SPRING FEVER

Oh! we like the spring time
When all the snow has fled,
And we can spade and rake a piece
And plant an onion bed.

Then when it comes evening,
We plan the things we'll sow;
The rows and rows of vegetables
And flowers too, you know.

Of course we'll hoe our garden,
And we will weed it well,
Oh! can't you see things growing
And flowers, almost smell?

Oh! dear, I believe we're tired,
We have a twofold ache,
All up and down our backbone
And how our legs do shake.

I think we have a fever,
We cannot tell for sure,
But some folks get it in the spring
I hope we'll find a cure.
