AURORA, OREGON

Has long been the trading point for portions of two counties. The business firms below invite you to visit their places of business all seasons of the year, but now extend you a Special Holiday invitation. They assure you courteous treatment, fair prices, the best of service, a large assortment of goods, and every consideration to which valued customers are entitled.

Not only will you be accorded such courtesies, but these business firms say to you: "We welcome you as a neighbor. We will serve you as a friend. We will prove to you that no business transaction between us is satisfactory unless you are benefited as much as we are. Neither of us can afford to deal on other basis."

The Aurora Country

Aurora and vicinity is the garden spot of the Willamette Valley. The town is surrounded by rich lands, fertile fields, fine farms with prosperous people and happy homes. The Aurora section is bisected by the Paved Pacific Highway. The little city is just midway between Portland and Salem. It is the banking center for a rich territory, a market and a shipping point for hops, lumber, poles, piling, cordwood, hay, grain, clover seed, potatoes and other products.

Aurora has good schools, Presbyterian and Lutheran churches, seven fraternal orders, post office with five rural routes, fine artesian water distributed by a municipally owned and operated water system, Electric lights and power, telephone system, graded streets, cement walks, municipal sheds, fine public halls, and an efficient city government.

The town has excellent shipping facilities, both by rail and motor trucks, a strong progressive bank, a farm loan company, hop merchant, enterprising newspaper, physician, dentist, attorney, notaries, general merchandise stores, confectionery stores and cafe, up-to-date garages, auto agency, warehouses, commission men, feed mill, modern meat market, cream station, barber shop, auto truck owners, shoe shop, funeral director, gravel plant, lumber mill, together with painters, paper hangers, carpenters and all the occupations that any community demands.
