SENATE TRIES ITS HAND GLASS SPEAKS HIS MIND HOOVER VETOES TARIFF ACT HOOVER'S BROADSIDE HOUSE INVITES REBUKE JAPAN AND OUR FLEET DEFINES "HOOVER POLICY"

The hope of congressional leaders to adjourn Congress by June 19 is based on the belief that prompt action can be secured in the Senate by a special Economy Committee which will attempt to rush a billion-dollar tax bill and the drastic reduction of $300,000,000 in governmental expenditures through the legislative hopper. Senators seem determined to get together and take effective action to produce "a real economy program" and are hopeful that the measure thus arranged will secure the necessary support in the House. It is quite probable that the Senate bill will be very similar to the ill-fated House Omnibus measure.

Senator Glass, of Virginia, generally credited with being the author of the Federal Reserve Act, charged in the Senate that "inordinate wealth has secured an overlordship over the present Federal Reserve system" and he accused the Federal Reserve Bank of New York of being more concerned with trying to stabilize Europe than the United States. The State Department was chiefly blamed for the floating of worthless foreign securities, the country banks were said to be in "involuntary servitude to the great money centers" and the corporate affiliates of banking institutions were called the chief contributors to the present depression. Affiliates are subsidiary corporations of banks engaged in other than banking transactions and have been chiefly concerned with the sale of stocks and bonds.

The Virginia senator also charged that an opinion by the former Solicitor-General had been suppressed because it declared that these banking affiliates were absolutely illegal. This opinion was given by Frederick W. Lehmann twenty years ago and has lain dormant under Republican and Democratic administrations.

In a bristling veto message, President Hoover vetoed the Democratic tariff bill which took from the Executive the authority to change import duties upon the recommendation of the Tariff Commission, and the House upheld the veto. The President's rejection was no surprise and no one believed that the measure could be passed over his veto. However, it is generally agreed that the vote created a party alignment on the question.

Considerable interest was taken in the special message sent to Congress by President Hoover, demanding quick balancing of the budget and blaming Congress for the failure of the tax and economy programs. In blunt terms, President Hoover called attention to the situation which has arisen in "large degree as a result of, or incidental to legislation during the past six weeks." Entirely unexpected, the presidential criticism of Congress caused a storm among Democrats, although Republicans were obviously delighted.

On the following day the Chief Executive made a straight-out appeal to the people against the delays of Congress, but took occasion to call attention to "the locust swarm of lobbyists who haunt the halls of Congress, seeking selfish privilege for special groups." Plainly, the President was elated at the response received from his earlier message and, apparently, was convinced that the time had come for him to become a leader in the present situation.

Once more Mr. Hoover called attention to the fact that balancing the budget, passage of needed revenue measures, and the reduction of governmental expenditures were not partisan issues. His double-barreled offensive surprised the Democrats, some of whom made efforts to defend their course calling the president's utterances "politics." Undoubtedly, the conduct of legislation in the House in the eyes of veteran observers, left the way open for the President to pour a volley into the ranks of his political opponents, and the grapeshot was perfectly timed.

The President recited that the House had rejected the revenue program of the Treasury, and that of its own committee; that it had increased expenditures by $132,000,000 for road building; enlarged expenditures for non-service connected benefits for veterans; virtually destroyed the economy program of the Executive and of the special House committee; failed to provide for reduction of bureaus and commissions;

Accusations Made Against Steiner, Others, Termed Dirty Politics

The accusation made by a Miss Nina Lane of Portland, at Multnomah county, against Senator Steiner and attorneys employed by the county in collection of money from the government on the O. & C. land grant claims, Saturday were branded by the county court and 18 attorneys of Oregon City as "dirty politics" and as untrue and unfounded in facts and as an attempt to secure votes by most reprehensible political procedure.

The statement of the county court follows: There has been called to our attention circulated copies of a speech reported to have been made by a Miss Nina Lane at Multnomah county, on May 7, this year, in which Senator Steiner and the attorneys employed by Clackamas county in the matter of the collection of a large sum of money from the federal government are accused of graft and misconduct.

