Practical Deduction.
Antoinette, who is six, has a charming mother who sings very beautifully. Since babyhood Antoinette has delighted in listening. The other evening the southern girl was a dinner guest.

When Antoinette's mother sang "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny" in the mellow dialect of the South, the southern girl felt the tears creeping into her eyes. Antoinette piped up, "Mother, is it a little baby that wants to go back to Virginny?"

"Why, no, darling," the mother answered. Then, glancing at the southern girl. "It is someone who loves that state, dear. It's her home—She wants to go back—Someone like auntie. You know she comes from the South."

Antoinette looked askance at the southern girl. "Well, why don't she walk back? Only babies get carried—"

Lonely Hotel Bedrooms.

"What is the loneliest place in the world?" asks the Gideon, organ of the traveling Christian salesmen of this country. The answer it gives is the hotel bedroom. Those who know it best are the commercial travelers, many of whom spend 60 per cent of their time in the hotel bedroom, far from their homes and relatives. They know its dreariness and isolation, its poverty of social intercourse and opportunity, its barrenness of outlook and uplifting influences. It is a loneliness exaggerated by sumptuous furnishings, by the bustle and commotion of hundreds of people all about one, by the very earnest and well-intentioned efforts of managements to create the "homelike" atmosphere which can not be manufactured or imitated without the presence of family or relatives or friends.

Hence the effort to place Bibles in hotel rooms. There are approximately 700,000 salesmen on the road on this continent and probably 3,000,000 hotel bedrooms. So the field is large.

Sought the Plum Office.

Dale Stansbury, a deputy attorney general, was treading the solemn corridors of the statehouse the other day when he was approached by a man, evidently a foreigner, but whose broken tongue was no indication of his inside knowledge. He said: "Where is de plum office?" "The what?" asked Mr. Stansbury. "De plum office, de plum office, you know where ya git de jobs." Stansbury sent the inquirer to the custodian's office. He also knew a thing or two about jobs.—Indianapolis News.

Avoiding the Abrupt Negative.
"A man must learn to say, 'No,' remarked the moralist.

"Not a man in my position," replied Senator Sorghum. "There are requests, of course, that must be refused, but one of the arts of politics is breaking the news as gently and deliberately as possible."

"THE STORE OF MERIT"

Yellowstone

NATIONAL PARK

Nature's Most Wonderful Laboratory and Out-of-Door Paradise

The wildest geysers in the world, dancing amid thousands of boiling springs, their basins arrayed in gorgeous colors like gigantic flowers.

Here, too, are hills of sparkling crystals, hills of sulphur hills of glass, mountains of every style of architecture, icy or frosted, mountains boiled soft like potatoes and colored like a sunset sky.—John Muir, the great naturalist.
