John W. Horne

The Maplewood community is again saddened by the passing away of one of their beloved neighbors, John W. Horne, who was one of the pioneers of that vicinity. Mr. Horne was a staunch supporter of the church and Sunday School, and even though prevented from taking an active part in affairs, owing to his physical condition, he always had a willing hand stretched out to help where he could.

His quiet, friendly attitude toward all persons, makes us feel the great loss of a friend and citizen. In Mr. Horne, who spread a light and an incentive, over the community to look up and lift up, and to make a person want to live harder, to live better lives.

The sympathy of the whole neighborhood is extended to the family, in their bereavement and may God bless his memory.
