

R. O. T. C. GIVEN
SYMBOL OF ITS IDEALS

It isn't very often that a busy executive has time to devote to any but his own business, but he usually finds time when those outside activities involve the furthering of the schoolboy's interest in his school affairs, says Norman De Vaux, head of the Pacific Art League. Photos show: The R. O. T. C. colors and American flag presented by De Vaux to the San Leandro California high school last week at the first public appearance of the school's military squad in formation; and the guards of the new flags beside a Durant Star Four spot roadster.

BEAVERTON
