

LOOKING AT WASHINGTON

Gardiner's surprise, that the Chief Executive would appoint a committee of his own choosing. Both sides of the controversy went into a huddle.

Secretary Stimson branded as "entirely false" the suggestion of agreements with Premier MacDonaid and stated that the full records of the Rapidan conference was referred to Senators on the Foreign Relations Committee, provided they would agree not to tell the news papers the nature of the records and other data involved.

The next development was the naming of Mr. Hoover's committee of five, including three Navy League members, to examine "only the assertions of fact" made by President Gardiner, not his opinions or conclusions. The President's effort was construed to be directed to show that the Navy League president lacked correct information or that he colored the facts to suit his statements.

Political observers foresaw one hundred per cent victory for the President after studying the make-up of the committee. It included admiral Hugh Rodman, retired; John Hayes Hammond, former Fuel Administrator; Eliot Wadsworth, former assistant-Secretary of the Treasury; William R. Castle, Jr., under Secretary of State; and Ernest Lee Jahncke, assistant-Secretary of the Navy.

Some speculation developed over the delay on the part of Secretary of the Navy Adams to take part in the controversy and the hint was heard that he was for a big Navy and antagonistic to the President's position. He had denounced the World Peace Foundation for disseminating misleading information designed to show that the United States was spending twice as much as Great Britain on its navy.

This was an interesting situation. The purpose of the Navy League and the World Peace Foundation are entirely dissimilar—one was seeking to counteract the President's naval curtailment policy and the other was doing all that it could to discourage naval expenditures. Here was the President attacking the Navy League and his Secretary of the Navy attacking an organization supporting the President's disarmament policy.

However, the next day, the Navy Secretary expressed "unqualified disapproval" of the methods used by the Navy League, resentment over a "personal attack" on the President and cited the claim that the Navy was being weakened as a "misleading" statement.

dents this week. The boys who turned out for the first basket ball practice which was held this week have many odds to combat since few of last years players remain in the elementary grades having been members of the 5th grade last year. The fellows who are eligible are very enthusiastic, however and are determined to make the best showing possible which, after all, is the spirit which athletics should encourage whether it is possible to win many games or not. A very interesting spelling contest is in progress in the sixth grade. Hasting Denny and Jennie Welch are leaders. These people are also finding their Oregon history more interesting by reason of a chart which shows what part exploration played in the development of the country.

New Petition for Right of Way Being Circulated

Residents of Beaverton, Huber Aloha, Tobias, and Reedville are anxiously awaiting reports from the various committees who are working to secure the right of way on the Tualatin highway from Beaverton to Hillsboro. A majority of property owners along this thoroughfare are very outspoken in their support of the widening which they realize will increase the value of property in this vicinity. There is always a few persons to object and attempt to get a price for their property that is unreasonable, not far sighted enough to realize the sacrifice of the dollar in this case will reward them five dollars later.

Committees are working without compensation, in rain or shine to secure the needed amount of signatures and should be commended highly for their courage.

Nurserymen must Pay their License Fee to be on List

The following correspondence was received recently by W. E. Upshaw Washington County Horticultural Inspector and is of interest to the nurserymen of this county. W. E. Upshaw, County Horticultural Inspector Tigard, Oregon Dear Sir: We expect to have printed a list of Oregon nurserymen indicating what each person is growing. The list we expect to get out in November and it will include only those who have paid their license fees. All delinquent nurserymen are warned that their license fee should be sent in at once. There is a considerable demand for this list from various wholesalers of nursery stock and other persons interested in what Oregon nurserymen have for sale. As it will be necessary for delinquent nurserymen to take out their license sooner or later, it will be well worth an effort for them to get this fee in at once.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. A. COLE, P. J. Chief Division of Plant Industry

ALOHA NEWS

Mr. Johnson of Cooper Mt. has purchased a Crossley radio through A. Richards of the Richards Barber shop. Nick Steichen is reported as being very low at the Snyder home. The H. A. Morrison family spent Sunday at Multnomah with her brother Sid Altermatt and family. Mr. and Mrs. Tad Wheeler fished Sunday for trout to stock their new fish pond. Several nice fish were caught, but their efforts failed as the fish were found dead Monday. The Richards family have leased the Lusby house near the school and moved there this week. Mrs. Olive M. Richard has rented her farm to Mr. and Mrs. Porter of North Dakota. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Haaland of Portland visited with her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Stickney. Mr. and Mrs. Matt King attended a dinner at the Geo. Fish home in Portland, given in honor of Mrs. Ida Perring, of Hollywood. Mrs. Perring was a friend of both families when they resided at Pendleton.

