And It Would Always Be "Just Like Home"

"Now, my dear," said the young wife, "don't let us quarrel like so many other couples. You know all we have to do is to avoid the first quarrel and then there never can be any." "Of course," the young husband agreed, "but you stubbornly persist in boarding at a hotel, although you know I can't endure hotel life and want a home of my own." "We differ on that subject, to be sure; but that is a small matter. Why not compromise?" "Certainly, if you can suggest a way." "Nothing is easier. We will board at a hotel, and every evening when you come home I'll complain about the hotel help, just as if they were our own, and no doubt the proprietor will agree to let me discharge one or two occasionally and you can spend the morning at the intelligence office hunting for new ones. Just as if we were keeping house, you know."
