CITY COUNCIL HOLDS ADJOURNED MEETING MONDAY EVENING

Present City Hall Property Deeded to State High- way Commission.

TAXES ARE DISCUSSED Meeting Monday Evening at School House to Plan Street Widening.

The city council gathered at the city hall Monday night for an adjourned meeting. The first problem to confront them was the deeding of the present city hall property to the State Highway Commission. The new highway is to take all but a small portion of the land. At a previous meeting, the representative of the commission informed the council that the state would take the entire lot for $312.20 and pay for the street improvements made. When the state presented the deed, it showed a purchase price of $299.19, leaving a small portion which they suggested be deeded to the A. E. Storey estate adjoining. After a brief consideration, Councilman Wilson made a motion that the city accept the offer. Councilman Talbert seconded the suggestion, which received unanimous vote of approval.

Mayor Erickson signed the deed and instructed the recorder to communicate with the commission about the improvements, that the city feels they should be reimbursed with.

Councilman Alexander put a motion before the council for the purchase of the Hanson lots, 3 and 4, of Block 17, as a location for the City Hall, which was seconded by Councilman Lewis.

The petition presented by E. Stipe regarding the extension of Watson street to the new Canyon road was laid on the table, after some discussion.

The occupation tax was brought up and an outline plan presented, which did not work out satisfactory. A meeting was called for Thursday, at which time a plan to effect tax reduction will be discussed.

The problem of widening Watson street, from the south side of Second street to the southern city boundary, was referred on. A meeting of interested property owners will be held at the school house March 24th.

The matter of the open sewer near the Spraner property was left open for further investigation.

Raises Pedigreed Turkeys

B. E. Brandtner who resides on the Lake road, is noted for the pedigree turkeys he is raising on his place. But recently he sold several of these birds weighing 33 pounds each to fanciers. The Minnesota agricultural plan, of keeping them under cover for the first twelve weeks is the big secret of his success in this industry. In the pen one can find running water and an unusual sanitary condition.

Not many persons are familiar with the several industries located about this part of the county and we would be more than pleased to be able to inform them through these columns.

European Exhibits Unusually Fine

The European exhibit put on by the fifth grade class of the Aloha-Huber school was an unusually fine one. This exhibit was one of the many interesting features put on to entertain visiting mothers and friends after the cafeteria luncheon.

The Scandinavian exhibit in charge of Herbert Rydman, consisted of photographs of Sweden and some very beautiful hand woven cloth.

Dolly Wray had as her display, bulbs, lace, onions and a fine Edam cheese direct from Amsterdam, which represented Netherlands, Belgium and Denmark.

The Spanish exhibits were in the care of Bruce Wheeler, the Italian, Edward Larson, the Swiss, Delores Gardner, France, Venette Wickstrand, Germany, Dan Haack, and the Danube river countries were demonstrated by Jack Taylor.

Every pupil in the room had a part in the "William Tell" drama which was presented as a closing feature for the day. About fifty visitors were present.

Many New Ideas Given At 4-H Club Meeting At Hillsboro Saturday

Carefully planned work for the entire year and club meetings at which the members of the club carry the responsibility of conducting their meetings are things necessary for really successful 4-H club work, said R. C. Kuehner, assistant state club leader, to a group of 35 local leaders of boys' and girls' clubs of Washington county last Saturday. This meeting was held in the chamber of commerce rooms at Hillsboro and was conducted by N. A. Frost, county school superintendent, and W. F. Cyrus, assistant county agent.

That a county leaders' organization would greatly benefit the 4-H club work was the general opinion of those present. More carefully planned club meetings, greater interest from the communities and increased effectiveness would result from having the local leaders organized into a group which would meet several times a year to discuss plans and methods of conducting the work. A committee was appointed to prepare plans for such an organization and present them at the leaders' meeting to be held April 5.

Some instruction work dealing with problems of the particular club project should always form the center of the club meeting. Demonstration work should be an important feature of all club work for through this the club member acquires proficiency in doing the job connected with his project.

"Projects on a big enough scale to make it possible for the boy or girl to earn a little money or acquire stock of their own does more to encourage the member to complete their work and makes the task of the local leader much more simple," stated Cyrus.

Club meetings should be planned ahead of time and a definite plan followed in carrying on the meetings. Club members should learn to conduct a business meeting from the work they do in these meetings.

Livestock club leaders instructed Mr. Cyrus to arrange for three livestock field days for 4-H club members. At these tours the members will be given instruction and practice in judging and demonstration work. These tours will be held one each month in June, July and August.

Wm. Walker Passes After Long Illness

During his boyhood days Mr. Walker proved to be of a very studious nature and after completing the grade school education, entered the Portland business college to fit himself for a business career.

