A Lucky Youngster—Luck Comes to Ringo Family Shower Shoes Upon Infant

From Mrs. Frances Caldwell Mint comes a little story clipped from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer concerning the five-month-old baby of Mrs. Ringo, of Seattle. Mrs. Ringo was formerly Miss Aletha Williams and was born and reared in Pomeroy. Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Williams are Mrs. Ringo's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Irvin of Pomeroy are great-grand parents of the infant when the P-I reporter has brought into the limelight. The story follows:

"The champion owner of grand parents and shoes has been found in Seattle. She is Floydine Eleanor Ringo, five months old yesterday, and her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ringo of the Van Sien apartments, 1214 Eighth avenue.

Floydine has eight grandparents and forty pairs of shoes—eight pairs for each month or five pairs for each grandparent. The latest eight pairs arrived this week for Floydine's fifth month anniversary.

"It happens this way, as told last night by Mrs. Ringo: Floydine has grandparents, great-grandparents and great-great-grand parents living variously at Spokane, Pomeroy, Wenatchee, Walla Walla, and Palouse, Washington, and Portland and Canby in Oregon, and Pocatello, Iowa.

"All thought, it appears, that a pair of baby's shoes would be the most appropriate gift—a pair each month, for babies so like to kick out the toes, you know.

"If anybody wants a pair or two of baby's shoes, a post card request will bring them, said Mrs. Ringo. We've to spare."

The great-great-grand mother of Floydine Ringo is Mrs. G. W. Kesselring, of Canby, aged 90 years, and W. W. Irvin, of this city, is a distant relative.

June and Emory Dentel spent the week end with their father, Wm. Dentel.

Seek to Extend Market Road

Most Aurora people are familiar with the road leading out of town past the grade school and thence to the river, known as the Boone's Ferry road. Many, perhaps, are unfamiliar with the true situation as regards the perfecting of this highway. That part of the Boone's Ferry road extending from the Ferry to within about two miles of Aurora, or from the river to the Clackamas-Marion county line, has been definitely established as a market road and will be paved, receiving aid from the market road law and the general fund, as well as the district road fund. From this point to Aurora in Marion county it is not a market road and no provision has been made for its improvement. On the other hand, the road out of Aurora toward Donald has been established as far as the Clackamas county line and no farther. Thus we have the anomalous condition of two roads, in a manner leading between two given points, both market roads for a distance but, in no way connecting. There has been talk recently of trying to get Marion county to make the highway past the school for a couple of miles a market road, thus connecting Boone's Ferry with Aurora by a proper and serviceable highway, and this is what could easily and should be done.

Christmas Bells

By F. H. SWEET

RING out in joy, O chiming bells,
For in your melody there dwells
The music glad of Christmas-tide
On every hearthstone far and wide
And rosy lips with laughter sweet
The happy songs of life repeat—
Ring out in joy.

RING out in hope, O chiming bells,
For your clear voice of patience tells
To waiting hearts whose promise yields
No golden fruit of harvest fields
Whose garnered grain of toiling hand
Lies heaped upon a barren land—
Ring out in hope.

RING out in grief, O chiming bells,
For in your trembling echo dwells
To saddened hearts a thought of old
A picture framed in memory's gold,
A vanished face beneath the snow,
A dream of life's sweet long ago—
Ring out in grief.

RING out in cheer, O chiming bells,
For in your peal a promise dwells
To listening hearts that strive to hear,
The future's voice of hope and cheer;
For love and joy will have their birth
As snowdrops spring from icy earth—
Ring out in cheer.

RING out in peace, O chiming bells,
For Christmas-tide a message tells
To eager souls that bravely wait,
And loyal hearts too strong for fate
To crush to earth; oh, listen then
'Tis "Peace on earth, good will to men"—
Ring out in peace.

Woodburn Union High School Presents Comedy

The Strut and Fret Dramatic Club of Woodburn Union High School presented a three act comedy before a large and appreciative audience at the school auditorium last Friday evening. The play was entitled "Dulcy," which is a new, up-to-date comedy and was screened with Constance Talmage as star.

The plot is built around a youthful bride with bone-head tendencies who wishes to help her husband in his business and who tries to manage the affairs of the various people with whom she comes in contact. It results in complications that have a humorous side for the audience, but nearly drive her associates to a frenzy.

The young people spent some time and faithful effort in getting ready for the play, and are to be congratulated for the success they attained. The part of leading lady, or "the youthful bride," was taken by a young lady from Aurora, Miss Aileen Snyder, and her impersonation was especially fine. A number of carloads of people from Aurora motored over to enjoy the treat.
