SCHOOL MEETING FOR NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT

A third attempt to adopt a legal budget will be made at the school election at the I. O. O. F. Hall, next Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The matter of retiring the high school bonds will also be voted upon, as well as an appropriation of $1500 for a site.

Any attempt to retire the bonds is certain to precipitate long and costly litigation between the district and the bond owners backed by the bond companies. Carey & Kerr, Portland bond attorneys, declare such attempted retirement as next door to repudiation, in as much as it is an effort to charge the terms of bonds after they have been sold and delivered and widely scattered by resale to third or fourth parties.

It remains to be seen whether the voters prefer to dissipate the money of the district in costly litigation rather than to use it in providing the high school facilities we need in order to keep our own students at home and to attract others to help defray the cost of providing such advantages.

To thinking, unprejudiced electors there can be but one wise choice. Let us spend our money for the benefit of our children rather than to pay it out in big fees to our lawyer friends. The latter are good fellows, and necessary evils, but let us elect them to the legislature rather than to pay them big fees out of our school funds.

ELECTION JOKERS COST COUNTY MORE THAN $200

It cost Marion county over $200 and delayed the election returns considerably because joking voters wrote in the names of more than 200 men who were not candidates, in the various precincts. In the Woodburn precinct, 62 different names appeared as receiving votes for constable. At Mt. Angel 40 men received "honors" at the hands of joking electors, in the same way. Horeb, a precinct with 93 votes cast, took part in the fun and cast votes for 40 different men for constable. Even in the same old precinct of Aurora, there appeared several candidates for constable. But the constable's office was not the only one the election jokers played with. In Salem, where every man is a potential candidate, 40 different men received suffrage honors for each of the offices of attorney-general and justice of the supreme court. It is reported that some voter cast his ballot for "Smith & Shields" for attorney general. Aurora, also, had its jokers. It had 16 candidates for constable. The man who voted for G. R. Watt for justice of the supreme court, may, however, have been more seer than joker, looking, perhaps, a score of years into the future.

MRS. FRED WILL CALLED SOUTH BY PARENTS' ILLNESS

Mrs. Fred Will left Thursday night for Oroville, California, where her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thompson, are both very ill. While on their way to San Diego, Mrs. Thompson suffered a stroke of paralysis and was obliged to stop at Oroville, near which place her daughter Mrs. F. D. Popejoy lives. She has now suffered a second stroke, and Mr. Thompson is also very ill. As both are well along in years—over 70—a serious outcome is feared. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were accompanied by their son Asa C. Thompson, who resigned as principal of one of the Pendleton schools in order to accompany them. Numerous friends here hope for reassuring news from Mr. and Mrs. Thompson.

Mrs. Thompson has been so ill that she has not been told of the death of her son A. S. Thompson at Woodburn a short time ago.

A team belonging to Louis Racette ran away Saturday on the streets of Aurora. They narrowly missed a collision with an automobile, and were brought up against the walls of the Will-Snyder Store. Demolishing the harness was the chief loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Howe of Roseburg who have been here several days visiting with their son E. M. Howe and wife, have gone to Salem where they will visit friends before going on to Roseburg.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Askin was buried Sunday at the Aurora cemetery. The baby was born at Hubbard, and lived only a few hours. The mother has been seriously ill for several weeks but is now making satisfactory progress toward recovery.

Interesting Hop Figures

The government report for November on the consumption and export of hops in the U. S. for the year ending June 30, 1920, reveal some interesting figures.

The hops (in pounds) consumed by American brewers (including the hops used to make "cereal beverages") and the hops exported are shown for the past 5 years.

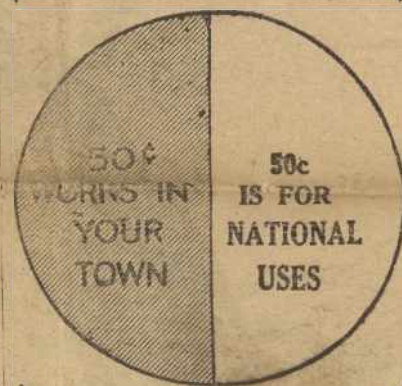

Year	Used by Brewers	Exported
1916	37,451,004	22,409,000
1917	41,949,000	4,874,876
1918	33,481,000	3,494,000
1919	13,924,000	7,466,000
1920	6,440,000	30,779,000

During the year ending June 30, 1920, 2,696,000 pounds of hops were imported into the United States.