When about twenty-three years old he was overcome by typhoid fever, from which he never fully recovered. Although Mr. Walker has been practically bed-ridden for the past 27 years, one always found him of the most cheerful nature. He will always remain in the hearts of his many friends, who enjoyed frequent visits to his bedside, finding him constantly active and alert.

Mr. Walker, a leap year baby, being born on February 29, 1880, was blessed with eleven birthdays. And never having married is survived by his mother, Mrs. Rachael Walker, an aunt, Miss Coffey and a sister, Mrs. Laura Olds.

Funeral services were held from the "Old Meadows Farm" last Wednesday, March 12th, with W. E. Pegg in charge. Rev. Graf of the Bethany and Rev. Dungan, of the Beaverton Congregational church officiated in the services. The choir of both churches furnished the music. Southern Pacific Wish To Abandon Tracks

The petition of the Southern Pacific to abandon five spur tracks in Portland, Bertha, Newberg, Forest Grove and Hillsboro, was heard before the public service commission Tuesday in the Multnomah county court house.

A large delegation, representing the various places affected, was present. Marion K. Holland, attorney for the United Westside clubs, represented the fifty clubs and chambers of commerce in the valley. He stated that many farmers in this west side area were practically marooned when the train service was discontinued. He continued by saying that the S. P. unlawfully ceased to provide its service to residents of these outlying communities after July 1.

The S. P. claims that since the buses have been put into operation, the train service has proven very unprofitable.

Stenographic records and exhibits will be forwarded to the interstate commerce commission at Washington, D. C., for a decision.

UNITED WEST SIDE CLUBS AT HUBER MOST INTERESTING

A. E. Melin of Transportation Committee Reports on Conference With Southern Pacific

SPLENDID PROGRAM

Next Meeting at Union High School in Hills- boro April 8.

The sixth monthly meeting of the United Westside clubs was held at Huber Tuesday night. The meeting was well attended, delegates assembling from as far west as Forest Grove and Hillsboro, and east from Tigard, Metzger, Portland, Multnomah, Fairvale, Garden Home and other points. It was the most interesting and entertaining of all meetings so far held.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 8 by Geo. W. Lippert, president. After reading of the minutes by H. A. Davenport, secretary, there were reports of the various committees. A. E. Melin, chairman of the transportation committee, reported what developments had taken place in conferences with authorities of the Southern Pacific concerning reduction of fares. He also reported on the hearing held at the court house in Portland, where the public service commission heard complaints from residents in the neighborhoods of Bertha and Raleigh, with reference to the proposed abandonment of all train service on the part of the Southern Pacific. His report indicated the strength of mass action in making demands of such organization as the Southern Pacific and he further reported that it was his belief that train service would be resumed because of the demands of the United Westside clubs.

Judge Noyes of the highway committee, Tigard, reported on the progress being made on the Beaverton-Tigard road.

Ben Riesland spoke on the Tualatin tunnel, and reported that the "engineers making investigations in the matter found that we have a greater valley here than we ever dreamed we had," and that the tunnel could soon be a reality. He will make a full and detailed report at the Hillsboro meeting April 8.

Edward A. Brown, City club of Portland representative, gave a very interesting and witty talk on Ireland.

Representatives present urged the support of the clubs in the matter of the Champeog monument, of which President Lippert assured them that the proposition had the support of the club. He also stated that representatives of the club had already journeyed to Salem in a body to make demands for the erection of a monument to the heroes who paved the way for the Oregon Country to be added to the United States without bloodshed.

C. S. Gilsdorf, the new chairman of the entertainment committee, taking the place of Ivan Swift who has moved to Sheridan, placed before the assemblage a wonderful program, on which he is to be congratulated. Among the numbers were selections by Wilma, Gene and Jerome Tuttle, and Kenneth Bartell; acrobatic stunts by Mary Francis and Gladys Renick of Portland, and Donald McIntosh. There were also selections by the junior band of St. Mary's school, all of which program—11 juveniles—was appreciated.

The next meeting will be held at the union high school in Hillsboro. The program will be announced by radio, KOIN and KGW. This will be on April 8 at 8 p. m. The following meeting in June will be held at Capitol Hill. At the Hillsboro meeting there will be represented more than the now fifty-one affiliated members, among which will be the Rotary clubs of Hillsboro and Forest Grove, the chambers of commerce of both cities, as well as the Kiwanis club and Chamber of Commerce of Beaverton. The public is always welcome and anyone has a voice, so a record meeting is expected at Hillsboro.

The United Westside clubs has turned out to be a wonderful medium for obtaining what Washington county and the Tualatin valley needs. As President Lippert stated in his address: "We have here an affiliation of all these clubs and there is strength in unity. By mass action we can accomplish more than by individual effort."
