DR. YOUNGSON WILL SPEAK
Sunday, at 11 a. m., Rev. William Wallace Youngson, D. D., District Superintendent of the Portland District Methodist Episcopal Churches will speak at the Tualatin church. At noon a basket lunch will be served and following the lunch the Fourth Quarterly Conference will be held. It is expected that both the Wilsonville and Tualatin Churches will unite for these services and there will be no service on Sunday evening at Wilsonville.

J. Nicodemus and family of Hillsboro visited with his sister, Mrs. Carpenter in Aurora Sunday. Other Sunday visitors at Mrs. Carpenters were Mrs. William Nelson and children of Oregon City and Miss Fayette Carpenter of Aurora.

QUEER ACTIONS
Canby is dissatisfied, or her city attorney is peeved at recent electric increase charges. Right or wrong, they have ordered nearly all of their street lights disconnected. Canby is dark. It looks queer, looks like poor managing to gain favor for the side opposing, as to disconnect lights will all the more prove to the people how bad they need them. Canby will all want lights now, and we would if we lived there.

WATCHING CANBY PROSPER.
There is no question about the continuous prosperity of the little city of Canby that cannot be answered by any broad minded one of its citizens. The one simple question is: Will Canby invite more industry into its limits? Here is what would naturally be the answer of any citizen interested in his home city: "Yes, Canby will, and it is doing it." We actually believe that if we were to look around for some BUSINESS man who was not in favor of helping Canby to grow we would have a fruitless search, for it is true that all of them want this little city to prosper.

But, there is one thing that might be suggested that might put a helping thought into their heads. You know this big thing called advertising is so big that if business men would indulge in it very freely they would be given such a surprise party that they would astonish their neighboring cities. It is a big thing. Have you noticed how business men of Portland are asking for the custom of the people in this vicinity? You surely have noticed it if you have read the dailies. Why would they spend such round sums for mere advertising space if it was not paying them a great big lot of money? Why, we all know they wouldn't do it unless it was getting results.

Now, see here: The newspaper most devoted to the interests of this community and read by people in every direction for many miles out is the newspaper for the business men of Canby to look to in conveying their messages to the buying public. Every man, woman and child who takes a paper by subscription to get to news of the different communities represented is going to pay strict attention to the messages of the business men of the nearest trade center. Just ask yourself on the quiet, what a half-page advertisement would mean to your business if you could keep it up for, say a couple of months. You could say a good deal in that space and say it right and attract attention. Imagine the increase in business you would derive from such a space. Again, what if you should keep it up throughout the year? Well, we'll leave the answer to any broad minded Canby citizen who knows the value of good sensible advertising. Note: One of the things it would do is to induce most of the people for many miles around to spend their money in Canby instead of answering an ad in a Portland daily. All this makes for a more industrious city. The Observer is the paper that serves you, now think well, but not too long before you start something.
