That you get more genuine satisfaction at less cost when you use this class of tobacco.

A small chew lasts so much longer than a big chew of the ordinary kind. And the full, rich real tobacco taste gives a long lasting chewing satisfaction.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

Yergen-Minar

Miss Hazel L. Minar and Ray A. Yergen were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. W. W. Minar 1170 East Salmon Street, Portland, by Rev. J. J. Staub, of the Sunnyside Congregational church. Rev. Staub read the service in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

The bride was gowned in white satin, and a tulle veil held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried bride roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Dana Danforth was matron of honor. She wore a shell pink georgette gown, and carried a bouquet of pink rose buds. The groom wore conventional black.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother Edwin L. Minar. Another brother W. Harold Minar attended the groom. The rooms were decorated with autumn foliage and marigolds. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. M. Danforth sang "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Mrs. Danforth who also played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin. Many beautiful presents were received.

The bride is known as a charming young woman with a large circle of friends in Portland, and the groom is a fine young man known to everyone of this section. A host of friends here join in wishing the newly wedded couple happiness and prosperity.

They will be at home after October 20, at their farm four miles north of Aurora.

They Like To Camp Here

"Where is that campground?" asked a motorist, of the first man he met on driving into Aurora. On being directed to the camping area, the automobilist volunteered the information that a camping party at Spokane told him that the Aurora camping place was the best situated camp grounds in the state—with fine water, free wood, and modern toilets—all right in the town instead of out in the jungles on the outskirts of the town, as the camp grounds are in most cities. This tourist told the writer that various other travelers who had camped here said that the Aurora, Salem, Roseburg and Ashland camp grounds were the best between Tacoma and San Francisco.

The city council met Saturday night to discuss the matter of placing the street lights on a switch, so the current may be turned off during the daylight hours. E. G. Robinson was present and stated the cost will be about $200. The matter at issue seems to be whether the city or the Molalla Electric Company shall stand the expense. The matter was not decided and went over until the next meeting. With the current on 24 hours, the Electric Light Co. loses about 15 cents on each light.

Some Deer Hunters

A number of Aurora hunters have returned from the chase. Some had fair luck and some had none. None of them, however, pulled off any stunts with the game warden, like Fred Lockley's hunter in the story.

Lockley tells the following tale anent deer hunters:

"A boastful hunter talking to a countryman upon his return from a hunting trip. Said the hunter, 'This is the most wonderful deer country I ever saw. Why, man, do you know that within five minutes, without walking five yards, I shot five deer?' 'Say,' answered the other, 'do you know who I am?' 'No, who are you?' 'Well, I'm the game warden.' 'Well,' replied the hunter, 'do you know who I am?' 'No, who are you?' 'I'm the biggest liar in the country.'"

Film Shows Treatment of Flock at Culling Time in Fall and on to Selling of Lambs.

A motion picture film dealing with sheep on the farm has recently been completed by the film laboratories of the United States department of agriculture in co-operation with the bureau of animal industry. The film is now available for use by county agents, county or state sheep-breeders' association, agricultural colleges, and other department or co-operative workers or agencies.

The film is in three sections and four reels. About 45 minutes is required for the showing of the whole production.

The subject treated in the first and second reel is a year with the flock on the farm, beginning in the fall at the time that the ewe flock should be culled prior to breeding, and carrying it on through until the lambs are sold. Each seasonal practice is brought out and educational points are featured. The third reel deals with the co-operative marketing of wool and lambs, and the fourth reel with the slaughtering of a mutton sheep, dressing the carcass, and then cutting it up for meat consumption.

MEAT SUPPLIES FOR FAMILY

Greater Portion of Pork Products Used by Farmers Are Produced on Home Farm.

Nearly two-thirds of the meat eaten on the farm is pork, the average farm consumption of pork being over 500 pounds per family. The greater portion of the pork products used by farmers are produced on the home farm. A small number of pigs can be raised cheaply, says the United States department of agriculture. Kitchen and garden wastes, and sometimes dairy by-products, are available for feed. The farmer usually kills the hogs and dresses them on his own place. The hog furnishes a good variety of meat and also lard. The smoke house, a common improvement on the farm, provides a convenient way for curing pork.
