FARM BOARD HOLDINGS FACES $150,000,000 LOSS BOARD SEVERELY CRITICIZED FRANCE OPPOSES HOOVER RENOMINATION CERTAIN SMITH AND ROOSEVELT CALLS FOR ECONOMY WILL REQUIRE COURAGE FRANCE ISOLATED MAY TURN TO GERMANY

It is estimated that the Farm Board holds 250,000,000 bushels of wheat, purchased at an average price of 82 cents a bushel, or an investment of $205,000,000. It is also estimated that the board holds 1,300,000 bales of cotton, bought at an average of $80 a bale, or a total investment of $104,000,000.

What to do with these holdings is a big issue in the mind of farmers, especially wheat growers, who have tried for some time to get a statement from the officials of the board that they will hold indefinitely. To sell on the present market would entail an estimated loss of $150,000,000 to the government and nobody can estimate what results such transactions would have on the market. However, present disposition of these holdings are not contemplated, except in relatively small quantities.

The next session of Congress is certain to see a great, big row over the farm policy of the administration. The buying and selling, in a vain effort to stabilize prices, will be severely condemned by business critics, while agriculturists will tend to the theory that the buying was not carried far enough. Even so, the administration defense will be that the policy, while it did not prevent declining prices, halted the decline short of what it would have been.

Ex-Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland, has started a "campaign" for the Republican nomination for president. He is not expecting to be the next president but he says "Herbert Hoover will not be." His idea, it seems, is to "start the fireworks." He thinks that the world is bankrupt, that the situation in Washington is rotten, and that it is time to speak out and tell the truth. He is a dairy owner, who insists that unless the world's income is increased there is no prospect for improvement, much less the payment of the war obligations.

Mr. France is interesting, and some of his views commendable even if one foresees no great success for his candidacy. He seems to think that there will be other half-way candidates after the G. O. P. nominations, and there may be, for all we know, but when the ballots are counted in the convention, Herbert Hoover will be running for reelection, and that's about all there is to it.

On the Democratic side one finds a lull, with news that former candidate Al Smith is to insist that the party take a wringing wet position before naming a candidate. While Gov. Roosevelt is much in the party eye at this time, and many observers say that he would be nominated if the convention were to be held today, it won't be held until next summer, and therefore leading positions in 1931 might not be worth much in 1932.

President Hoover's demand that federal expenditures be sharply reduced merely calls attention to a self-evident fact. The government faces greatly reduced income from ordinary sources of revenue, not to mention the $250,000,000 war debt payments which will not be paid under the moratorium, but which were, this year, applied to current expenses. Already, on the basis of the present outlook, financial advisers foresee another issue of bonds necessary next year to balance a government deficit, possibly to exceed a billion dollars.

This is not a safe situation. Something should be done and while it is not popular to demand rigid economy or to insist that taxes be raised if expenditures be not reduced, such a course looms inevitable.

Federal Authorities Strict Regarding Brown Rot on Recent Prune Crop

WM. F. CYRUS
County Agent

Federal authorities in charge of the enforcement of the pure food laws have turned their attention to rot in prunes and have indicated an intention of being strict regarding the interstate movement of dried prunes containing any brown rot. Eliminating brown rot and thereby improving the quality of the dried prune pack should be of assistance in eventually improving the demand for the Oregon fruit.

Controlling brown rot will lessen the loss at harvest time providing weather prevails that is favorable to its development. Damp, rainy or cloudy weather at prune picking time usually develops considerable rot in the crop. Most of this can be prevented by dusting or spraying with some form of sulphur three or four weeks before harvest time.

One-half to one pound per tree of a fine grade special dusting sulfur applied early in the morning when the air is still will effectively control the rot in the fruit, according to the experiences of Washington county growers.

Where dusting equipment is not available wettable sulphur or a cold mixed lime and sulfur may be used successfully. Directions for the use and making of these materials may be obtained from the county agents office. Dusting is preferred by most growers because of the greater ease of applying. For small orchards hand dusters are being used by a good many growers in the county.

Dairymen Confident of Stabilized Market for Milk

Many Washington county dairymen are looking forward to the future of the dairy business in this section with considerable optimism since the settlement of the milk trouble. Recognition of the dairymen's cooperative organization has left a feeling of assurance that they can look forward with confidence in having a stabilized market for milk at a fair price, and that they will have some voice in any negotiations leading to setting prices. Some have voiced an intention of making improvements in equipment and in their herds that they would not have made otherwise.

Barbara Stanwyck at RKO Orpheum "Miracle Woman"

With each succeeding picture the name of Barbara Stanwyck is becoming more and more firmly entrenched in the favor of talking picture fans and is a name that must be reckoned with when picking out the most popular of leading women on the screen. Her latest picture is playing this week at the RKO Orpheum theatre and again places this star in a dramatic role.

The picture carries the title "The Miracle Woman," with Miss Stanwyck playing the part of a girl of high ideals. When she falls in with some tricksters she becomes disillusioned. She loses faith in everything until she falls in love with a blind boy through whose love and faith in her she is regenerated. David Manners, Sam Hardy and Beryl Mercer are featured in the supporting cast.

A bit of Gay Paree is seen as the celebrated French comedian Annieville in the person of Ann Codee, celebrated French comedian. Annie Judy, and Zeke, direct from the hills of Georgia, sing mountain songs yodel and play the piano.

The Lee Twins have a troupe of dancers presenting "Twin Eighties of Pep" an act that combines in an exceptionally attractive way, eccentric tap and modern ballet dancing. Jack North produces a banjo and about 40 jokes.

Helmer/Huseth and the RKO Westerners feature southern melodies for their share of the bill.