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," Mary Pickford's greatest picture will be shown at the Canby City Hall, Sunday, Nov. 23.

The Aurora pupils who attended the Hubbard high school gave a party last Saturday evening, Nov. 20 in the I. O. O. F. Hall. All of the Hubbard high school students were invited, and also some others. The evening was spent in games and dancing. About twelve o'clock delightful refreshments were served after which everyone sleepily departed for home. Mrs. Keefover, Mrs. Malo, of Aurora, and Mrs. and Prof. McCormick of Hubbard chaperoned the party.

OVER HALF OF YOUR RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP DOLLAR WORKS AT HOME

AND MANAGEMENT COST AT NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS AND THE 14 DIVISIONS IS LESS THAN 4 PER CENT OF THE TOTAL EXPENDITURES!

MANAGEMENT COSTS LOW FOR RED CROSS

National and Division Headquarters Take Less Than 4 Per Cent of Funds.

Red Cross Roll Call—the fourth annual re-enlistment of members in the American organization—will be held here November 11 to 25. Officers in charge of the Roll Call for the chapter of which this city forms a part, however, feel that the canvass in this section practically can be completed within the first week of the time set should the present plans for intensive work be followed out.

In all its work preparatory to the Roll Call the Red Cross this year, as last, has laid stress on the point that the movement is purely a dues-gathering activity, and not to be confused with "drives" or other campaigns. The national body also is laying emphasis on the fact that more than 50 per cent of all membership fees secured here remain in this community, and on the low "overhead" cost of the organization.

"While the Red Cross has not been subjected to that violent criticism of extravagance and waste which has been attached to some activities resulting from the war and its after-effects," said an officer of the national body recently, "we are pleased to be able to make public the fact that management cost at national headquarters and in the 14 divisions has amounted to less than 4 per cent of the total expenditures by the organization. This is a turnover expense so small as to establish a mark for many a commercial concern to work toward, and on its face proves that for the Red Cross, organization efficiency and economy are not only ideals but achievements."

WHAT OF THE FUTURE—HOPS?

Henry L. Bents is authority for the statement that 30,000 bales (perhaps 40,000) of hops per year have been used in the United States in home brewing. Such a quantity was almost large enough to absorb the surplus left after the British market was supplied. But if the ban placed upon home brewing stands, the American market for hops (small as it is) will be destroyed. But even that outcome does not necessarily mean the death of the hop industry. Hops can be grown so much cheaper on the coast than in Europe (and still make a fair profit) that it is idle to predict the total extinction of hop growing in Oregon—unless it be through the efforts of the prohibitory to outlaw the growing of the crop.

Latest estimates place the unsold hops in Oregon grower's hands at 8000 bales. The English crop is reported to have been 280,000 cwt., or approximately 140,000 bales. Nominal quotations are 30 to 35 cents, with no transactions.

CURE FOR SWELLED HEADS

When you meet some one afflicted with a swelled head—every town has them—just advise him to take that head into some crowded city street, and ask himself these questions:

"How many here know me? or my work? If I should be killed this moment, how many of this crowd would miss me? My work is important to me, but does it mean anything to these multitudes?"

There is nothing like this self-treatment. I know it works. I've tried it myself.

SALE OF HOPS BARRED MERCHANT FINED $350

Many are wondering if it is not rather far fetched to bar the sale of hops in order to enforce the prohibition law, when grapes, raisins, barley, corn, sugar, yeast, and many other products entering into the making of intoxicating liquors are allowed on sale. Such a proceeding seems to discriminate against one class of producers and favor others.

The enforcement officers, however, point out that dealers who sell malt, hops, yeast, bottles, caps, etc., and even give with them directions how these things are used in making beer, must certainly know what his customer does with the goods. And thus he as well as the customer are violating the law.

But no one can be certain of the outcome until the courts have finally decided the matter—which may be a long time. Judge Wolverton last week fined a storekeeper and his clerk, each $350 for selling ingredients for the manufacture of intoxicating liquors, and it is not impossible that the question may be raised as whether any sale of hops is not illegal.

John Pugh Breaks Hip

Several days ago John Pugh Sr. fell and injured himself so that he was confined to his room, but did not think it serious. Later, however, Drs. Giesy and Dedman were called, it was found that his hip had been fractured, and it will be some time before Mr. Pugh will be able to get out again.
