When "Merry Christmas"

Will Do Lots of Good

BIG snow flakes entered the farmhouse of Garth Mason and lingered at the window sills—a frame for hollywreaths. Inside every one but Garth chattered happily. He stared through a window toward a distant light.

"But he ought to make the first move," Garth muttered stubbornly.
Finally, impelled by something stronger than will, Garth jerked on his coat and strode forth.

In the doorway of his "hard" neighbor Garth paused self-consciously.

"—Just brought—Christmas eve, you know—a little present—" he awkwardly extended a new pipe gayly wrapped. "Wanted to say, 'Merry Christmas—'"

Garth stopped. His hollow-eyed "enemy" had only partially risen from his chair. John Clark was sick! Long the men talked. John had been haunted, too, by the old misunderstanding.

"Felt that—if I could only see you I'd get well," he faltered. Already he looked improved.

When Garth left the fields stretched before him in peaceful white. Above the cheery lights of his home a star shone with unwavering calm. Garth smiled.—(Clara Agee Hays.)

Christmas Flames That Brought Reconciliation

WHAT a party! Lois Dorr, "the Spirit of Christmas," stood by the tree and called out the names from the presents Santa handed her. "Eddie Hines; Bob Hall; Maggie Snyder." What happy children! What a fat Santa! What a glorious Christmas—if only Jim— It was a shame to quarrel at Christmas time, but Jim was so stubborn!

She brushed back the flowing veil that draped her head. "Mary Carr?" There was Jim in the corner. He needn't speak, then! "Barbara Carr." He would certainly apologize before she would speak. "Etta Sanders." He mustn't catch her staring at him—Lois Dorr whirled, her veil waved out behind her, and caught on the tree. In a second the flimsy stuff was afloat.

Through the instant panic came Jim. He snuffed out the fire, and—disregarding the interest he was creating—took her in his arms. "Lois, you'll forgive me?"

She nodded. "Let's go into the other room, Jim. It's quiet, and—there's some lovely mistletoe."— Helen Gaisford.

Six Hundred Pairs of Feet in Christmas Shoes

GIVE the honors to the Christmas season. It has come to be a moral force—a civilizing influence of unmeasured power. A western business man gave six hundred urchins of the street a Christmas present of six hundred pairs of shoes.

Who can measure the effect of putting six hundred pairs of feet into six hundred pairs of shoes and Christmas joy into the empty lives of six hundred struggling boys? It made Christmas the brightest spot in all their years. It brought the vision of hope and gave a nobler conception of the world. It turned six hundred pairs of feet, for a time at least, into the paths that lead toward success. Many of them will reach the goal.

Those shoes, perhaps, will turn a score of boys, poorly born, away from a career of crime and give to the world a score of strong and helpful men. The unselfish impulses prompted by the Christmas spirit have never been the urge to indolence or crime.— William L. Gaston.

CHRISTMAS FORESIGHT

She—I suppose you're looking forward to Christmas?
He—Am I? I'm looking away beyond it—that's when the bills fall due.

Burning the Yule Log

The custom of burning the Yule log on Christmas eve is not prevalent in England. The custom is still followed in some of the rural sections.
It is more prevalent in the Scandinavian countries.

Enjoying Christmas

When one is very young and when one is very old one may enjoy Christmas; things look so different viewed from a perambulator or a bath chair.
