BARLOW PLAYERS PLEASE BIG AUDIENCE HERE

"The Rebellion of Mrs. Barclay" a two-act drama of domestic life, was played last night at the Band Hall to a good crowd. The audience was highly pleased with the play which was well presented, every member of the company playing their part well.

The play was put on by the Barlow Parent-Teacher's Association, a real live wire bunch, for the benefit of the Aurora and Barlow schools. The cast was as follows:

Morton Barclay..... Herman Stuwe
 Roy Parmenter..... Roy Parmenter
 Dennis O'Hara..... Lou S. Smith
 Ethel Barclay..... Clara Smith
 Ruth Carter..... Emma Berg
 Mrs. Brown..... Elizabeth Cherrick
 Cora..... Agnes Berg
 Elsie Stuart..... Katherine Stuwe
 Mary Ann O'Connor..... Minnie Babbs
 Directed by..... Dora E. Smith

The music and the songs were by the Aurora school children. This play has been produced at Barlow and Canby and well received at both places. It has required an immense lot of work to prepare and the P.-T. Association deserves a great deal of credit. It has been suggested that the play be put on at Hubbard, Donald and Butteville.

The receipts were over $80, the house being considered a decidedly good one. The play was particularly well chosen, and the parts well played. Elizabeth Cherrick as "Mrs. Brown," Agnes Berg as "Cora," Lou S. Smith as "Dennis O'Hara", and Herman Stuwe as "Morton Barclay" were the leading characters. But the work every member of the cast showed much preparation. The company as a whole was probably the best amateur company that ever appeared here.

The songs by the Aurora school boys were also greatly enjoyed by the audience.

Hop Prices Advance

Last week saw a sharp advance in the price of hops in Oregon, California and Washington. It is believed that 3500 bales changed hands. In California 21 cents was the top price, but the highest paid in this state was 20 cents, John Murray of Butteville was offered the same figure for his lot. Only 4000 bales are left in Oregon. Last week's market was due wholly to Eastern demand. It is said the Palmer ruling that beer can be sold for medicinal purposes has revived the interest of New York brewers in coast hops. Home brewers are also likely to become more active as summer weather approaches, and this leads to many inquiries for hops.

A number of Silverton hop growers have organized the "Willamette Hop Grower's association. The members having unsold hops—622 bales of the 1920 crop—have pooled them, and also hope to be able to handle the 1921 crop as a pool. It is reported that nearly all the hop growers of the Silverton, Mt. Angel and Marguam districts have joined. The officers of the association are G. B. Bentson, president; Roy Morley vice-president; and John Morley, secretary-treasurer.

Fred Yorgen, John Nordhausen and Chas. Kraxberger are reported to have sold their hops to McNeff Bros. The hops to be delivered here for shipment to Portland. The price was not made public, but is supposed to have been near 20 cents.

Several Union district citizens went to Oregon City Monday to meet the county commissioners concerning road matters. The committee appointed to go were W. La White, E. G. Robinson, Fred Wagner, U.
