All-Wool Not Always Implies VIRGIN WOOL

Unfortunately, many clothing dealers will often imply that a suit made from "Shoddy" or "Re-worked wool" is "All-Wool"—inferring of course, "Pure Wool." Shoddy cloth is made from old wool rags, worn out, long before they are ground up and re woven into cloth. Re-worked wool is manufacturer's clippings, likewise ground up and re woven into cloth. Cloth made under this process has little strength because of the short wool fibers.

Virgin Wool Is the Only 100 per cent Pure Wool clipped from the sheep's back, carded, spun and woven into cloth with no cotton, shoddy, re-worked wool or wool substitutes of any kind added.

Suits made from Virgin wool cloth gives greater service, hold their shape and look 100 per cent better. Demand only suits bearing a "Guaranteed Virgin Wool" label.
