WANT TO BEAUTIFY BEAVERTON

Secretary Instructed to Write Southern Pacific And Ask Co-operation

WOULD PLANT SHRUBS

Flowers and Grass on the Parking Place Beside the Railroad Tracks

The Beaverton Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday night and plans were discussed for beautifying the town.

A number of members talked about the unsightly looking ground in the center of town on each side of the railroad tracks and the secretary was instructed to write to the Southern Pacific Co., and ask their co-operation in making a fill here. It was thought that shrubby grass and flowers could be planted and the city would be willing to pay for the up-keep of the grounds. Other towns who have beautiful grounds surrounding their depot have found it a big asset not only in attracting home seekers, but a big advertisement as people passing through the town remark about it to their friends.

ELECTED NEW OFFICERS

Rebekah Club No. 248, met Tuesday and elected new officers as follows: Hattie M. Harris, Noble Grand; Marjorie Lewis, Vice-Grand; Elizabeth Meyers, secretary; Rosa Stevens, treasurer.

Three were initiated and two admitted by card.

An amusing incident of the evening was told by the Multnomah delegation. One of their officers had been married that evening and they proceeded to kidnap the bride and brought her to Beaverton, while other friends kidnaped the groom and held him prisoner in Portland.

The family were getting ready to drive to Portland to see the Chinese Festival and Mrs. Cady was washing dishes and Barbara was helping. The water splashed on her hand and mother's arm burning it quite severely from the hand to the elbow.

PETS TO BE PHOTOGRAPHED

W. J. Finley Took Coons Back With Him, Will Photograph Them

INTERESTING PETS

Pictures will be seen in "Wild Life of Nature," a Magazine Devoted to Wild Birds and Animals

W. J. Finley of Jennings Lodge, was in Beaverton last week and became so interested in R. E. Hannah's pet coons that he asked him to allow him to take two of the 16 week old coons back with him to his home at Jennings Lodge so that he could study their habits and take some pictures.

Mr. Hanna bought the parents two years ago, one came from the Wilson River and the other from Trask. They made very interesting pets. Their favorite meal is of fresh eggs. They grab an egg, run to a dark corner of the cage and then hold it between their paws like a squirrel holds a nut. The top of the egg is bitten off with their sharp teeth and the contents sucked out with their tongue—and then they eat the shell. It is thought, by some, that Mr. Hannah taught them this trick so that they would grow up to be careful and saving of their food and not waste a particle, like nice children should be trained.

A reel showing Mr. Hannah's coons was shown at the Columbia Theatre last Friday.

W. J. Finley will show his pictures in the magazine, "Wild Life of Nature," and also on the screen.

R. Bruce Hofsal, the artist on this magazine, lived at Garden Home for a number of years.

Eighteen Links Are Perfect

After a thorough examination the water committee found that 18 links of the fire hose were in perfect condition. In some of the other links it was found that rats had eaten holes in the hose.

A rack could be built and the hose drained after every fire. Some kind of a shed could be built to shelter the hose from the weather.

The committee have examined several types of fire engines with an idea of recommending that a good engine be bought, as fire insurance would be lowered if the proper fire equipment was bought. This will be brought before the people at a general election and they can show by their vote what they desire. It has been found that a good fire engine with ladders, hose and two 10 gallon chemicals could be bought for $2950 or a smaller car for about $1000. The larger one has a pressure pump.

Beaverton Is Proud Of Float

Everyone was more than pleased with the prize won at the Rose Show and feel proud of the committee, who helped make a success of the float. It would be hard to tell who deserves the most praise, everyone worked hard.

President J. W. Raynard, of the Booster's Club, desires to publicly thank all those who so kindly gave of their time and money to help put this across.

GRANGE PICNIC CHAMPOEG PARK

Scenic and Historical Features Greatly Enjoyed

The Grange picnic at Champoeg Park Sunday, was an interesting affair. Butte Grange at Tigard was one of the best represented granges in the vicinity. Among those seen there were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Tigard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tigard, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Butler, Mrs. E. Vincent, A. W. Vincent, Miss Grace Tigard, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. John Gaarde, Mr. and Mrs. C. Christensen, Mrs. Ida Gustin, Mr. and Mrs. Rhamig, and Mrs. Alice Cutting; Max and Herman Tiederman of Greenberg, and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richardson, from Winona grange, Tualatin. Phillip Olson from the Sherwood grange. It was a perfect day and all greatly enjoyed the fine program and the historical and scenic features of the park. The ancient bridge will be razed this week to be replaced with a new one. The loop trip is very interesting, going by way of Newberg and returning via Wilsonville and Butteville. The proposed new highway to Salem, clipping the distance ten miles from Portland, is being backed by a host of boosters and one has only to go over the route to be convinced of its feasibility. The map of the proposed road and accompanying article in last Sunday's Oregonian, tells the tale and the truth.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Marriage Licenses were issued to the following couples: Percy Bernard Bleckman of Oswego, and Emma Lee Merrill of Tigard; Walter Emies of Tualatin, and Helen Pollard of Tigard.

A marriage license was issued to Guy J. Lewis of Portland, and Mrs. Daisy W. Southworth of Multnomah, at Vancouver, Wash., Saturday.

NOW IS A GOOD TIME TO CUT GRASS

Good Exercise For Busy Merchant After Staying In Doors All Day

WILL BE FIRE MENACE

If not cut soon—People Should try to Beautify the Town

Now is a good time to cut the grass in front of the homes and in the vacant lots around town. If cut now it will not grow again this summer. The warm weather will soon cure the grass and it will become a fire hazard. A lighted cigarette thrown on the ground could soon cause thousands of dollars worth of damage.

Merchants of Beaverton will find cutting grass a good healthy exercise after being shut up in a store all day long and it will make our town more attractive for home seekers.

"Don't let George do it," do it yourself.
