JUNIOR COMMUNITY MUSIC CLUB

The Junior Community Music club presented its April program Friday evening before a room well filled with parents and friends. The program was well rendered and very interesting containing several well known and much loved numbers such as Narcissus, Spring Song and the quartet from Rigoletto, besides two very entertaining readings given by Margaret Yonge and Bobby Small.

Miss Steele gave an instructive talk on early American music, telling how music began in America with the psalm singing of the Pilgrim fathers, and grew through the early singing classes, and through the development of the harpsichord and so on down to the modern symphony orchestra and the Metropolitan Opera, which is the outstanding musical organization of today.

It is to be hoped that the club will day evening's program showed the varied and instructive nature of the work. It is doubtful if the children themselves realize the full benefit of their club work but those who attended the recitals from month to month can see its results. Raymond Andrews deserves special mention both for his work as accompanist and for his excellent playing of his solo numbers.

Ruth Beasley acted as chairman and announced the following program:

- Niada Branson Piano, "The Boy Blue" Spaulding
- Horace Oslund Piano, "Elfin's Serenade" Gaynor