Largest Percentage Money From Christmas Seal Sale Invested in County

"Ninety five cents out of every dollar invested in Christmas Seals is spent in our own State of Oregon for health" declared Mrs. J. J. Wismer, of Hillsboro, County Seal Chairman in a pre-sale statement made from the headquarters of the Washington County Public Health Association, which sponsors the sale of stamps in this county. The sale will begin at Thanksgiving and be continued until Christmas, just as is the custom in every part of the United States. Particular interest is being aroused in this year's sale, because of it's being the 25th anniversary of the first issuing of the sticker which has now become a traditional part of the Christmas and New Year's greetings.

Last year's sale money was used in Washington County, according to Mrs. Wismer, for free dental survey of all school children, medical examinations in all schools, child health clinics, helps for health teaching in schools and clubs, furnishing equipment, supplies and stenographic help for the County Nurse, aiding parents in securing special care for their sick or handicapped children, operations needed, glasses and dental care through cooperation with local doctors and dentists, home visits to tuberculosis patients and assistance in securing sanatorium care when needed.

Two Local Organizations Discuss Future Plans

The Beaverton Kiwanis and the Chamber of Commerce met for a joint luncheon Tuesday noon at the Drift Inn, to discuss the reorganization of these two bodies. Much discussion prevailed throughout the meeting, resulting in the agreement that the board of directors of both organizations get together and report next week on their plans. Directors for the Chamber of Commerce are Messrs A. E. Wilson, H. Alexander, C. J. Beach, L. Meyer, C. A. Hanna, for the Kiwanis, Dewey Drorbaugh, Dayton Peck, J. H. Albright, Elmer Stipe, Harry Barnes, Ivan Metzler, J. R. Talbert and L. Richey and L. Adams. Other business men present were Dr. Welch, L. W. Short and Mr. Manning. The Kiwanis luncheon was put over until Thursday this week due to Armistice Day Wednesday.

Red Cross Face Huge Task of Giving Relief to Needy

Last year the Red Cross did the greatest piece of work—outside of its World War tasks—than any organization has ever been called to do. That of feeding, clothing and giving relief to more than 2,750,000 people in 23 states affected by drought according to the retiring national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. Robert L. Hoyaj Speaking to the convention at Detroit in September she said: "This winter the Red Cross chapters in hundreds of communities where there are no welfare agencies may face an equal task. In no year since the World War has it been more vital for every man and woman to join the Red Cross. Its roll call for members will be held Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day. I know I do not need to urge Auxiliary members to be the first to join."

As always it is primarily the duty of the various chapters of the Red Cross to give aid to veterans and their families. When the boys went across in the World War they were promised by the organization that their families would not want and that promise is still being kept. The results of that war have not passed, the obligations continued. In addition Washington County Chapter has the authority to use funds for relief caused by economic pressure. Need which is not being supplied from other sources will be taken care of by Roll Call Chairman in each community. Red Cross works all the year in each community and the need is greater than ever before. Citizens of the community will call during the next 16 days for renewals of Red Cross membership and the Washington County chapter is asking for as generous a response as each community is capable of giving.

County Health Association Annual Meeting Monday

The annual meeting of the Washington County Public Health Association has been called for the evening of Monday, November 16, at 7:45 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in Hillsboro, by Mrs. A. M. Abendroth, the President. Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar will be the speaker of the evening. Mrs. Dunbar is well known throuth the nation because of her woman's club and health work will speak on Twentyfive Years' Progress. A social hour will follow the formal program. All persons interested in the work of the Association are invited to attend whether members or not. There will be no admission charge.

Church Services

GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

Sample pictures of the different grades, which were taken last week by the Coffey Studio, arrived this week and much difficulty has attended the deciding of whether to or not to order pictures. Those who are ordering are very enthusiastic over the collections they are making of class pictures. This week's visitors include Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Woods in the second grade and Mrs. Rohse in the fifth. Report cards were given out Thursday this week instead of the regular Wednesday since that day was a holiday. High bonus point people are: 3rd grade Hallie Jean Pace 159, Mary Schols 161, John Bozick 163. 4th grade—Yaco Hayashi 147, Mary Bozich 140, Lois Voiz 139. 5th grade—Lorne Galloway 158 Anton Bozich 157, Cathryn Van Kleek 143. Yaco made the greatest gain during the month in the fourth grade. Honor roll people must have four grades of 1 and no grade below 2. Honorable mention means no grade below 2. Last year these grades were "A" and "B" respectively but this year have been changed to conform to the system which has been adopted throughout the state with the opening of the current school year. Honor roll pupils in the local system for this month are listed from the first five grades only since cards are issued in the upper grades for six week periods instead of monthly. Names of these pupils follow. 3rd grade—Hallie Jean Pace, Mary Schols; 5th grade—Anton Bozich. Honorable mention, 5th grade Lorne Galloway. Gordon and Rosa Newton from Portland and two Lillard boys from Marshfield are newly enrolled stu-
