased activity in real estate in Oregon. This condition, if it assumes the proportions of a land boom, has in it elements of danger—unless the people keep their heads. Oregon has had several land booms which may be designated under the names of the Prune Boom, the Apple Boom, and the Walnut Boom—all land booms pure and simple.

The chief beneficiaries were a few land owners, land speculators and many real estate sharks. During these booms farm land often unfit for the purpose for which it was bought, sold at fabulous prices, on terms which the buyer was often later unable to meet, thus losing what he advanced as early payments. These land booms gave the state a blackeye from which it has not yet wholly recovered.

Another boom seems about due—one which may be known as the Berry Boom. The danger in such a boom lies not so much in the planting of too large an acreage as in the attendant inflation of land values, and the indiscriminate sale of "berryland" by unscrupulous land speculators and real estate agents.

In former booms most commercial organizations were merely auxiliary real estate offices—with results that were anything but satisfactory. If the "berry boom" comes—as appears inevitable—commercial organizations should put forth every effort to protect the buyer and curb the unscrupulous; and every honest and honorable real estate dealer and agent should co-operate to eliminate the men whose operations in former booms have done the state irreparable injury.

It is not strange that Americans object to grand opera in German while our hospitals are still filled with "German-made" cripples, while our soldiers are still dying from "German-gassing", and while a hundred thousand American families are still mourning the loss of their sons who were victims of German-bullets. This aversion to German grand opera comes not from the soldiers and sailors alone. It comes from the heart of every true, loyal and honest American. It is the natural resentment against an affront which shows an astonishing lack of understanding of the decencies of life. When we remember that Otto Goritz, one of the chief exponents of German grand opera in America, has admitted that he sang (in German) an ode celebrating the sinking of the Lusitania at a party at the home of Hans Tanscher in New York, even our pro-German friends may pardon our preference for American grand opera!

Practically every teacher in Oregon sees the necessity and value of physical exercises in the public schools, but the public at large do not yet seem to fully realize the necessity of providing facilities and equipment to carry out the provisions of the law that at least 20 minutes daily be given to physical exercises in every school and to every pupil. Teachers are eager to do their best, but it is up to the public to supply grounds, play sheds, gymnasiums, play ground apparatus, and equipment. Good schools everywhere are alive to these needs. Only the fossils and the mossbacks refuse to supply them.

The Canby News is much disturbed over the "report" that Judge Dimick will receive the support of both the Enterprise and the Banner-Courier for the Clackamas county senatorship and that E. E. Brodie will be supported by both papers for the republican nomination for secretary of state. The News might do far worse than to fall in line for both candidates.

Hermes Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of this city has initiated a campaign to double its membership. The membership of this lodge represents a high type of citizenship and respectability. A Pythian Lodge is an asset to any community and the strengthening of the Aurora lodge of that order will be a distinct benefit to this city.

Tributes From The World's Leaders

"It is on membership more than money contributions that the stress of the present campaign is laid, for the Red Cross seeks to associate the people in welfare work throughout the land, especially in those communities where neither official nor unofficial provision has been made for adequate health and social service."—President Wilson.

"The American Red Cross is the mobilized heart and spirit of the whole American people."—Henry P. Davison.

"A magnificent spirit breathes in the American Red Cross."—Marshal Foch.

In giving prompt and efficient relief the Red Cross has won the eternal gratitude of millions of people."—General Pershing.

"It requires no organization to allow one of us as an individual to buy a dinner for a hungry man. It requires the greatest degree of organization to deal with the foes of a world. The Red Cross seems to be essentially demanded. . . . Without the Red Cross I do not know whether the world would have been able to bear the horrors and devastation of this fearful war."—Newton B. Baker.

"The Red Cross is the great Neighbor. . . . If the world is made a little more comfortable, a little happier, a little stronger for the struggle of life through its effort, the Red Cross is content."—The Secretary of the Navy.

"The Red Cross is not going to turn its back on its responsibilities."—Livingston Farrand, Chairman, Executive Committee, National Red Cross.

"I don't know what we would have done without the help of the Americans. I thank you from the bottom of my heart."—Ignace Paderewski, Premier of Poland.

"Mr. Davison has spoken to me of how the Red Cross hopes to continue work even in peace time. This is a noble enterprise. . . . Wonderful results could be obtained if all countries would join hands, especially in all questions concerning small children, tuberculosis, and sanitation in general."—Queen Marie of Rumania.

"We surely can do no better than to emulate the human and social work of our sister organization, the American Red Cross."—Signor Ciralo, newly elected President of Italian Red Cross.

"Our heartiest thanks go out to our American friends."—Union des Femmes de France.

"The help given by the Red Cross is but another proof of the great heart and sympathy of the American people."—Prince Regent Alexander of Serbia.

"The Polish people look upon the American Red Cross as their salvation. It holds in its hands the destinies of nations. This world war has been fought in vain if there is no early restoration of normal physical and moral conditions in the newly born Republic of Poland. Poland is the keystone of the world's permanent peace."—Lieut. Col. Francis E. Franczak.

"I wish to express to the millions of Americans, who have made the work of the American Red Cross possible, the deep gratitude of my people."—The young King Alexander of Greece.

"I have confident hope that the American Red Cross' world-wide plans for charity and mercy will be largely realized, bringing the grateful appreciation of suffering millions as a partial recompense, and a greater reward, the richest blessings of God."—Cardinal Gibbons.
