Camp Cookery Boys Hike Accident Adds Excitement

A group of camp cookery boys of the first division, including the president, Walter Miller; Rel Saxton, vice president; Elmer Larson, secretary; Arthur Wickstrand, Thomas Haines, Delbert Marvin and Frank Pulver, with their leader, Mrs. W. T. Lehnherr, hiked beyond the railroad crossing on the Reed road last Saturday morning.

The party was a wee bit handicapped, inasmuch as Elmer had forgotten to notify all the members until starting time. He had to hustle around to do this Saturday morning. Mrs. Lehnherr had had a touch of intestinal flu the preceding few days and most of the boys failed to bring tiny cooking utensils. The expedition got underway about 10 o'clock and the dinner destination was reached without any mishaps. The boys were cheered on the way by Pulver's vocal endeavors. Nothing could dampen his enthusiasm. On the way the boys picked up Darrell Reed,, who had started early to the afternoon session.

A suitable location was esosen where some woodcutters had worked. Dinner preparations, meat frying, bread mixing and so on were soon progressing. Cooking utensils were few in number. A can of pork and beans was placed on some coals and Frank Pulver was detailed to watch them. Frank became loquacious and business, was forgotten until too late. On seeing the can swelling and puffing in a distressed fashion, he gave it a vicious poke and turned his back. There was a terrific explosion and not a bean or either end of the can was left. Most of them were in Walter's ear, Elmer's eye and on the seat of Frank's trousers.. Mrs. Lehnherr thought it was dynamite ,and whatever the rest of the boys thought they did not remain present to say. It was quite a scare and furnished a great deal of excitement.

However all hands who were cooks had a wonderful time and are now hoping they can go again soon.

A new member, Raymond Markovitch, was enrolled last Saturday with this group.

Three members, Lester Technor, Kenneth Hancock and Walter Prink, were unable to attend the Saturday hike of their division of the camp cookery class.
