BEAVERTON HI NOTES

FRESHMAN NEWS

The Freshman class of this year is one of the largest and peppiest Freshman classes that has been in the school, and is well represented in all sports, clubs and other school activities, with both boys and girls basketball teams which play many interclass games.

Malcolm Clement received a football letter for the ability he showed in football during the preceding semester.

Lloyd Tait and Kenneth Taylor are our class debaters. Kenneth has also been chosen a member of the Hi Y.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

The sophomores started the new semester with two new members, Marjorie Jones and Richard Young. Corrine Antrim and Lois Sato were proud possessors of blue report cards this last six weeks. Blue cards are honor cards.

Three pupils in the French 4 class have received letters from their French correspondents. Helen Dimco has received two letters, Helen Berst her first, and John Schilling his first.

At the last sophomore class meeting officers were elected. Plans were made for a party that the girls are giving the boys who were victorious in the annual race of the class. The sophomore class won the race of the student body.

JUNIOR NEWS

Members of the junior class published a special Christmas paper for the benefit of the annual. The paper called the "Yule Flame" was edited and published entirely by the juniors with the help of Mrs. Snyder.

At a recent class meeting the juniors elected Stanley Cornils and Oma Browne as the affirmative team to represent the class in the forthcoming junior-senior debate. The question to be debated upon is the state question: Resolved that the chain stores are a detriment to the best interests of the American public.

The juniors placed third in the annual race. Due to the depressed condition of their pocketbooks they were unable to furnish the gas needed to beat the winners.

Class rings and pins have been ordered for the juniors and the members of the class are anxiously waiting their arrival.

SENIOR NEWS

The senior class has been active in all lines this year. The seniors elected their officers, the annual staff and the debate team. They are also represented in interclass basketball.

The seniors published the High School annual so the staff is elected from the senior class. The following were elected:

Elizabeth Huff editor; Matt Snyder, assistant editor; Verne Allen, advertising manager; Winifred Thoms, advertising manager; Margaret Haines, circulation manager; Betty Taylor, circulation manager; Ronald Webb, business manager; Annie Chinn, sports editor; Junior Dyle sports editor; Florence Selander school editor; Monroe Shannon, art editor; Little Cook art editor; Mahr Scott, drama editor; Bert Pitts literary editor; Winifred Thoms, typist; Lucille Barnes, typist; Kathryn Beach, job editor.

The class has won the debate championship the last two years and expect to win again with such an able team as Elizabeth Huff and Ronald Webb.

The interclass basketball championship has been won by the class for two years and they are favorites to repeat.

Russel Grant, Blanch Baldwin, Lloyd Anderson, and James Welch were graduated at mid year.

The Beaverton All Stars had a game with St. Helens Wednesday at the high school gymnasium. The game was rather slow and at the end of the first half Beaverton lead with a score of 16 to 5. At the end of the game Beaverton was still ahead with a score of 42 to 22. Grant of Beaverton ranked highest with a score of 18 points.

There was also a practice game for the B. H. S. first team. Some of the members of the Town Team and a part of the high school team were their opponents. The B. H. S. team fought hard and showed many tricky passes which brought them to victory.
