INTERESTING THE YOUNG PEOPLE

It is both interesting and pleasing to note the activities of various groups of people in enlisting the services of boys and girls in community enterprises.

The young people do not stay young for long. Today the child plays with toys on the floor. Tomorrow he plays the strenuous game of life, takes his place in our community and becomes a necessary factor in our institutions.

Those who have lived here for several years will recall having watched this transition of youth into adulthood. And it is well that this is so. For appreciating this "turn-over" in man and woman power and influence a solemn obligation is imposed upon their elders. Such duty is not assumed from the standpoint of reformation. The young are merely formed and can not be re-formed; they can only be guided. The burden rests upon all of us to conduct ourselves in such a way that we will set good examples, both of individual conduct and of citizenship in the community.

More than that, we should place the youth in positions of trust and in the councils of community endeavor just as early as possible, both for the purpose of centering their attention upon wholesome activities and to bring the spirit of youth into action.

The destiny of the whole world is always in the hands of youth, because youth is always with us and always coming into its own. What the young people are and what they will become depends largely upon their environment coupled with the opportunities that are afforded them.

It is within the power of the present-day citizenship to make the environments of youth wholesome and their opportunities ample.

Why shouldn't Al Smith and Herb Hoover meet? Aren't they American citizens first and political opponents second?

To keep up with the times one has to stay up at all times.

Looks like a fellow should be allowed to deduct his loss of sleep while figuring out his income tax blank.

That the Indians have been mistreated there is no doubt. When we remember that we recently elected one of them to the Vice-Presidency.

After all, it wouldn't do to put the farms on a business basis because the farmers would spend entirely too much time playing golf.

It's socially dangerous and economically unsound to abolish the jury system in this country without providing another means of livelihood for a lot of the boys who would have to leave their profession.

These plays by radio remind us that in the old days we were mistaken when we thought we had to buy front-seat tickets in order to enjoy the show. A seat in the gallery would have been just as good, but we didn't think so then.

If the recent snow doesn't just suit we elder folks it surely made a hit with the younger ones. Peterson's hill has been kept hot with sleds for over a week. With roaring bonfires and Kenneth Peterson reading the latest weather reports from Florida they have had heaps of fun.

We just load up the bob-sled with five or seven, Give a shove and away we go; Down the hill and over the bumps, Never caring for scratches or thumps, For we're having a jolly good time you know.

Smoothness

Never Before Achieved in a Low-Priced Automobile

Of all the exceptional performance qualities resulting from the advanced design of the new Chevrolet Six, none is more impressive than its remarkably smooth operation.

Although the new six-cylinder motor develops 32% more power with correspondingly higher speed and faster acceleration . . . although it delivers better than twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline——its outstanding feature of performance is a degree of smoothness never before achieved in any low-priced automobile.

To achieve such remarkable performance in a car of such low price, Chevrolet spent years in development work. Over 100 different engines were designed, built and subjected to over a million miles of testing at the General Motors Proving Ground before the present motor was adopted. The new power plant has many unusual features, such as the new acceleration pump, the new gasoline pump and filter, and the new automatic lubrication of the rocker arms.

The four-wheel brakes have been newly designed to assure positive, quiet action. Steering has been made easier. And the new Fisher bodies with their new lines, new colors, adjustable driver's seats and new appointments represent new heights of style, distinction, comfort and value.

We extend you a cordial invitation to see and drive the new Chevrolet Six. We believe it an experience that every motorist should have—and we want you to know how finely the new Chevrolet Six is built and how smoothly it performs!
