ODD FACTS

A mosquito has 22 teeth, all of which may be seen through a microscope.

Good beef sold for 1 cent a pound in England in the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

Color blindness is more common among educated than among uneducated people.

Since the Declaration of Independence 4,500,000 Irish have emigrated to the United States.

Under the existing laws in France a woman must wait one year after having been divorced or after the death of a husband before she can remarry.

WHAT FAITH IS

The gift of God which is the root of the virtues.—Ruskin.

The door whereby we enter into the house of God.—Erasmus.

The pencil of the soul, that pictures heavenly things.—Burbridge.

The bellows to kindle in us the sacred flames of love.—Baxter.

A lark, joyously bathing in the streaming splendor of the firmament.—Krummacker.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

Our deeds determine us, as much as we determine our deeds.—George Eliot.

Of all the evil spirits abroad in the world, insincerity is the most dangerous.—Froude.

No one is so utterly desolate, but some heart, though unknown, responds unto his own.—Longfellow.

A sound discretion is not so much indicated by never making a mistake as by never repeating it.—Bovee.

Where duty is plain delay is both foolish and hazardous; where it is not, delay may be both wisdom and safety.—Tryon Edwards.

He that despairs measures Providence by his own little contracted model and limits infinite power to finite apprehension.—South.

TRUE SAYINGS AND WISE

"Conduct is three-fourths of life."—Matthew Arnold.

"Every one may arrive at true nobility by the ways of virtue and goodness."—William Penn.

"There is one article absolutely necessary—to be ever beloved, one must be very agreeable."—Lady Wrothley Montagu.

"Silver-spoonism is, after all vulgarity; it is an assumption of delicacy superior to the majority."—Old Conduct Book.

"Those inferior duties of life which the French call 'les petites morales,' or the smaller morals, are with us distinguished by the name of good manners."—Dean Swift.

"Apologizing—a very desperate habit—one that is rarely cured. Apologizing is only egotism wrong side out. Nine times out of ten, the first thing a man's companions know of his shortcomings is from his apology."—Oliver W. Holmes.

WISDOM'S WHITTINGS

A smart man is one who corrects his mistake without admitting that he made it.

How is it that salt has not fallen one-half in price since pretzels are out of fashion?

Matrimony is not a failure, nor is celibacy; though life itself may not be such a whooping success.

We once visited a city down East where the pavements were so bad that we paid the taxicabby 50 cents more not to drive fast.

A man with individuality often comes within the famous characterization of Thoreau: "I love Henry, but I cannot like him."
