Petitioners Want
Location Changed
A hearing on the location of the Reedville-Cornelius Pass market road thru Orenco was held at Hillsboro before Judge E. J. Ward and Commissioners J. M. Hiatt and F. J. Livermore. The matter was taken under advisement.

Two delegations were present, one favoring the location as established by the engineers and the court and approved by the state highway commission and the other running directly through Orenco. There were 200 signatures on the petition favoring the present survey.

Fair Board Revise Rules
For The County Fair

The county fair board met last Monday at Forest Grove and the session was devoted to revising the premium list. Entries will not be limited to Washington county and any one can exhibit. In the depreciable art and art department those exhibiting last year will not be allowed to re-enter this year. This was done to encourage new exhibits but does not bar entry of art and needwork shown at other fairs.

Prize Given
Away Each Week

The Aloha Bakery will give away a prize each week. Watch paper for name of lucky person. Every week they will enclose a little aluminum capsule, with a note inside which will be baked in a loaf of bread some time during the week. The capsule and note must be returned to the bakery and the prize will be a large decorated cake.

THE TOWN
CRISERS CLUB

(Reported by Ted)
Pursuant to the call of the acting chairman, Freddie Turnstead, the Town Criers club assembled in their usual meeting place at the Aloha Service Station Tuesday evening. The question of adequate protection of the waters of Fox creek as a future water supply was laid on the table, and the entire session devoted to a lengthy and emphatic discourse on the chronic knockers. It was the sense of the meeting that there is something gravely wrong and out of joint in the life of a person who continually finds fault with the place where he lives. The place feeds, clothes him, and gives him a home. Now that is so central in one's life that a person not loyal here is falling down in one of his major obligations.

Yet we often hear the man who always knocks everything local. He sees no good. The people are "small fry." The spirit is "fierce." The whole place is "hick," everything is the "bunk." The easiest thing to say to a man like that is to suggest that in following out the simple logic of his thoughts he move on. Go some place else where things are more to your liking. But that, of course, would not be fair or kind. And, too, a moment's thought brings out the truth of the matter to a person like that, that any place would soon become a place like the place he thinks his present home to be. It is not in the place. It is in the person.

Work to make our town better. Believe in it. Root for it. In simple straight forwardness bring yourself to think it is a great place. And you will be surprised to find how quickly and truly it becomes a great place. The people will become to you "fine folks." The institutions will appear in the true light of simply struggling to be what they ought to be. The spirit of the place will change and be like your own improved spirit. It isn't your town, it's you. And the place will be no longer a "hick" town. It will become to you in a very fine way "my town."

Every good citizen believes truly in his own town. He takes pride in it. He boosts it. What might not a spirit like this do for Aloha.

Mrs. Charles Robbins
Wins $50 Prize

Mrs. Charles Robbins won the $50 prize, a deposit on an Essex car Tuesday at the Beaver Theatre. Mrs. Dubin won the blanket.

Thursday Ike Ikelsen surprised himself and the house by winning the beautiful Becon blanket. Instead of having athletic stunts Mr. Stiles called on a group to go on the stage and when they got up there, demanded that they tell a story or recite a poem. Nearly everyone "lost their tongue" and it created lots of fun.

No treasure night this week on account of the personal appearance of Miss Mills and her horse Trix.

ALOHA NEWS.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Sutton of Aloha, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Friday, the 22nd.
