CONSULTING GARNER HOOPER CONSIDERS PROGRAM TARIFF AND TAXATION WHAT "ECONOMY" MEANS THE LEAGUE AND JAPAN COMMERCE A WEAPON THE NAVY LEAGUE ROW

The practical certainty that the Democrats will organize the House of Representatives is leading to many conferences with John N. Garner, of Texas, who is expected to be the next Speaker. As is well known, the present rules of the House gave tremendous power to the speaker, his party leader and one or two important committee chairmen. It is practically impossible for any measure to reach a vote without their consent.

Realizing this, a number of Republican leaders, including Walter Newton, one of President Hoover's secretaries, have consulted Garner in regard to his legislative program. In some quarters, it was conceded that President Hoover is anxious to obtain information, which will, to some extent, guide him in making certain proposals to Congress. As we see it, this is eminently proper, as it would cause useless political conflict for the Chief Executive to propose measures in the House, which controls revenue, in the face of certain opposition from those controlling that body.

Altogether, the approaching session of the House, should be highly interesting from a political standpoint. We believe that upon many major questions affecting the present economic debacle, the two parties will be able to get together. Obviously, the tariff is not one of these questions, although Republican control of the Senate would seem to prevent any extensive changing of the present rates. Considerable difference of opinion is also likely to be witnessed on the question of taxation.

Senator Norris, Republican-independent, and very independent, proposes a $3,000,000,000 road-building program. This is two billion dollars less than the plan being advocated by the Hearst newspapers as a method of furnishing employment to those out of work. That such a proposal will receive considerable support is certain but that it will have sufficient backing to become a law is, at the present writing, extremely doubtful.

It is generally taken for granted that the next Congress will be compelled to levy additional taxes in order to avoid a deficit which looms larger and larger in the face of reargued economies. While it is said that the President continues to hope that new taxes can be avoided by a general forbearance to press for public expenditures, many observers fear that the ancient custom of "log-rolling" will engineer effective raids upon the Treasury.

Advocates of economy are discussing a five-year naval holiday, curtailment of military activities, abolition of the Pay Board, the suspension of payments on the public debt, the increase of certain postal rates, the elimination of some Federal agencies and a ten per cent cut for all Federal employees, including members of Congress.

It is one thing, however, for the Government to cut its expenditures and another thing to insist that industry and employers in general maintain wages and employment. Everyone knows that the Government's economy must come from reduced buying or reduced salaries. This is exactly what the President has been urging business organizations not to do and almost every speaker on the present depression has urged a "Buy Now" campaign and insisted that wages must be maintained.

Just what the Council of the League of Nations will be able to do with the vexatious Manchurian problem ought to appear in the next few days. That is of transcending importance to the League itself as well as to the world at large, goes without saying. The Japanese firmness in resisting evacuation of territory seized in Manchuria, coupled with the inflated Chinese populace, creates a perilous threat to peace. That some serious fighting may result is almost certain.

They first made their home at Ellensburg, Washington, moving to McMinnville, Oregon, and finally, in April, 1893, came to Beaverton where she resided continuously until her death.

County offers to Contribute $20,000 to Widening road

A delegation from Washington County headed by County Judge Templeton submitted an offer to contribute $20,000 toward relief employment in widening the Tualatin highway between Beaverton and Hillsboro if the state would purchase the needed right of way, estimated to cost $30,000, was presented to the public highway commission at their meeting Wednesday. It was represented that options had virtually been obtained for 90 per cent and that the final cost would not exceed $30,000. The commission countered with the proposal to contribute $10,000 if the county would buy the right of way.

"Secret Service" at RKO Hold Thrills for Patrons

Something along the lines of a real thrilling time is in store for the patrons of the RKO Orpheum theatre this week in the picture "Secret Service," the picture that brings Richard Dix to the screen again in a production that is typically his. There are thrills and exciting sequences galore with Dix in the role of the Union Spy in the confederate ranks getting information on their movements. A romance with a beautiful girl of Virginia complicates matters but all turns out well in the end. Shirley Grey is seen in the leading feminine role as the Southern belle. Nance O'Neill is in the supporting cast.

The RKO vaudeville for the week is giving the audience plenty to laugh about with Herman Timberg and his gang of fun-makers handling the principal laugh duties. This group seem to do almost anything to produce a laugh and are always successful. The Harrington Sisters, singers of rare blues, add a lot of comedy to the show while Frank and Warren Lassiter, two Portland boys, bring laugh after laugh, with their comedy-dumb antics. Swan and Lucille with Don Capps presents dances that are outstanding. The RKO Westerners provide the musical scores for the show.

KEEP YOUR YOUNG FOLKS AT HOME THIS YEAR

Portland is such that we are advising young people not to seek employment here; but to remain in their own home towns, unless they have enough money to tide them over or friends and family with whom they can live.

REMEMBER:

Disappointment is a sad beginning to a young person's career. It will be far better to remain at school another year or help at home, than be obliged to return home disheartened and discouraged.

Potatoes are now being delivered to the warehouse in Portland of the Northern Highland Growers association. This organization has rented warehouse space and some of the growers desiring to take advantage of the low storage charges are sending their crop in direct from the fields. Other growers are putting their crop into their own storage as they dig and intend to run the potatoes over the grading table at home and deliver only the marketable tubers to the warehouse at Portland when the management of the association needs them to fill orders.

Nearly 400 acres of the 1931 crop have been contracted by the growers to be marketed through the organization. That the movement to put the crop handled by the association through one warehouse to insure a uniform pack of good quality is meeting with some favor is evidenced in the inquiry already being received for our hill grown Burbanks. Both seed and commercial table stock will be handled.

Portland Theatres Donate Proceeds from Midnight Show to Unemployment

The largest entertainment project ever entered into by the theatres of Portland will take place next Wednesday night at 11:15 at several of the larger theatres, in the form of midnight shows, the proceeds from which are to go to unemployment relief. These shows are being held as a result of the appeal made by President Hoover some time ago for every industry to do its share towards alleviating the unemployment situation. These midnight shows are to be held at the Paramount, RKO Orpheum, Fox Broadway, United Artists and Music Box theatres on the West Side and at the Oriental, Bagdad and Fox Hollywood on the East Side. In place of holding any special program, the Capitol, Columbia, and Circle theatres are going to donate Wednesday nights receipts to the fund. It is expected that several thousands of dollars will be added to the funds for relief of the unemployed by these midnight performances.

Every cent from the sale of the tickets is to be used for this purpose as there is no expense whatsoever attached to the giving of the shows. The stage hands, moving picture operators, musicians, actors and theatre staffs will give their services free of charge. No charge will be made for the use of the playhouses.
