Mr. Phillips are to have a real treat Thursday when he will take them in to Portland to visit the Oregon Historical Society's museum, which contains a very large and extremely interesting collection of early Oregon relics. The trip should not only prove to be interesting to these young people but instructive as well.

Perfect days? The fifth and first grades tie this week with no absent marks against either.

Records are kept of all pupils from the first day they enter in the first grade until they are graduated from the eighth grade. Formerly these have been kept in loose leaf record books which is giving place to a card system this year. A "Kardex" file has been purchased and the transfer of the record of each active pupil to the cards will begin this week. The new system is not only more readily accessible but more flexible and presents no disorganization difficulties as the records increase in number by addition of new pupils.

"Profit and loss" means something pretty definite to eighth grade pupils who are conducting a spelling contest on a rather unique plan. The class is divided in two sides each working for credits for hundred per cent scores and striving to avoid losses from incorrectly spelled words. A new list of words is presented each Monday. Three tests are given during the week. In Monday's test a perfect score counts 5 points credit for the side of the individual who rates the score, while each misspelled word counts off one point. On Wednesday the hundreds are worth 3 points and wrong words count 2 and the final test on Friday drops to only one point with wrong meaning a deduction of 3 points. Vera McElroy and Howard Petzold are leaders of the sides.

It is a well known fact that visitors of schools never see or hear the best work but only half true in the fourth grade for that room has a bulletin board on which Mrs. Wilson posts the best work of each week.

Bobbie Shively has recovered sufficiently from whooping cough to be able to attend school and entered the third grade this week.

Mothers wouldn't feel that starting their little folks to school was quite such a trying procedure if they would visit the first grade room and realize what a home-like atmosphere it has and could see how their own teachings are just being picked up and carried on by the teacher.

Right now the beginners are working on a little "Courtesy" poem and

The date for rally date at the Community church has been changed to the second Sunday in October, due to the fact that Mrs. Carson is still in the East where her mother is very ill. Attendance at Sunday school and church are showing a decided increase.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Last Sunday was a very enjoyable day for the church in every respect. There were one hundred present for Sunday school. In the morning church service three were added to the church by statement. In the evening service one was added to the church by primary obedience.
Next Sunday morning Mr. Springer is going to speak on the subject "Righteousness."

Word News Originated From Points of Compass

The earliest newspapers always printed a sign at the top of the first page of every issue depicting the points of the compass. The letter N, for North was placed at the top. Below it appeared a "plus" sign. At the right, E, for East. At the left, W, for West while below the letter S indicated South. Later the "plus" sign was dropped and the letters "N. E. W. S." appeared, implying that the information printed came from the four corners of the globe. And so we got the word "News" meaning the latest information on any subject.

Advertising columns are "News" as much as the editorial columns. Advertising is packed with news. News of the latest styles, of a new food, of an improved household utensil, of a powerful and low-priced automobile, of trips to Europe and all parts of the world—and so on. Advertising has become "news" and people depend on advertisements for accurate information about things they wish to know, says Boston Transcript.

Reading advertising is a useful and profitable habit. It saves time, by telling you where desired articles may be purchased. It saves money because advertised merchandise is more dependable as to quality and durability than non-advertised wares. And, advertising is accurate. You can trust the "news" that you read in advertisements. Read them as you do the editorial columns.

Greyhound Lines Reduce Traveling Rates on Coast

Stimulation of winter travel along the Pacific Coast between Portland, Oregon, and the Pacific Northwest through San Francisco to Los Angeles, and southern California, is expected to result from special winter excursion fares to be put in effect by Pacific Greyhound Lines starting October 1.

"The Pacific Coast has achieved a word-wide reputation as a winter recreation center and Pacific Greyhound Lines is endeavoring to its part to enhance this reputation. H. A. Wooster, general traffic manager of the motorcoach company, announced today in announcing the low winter fares.
"It is hoped that these low fares will be an inducement to winter tourists arriving in the Pacific Northwest to visit California and, conversely, the low fares may induce winter tourists arriving in southern California to visit northern Oregon before returning home," Wooster stated.
