A sharp question
Alma B: Who invented the cactus?
Esther J: That's a sticker.

Walk and Jump
Marietta G: Do you think automobiles make us lazy?
Melvin A: Not if we're pedestrians.

Oh Rats!
Mr. Gooding: Do you know what a rat does for a living?
Dennis P: Now!
M. G: That's correct.

Some Improvement
Carl P: They say I'm getting better looking every day.
Phyllis S: You must have been terrible at the start.

DAD AND I

When the powers of the wild meet in battle.

First the tiger was on top, then with a mighty effort the lion regained his feet and thus the mighty fight continued.

The lion, lunging his mighty weight of 500 pounds or more, downed the tiger. Over and over they rolled; at times it was hard to distinguish one from the other.

The lion, finding a vital spot, is now victorious. Mad with victory, he springs at the baby elephant.
