X-RAY SHOWS GLASS IN KNEE

Again the X-Ray has proved itself a benefit to mankind. When Harvey Williams was taken to Dr. Mason's office after his accident, when his car turned over, the Doctor made a careful examination of his knee and from all indications it felt as though the bone was splintered, but he decided to take an X-Ray picture before putting it in the cast. When the picture was developed it showed where a splinter of glass from the windshield had been driven into the socket. It was immediately removed and the limb is healing rapidly.

Mr. Williams says he is going to have a watch chain made of the glass to remind him of his experience.

The cantata entitled, "Judith" is written by Adam Geibel, is a simple but melodious cantata. The scene is laid in the garden of Judith's father, Joseph of Armathea, where most of the acting takes place. The cantata includes solos, duets, ladies chorus, and choruses. Ernest Lehmann will play the piano and Margaret Olson will play the violin.

BASHFUL MR. BOBBS BIG SUCCESS

The Capitol Hill Dramatic Club, a new auxiliary of the Community Club, presented the three act farce comedy, "Bashful Mr. Bobbs" to a capacity house at the Capitol Hill Community club house, Friday evening, March 22nd.

Those who were unable to attend missed a real treat.

It was a good play well presented, full of good clean comedy and laughable situations from start to finish.

The contrast between the Bashful Mr. Bobbs and his anything but bashful cousin, played by Bud and Wayne Jensen respectively was exceptionally well brought out.

Obadiah Stump, a fresh country product, played by Roy Matthew kept the audience in an uproar of laughter.

Every character was well portrayed. The balance of the cast included: Katherine Henderson, a young wife, Eunice Partlow; Frederick Henderson, her husband, Chas. Weigel; Mrs. Wiggins, the landlady, Mable Matthews; Frances Whitaker, an athletic girl, Dorothy Lewis; Rosalie Otis, a society bud, Ruth Goff; Jean Graham, Delaware peach, Marion Bowers; Celesta Vanderpool, of the movies, Viola Murphy; Julie, her French maid from Paris, Velma Goff.

The success of the play was due largely to the splendid directing of Mr. Lawrence Kemp and the advertising to the work of Mr. Henry Giles. Financially the club realized about $200 from play and program.
