CHURCH OF CHRIST

Rev. G. W. Springer, Minister

We are looking forward to next Sunday with a great deal of anticipation. As it is Children's Day there will be a Children's Day program during the Sunday School hour. During the Morning Church service Mr. Springer will preach a Children's Day sermon.

Next Sunday each family will bring a basket dinner and we will all enjoy this dinner and fellowship together. Everyone is invited to come and participate with us in this fellowship.

The greatest feature of the day will be at one o'clock at which time the Church of Christ is broadcasting a service which will reach over the entire world. The Churches of Christ in New Zealand, Great Britain, Ireland, Australia, South America, and all parts of the world will be listening in. The songs sung will be "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" and "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name". Every listener is asked to sing. It is believed that there will be ten million people singing these songs together. This broadcasting program is in celebration of the 1900 birthday of the Church of Christ on the day of Pentecost. We are inviting every one to come and listen in with us at this service. The service will be one half hour in length. After this service we will have our basket dinner.

In the evening Mr. Springer will speak on the subject "The Lord's Prayer."

CATHOLIC CHURCH

Mass Sunday at 7:45 a. m. and 10 a. m.

FATHER O'NEIL

Following are the rules to be followed in this contest:

- 1 Name your choice for "Rose Queen" by writing her name on your ballot.
- 2 No new candidate will be accepted in the contest after June 5.
- 3 If a candidate resigns at any time her votes will be destroyed by the contest committee.
- 4 Closing date of the contest has been set for Tuesday, June 10.
- 5 Votes will be counted by the committee each day and posted on the board at the Beaverton Radio Shop.

Beaverton won the first prize of $75 in section 2, for cities of Oregon outside of Portland last year.

It would be splendid should our town carry away the same prize this year and there is no easier way available to replenish the treasury so let the merchants and residents of Beaverton get together and make this float the biggest success ever.

Proposed Road Route May be Changed

County engineers appointed to view the proposed Tigard-Beaverton road have completed an inspection of same. From late reports it is possible the route may be changed so that the road will not cross railroad tracks or go through property belonging to those persons opposed to this road. Their plan is to follow the present road until it crosses the O. E. tracks and turn and follow the tracks to Tigard. The general feeling is this would be undoubtedly the happy solution to this difficult problem, and will be endorsed by all parties interested.

Dance Planned for Opening of New Garage

C. J. Bielmar, of the Bielmar Motors, is planning a dance in his new garage building as an opening feature, in the near future. The structure is rapidly nearing completion and it is hoped will be ready for occupancy the latter part of the week.

The gas tanks have been installed and the curbing cut back in order to allow the motorists more space when turning into Broadway from Watson street, and at the same time making the entrance to the garage more convenient.

Gordon Wilcox to Receive His Degrees from Oregon State College

Oregon State College, Corvallis, May 28—Gordon Wilcox, of Beaverton, will receive his degree from Oregon State college at the sixty-first annual commencement exercises here June 2.

A total of 489 students will be awarded degrees by President W. J. Kerr in the 10 degree-granting schools. The school of commerce leads with 109 graduates, with the school of engineering graduating 92 in four departments, industrial arts 12, civil engineering 24, electrical engineering 27 and mechanical engineering 29. Home economics follows with 77, vocational education 68, agriculture 39, pharmacy and pharmacological chemistry 30, forestry 30, chemical engineering 18, and mining and mining engineering 7. Twenty-eight graduate students will receive master's degrees.

Wilcox will be awarded a degree of bachelor of science in agriculture. He has specialized in general agriculture.

As a graduate of the Oregon State college school of agriculture, Wilcox will be well prepared to pursue work in his chosen field. The institution ranks as one of the foremost state colleges in the country both in the reputation of its graduates and in the number of students. The first two years of his course included such fundamental subjects as English, chemistry, botany and zoology. In his junior and senior years, he gave major attention to general agriculture although he was required to pursue work in public speaking, national government and other liberal courses. Although most of the graduates of the school of agriculture have found their life work in Oregon, many of them are leaders in the agriculture and allied industries of other and foreign countries.

DAIRY TRAIN STARTS ON TRIP JUNE 3

Carrying the message to dairy men and others of "Economy and Quality for Profit" the big nine-car special dairy demonstration train will start on its scheduled run through northwestern and central Oregon on June 3. In advance local enthusiasm and preparation is any indication this train will be greeted by the largest crowds of any ever run in this state.

The train, operated by the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railroad and manned by specialists of Oregon State college extension service, has 15 scheduled stops on its route, but scores of other localities are operating with the cities actually on the route. The special will arrive in Hillsboro Friday forenoon June 7 giving the people of this community an opportunity to see graphically presented the latest information relative to success in dairying in Oregon.

The four exhibit cars have been spotted at Corvallis for the past week where specialists of the extension service have put the finish touches on the displays. Every car features one particular phase of successful dairying, presenting its message in attractive posters, table displays, illuminated pictures and personal explanation by specialists in charge.

To insure that visit to the train will not merely become an entertainment feature with no lasting results, the extension service is providing a printed pamphlet setting forth the essential features of the exhibit seen. This bulletin will be provided free to all visitors to serve as a reference after they have gone home.

Another plan used with this train expected to aid in emphasizing the message of the special, is a meeting in a local hall either just before the arrival or just following the departure of the train, where representatives of the college and the county agent will sum up the essential elements of the dairy program outlined on the train.

Local merchants at the various stops, and in many cases the granges and community clubs as well, are cooperating in making the day attractive for rural visitors. A free lunch is being provided for farmers and their families at every stop and facilities are being installed where the train stops to provide for convenience of those there to hear the program.

The program at the train will begin with a platform demonstration from the special flat-car stage included in the train, in which P. M. Brandt, head of the dairy department, will show by means of cattle carried along on the train the positive results to be obtained through use of proved prepotent sires in herd improvement.

Following this demonstration the visitors will inspect the train exhibits. The first car will deal with crops and methods of getting economical feeds. Pastures legumes and succulents will be emphasized and Professor Brandt and E. R. Jackman crop specialists, will explain the recommendations.

Better management is the theme of the second car, where R. S. Besse farm management specialist, and I. R. Jones, dairy specialist, will point out the significance of displays showing the value of economical sized herds, better breeding and disease control.

Sanitation is the subject set forth in the third car where Dr. G. Wilster and F. E. Price of the dairy and agricultural engineering department will add a personal touch to the exhibits. The fourth car deals with marketing and increased consumption and is in charge of the new marketing specialist, J. H. Tull and F. L. Ballard, state county agent leader. The schedule of the train follows: June 3, Eugene, afternoon; June 4, Albany, forenoon Salem afternoon; June 5, Donald, forenoon, Wilsonville afternoon; June 6, Hillsboro forenoon, Forest Grove afternoon; June 7, Vernonia, forenoon, Scappoose afternoon; June 9, Seaside forenoon, Astoria, afternoon; June 10, Clatskanie forenoon, Rainier afternoon; June 11, White Salmon afternoon; June 12, Redmond forenoon.