In view of the wide circulation of the copies of this speech we feel it our duty in justice to Senator Steiner and all concerned, to state that these charges are absolutely unfounded and untrue. The matter of the collection of this money was not up to the congressmen or senators, but was purely a legal proposition.

The payment of the part of the claim in controversy had been rejected by the legal staff of the department at Washington. It was necessary to employ competent attorneys to handle the legal phases involved. The court conferred with several law firms before making a choice of counsel.

The attorneys selected were paid on a reasonable contingency basis rather than a set fee because it was doubtful whether the money could be recovered at all and the county court did not wish to pay them unless they were successful in the venture. We denounce the accusations as dirty politics.

(Signed) C. W. Kruse, R. A. Wright, W. A. Proctor, members of the county court of Clackamas county at the time in question.

Statement of J. O. Johnson Republican Candidate for State Representative

J. O. JOHNSON

There has been considerable comment on my slogan "Essential laws only and more common sense in those." I wish the voters to understand that, if elected, as their representative, I do not propose to go to Salem to be a rubber stamp approving legislation that the administration leaders request unless the people of Washington County desire such approval.

The most essential laws to be enacted at the next legislature are laws which will tend to reduce the tax burdens on farm property and it would be my purpose to not only support sensible legislation along this line but to propose and fight for such legislation as will result in tax reduction on property. The state should not be permitted to tax real property for state purposes. Income tax and gasoline tax should carry a larger portion of our tax burden.

I believe the people of our fair land are awakening to the fact that we cannot continue to progress as a nation unless there is a more equal distribution of wealth. Proper laws preventing monopolistic control of our basic industries and the taxation of wealth are the constitutional methods of adjustment which I will support.

Crime and the general disregard of our laws is a "National disgrace." We are an integral part of the Nation. We should enact only such laws as can be enforced and then insist on proper enforcement. We must educate our children to respect our laws if we have any hope for the future welfare of our nation but before we can expect them to respect the laws we must enforce them or remove them from our statute books.

Men who have had experience in law enforcement work should be sent to the legislature to see that sensible laws only are enacted. More restrictions should not be placed upon the individual rights of our citizens. What we need is less legislation against personal liberties and better enforcement of the laws now on the statute books.

I propose, and will represent the wishes of the people of Washington County giving every possible consideration to the demands of both the classes and the masses.

Beaverton Attorney Seeks Democratic Nomination for District Attorney

G. A. Cobb, Beaverton attorney, located in the Hedge building, is a candidate on the Democratic ticket for district attorney for Washington county, in the primaries, May 20, 1932.

In 1914 urged by his many friends and supporters, Mr. Cobb became a candidate for Democratic nominee for Governor of the State of Oregon opposing Thos. Withycombe. His campaign was waged solely by his followers and he made a splendid showing.

Mr. Cobb stands for law enforcement, tax reductions and economy. Democratic voters will not find Mr. Cobb's name on the ballot, so write it in.

Mrs. Cobb is a second cousin of the late William Jennings Bryan.

La Lun Chin was fortunate in not suffering injuries in an auto accident in Portland Saturday. Her car however was slightly damaged.

Elwood Brown had his license revoked and paid a small fine for reckless driving in Judge Hedge's court this week. W. F. Spiegel, special officer made the arrest.

Mrs. Myrtle Jack is convalescing at her home after a brief confinement at the Emanuel hospital.

Registration Increase Largely in Aloha and North Tigard Precincts

The largest increases in registration in Washington County were made in the North Tigard and Aloha Precincts according to the survey made by the American Legion committee of Argonne and West Hills Posts of the American Legion.

The Legion Posts distributed over 2000 bulletins to school children in every school in the Eastern part of the county except the Garden Home school.

Sixty per cent of the increases in registrations were in precincts east of Hillsboro. There was an increase of over 1300 registrations of which 710 were in the eastern part of the county.

The American Legion annually puts on a campaign in Portland urging citizens to register and vote as a solemn duty and obligation of citizenship. The campaign was started this year in Washington County for the first time by J. O. Johnson, past commander of West Hills Post, who was assisted by five comrades from Argonne Post.

Nomination of Senator Steiner Expected by Veterans Committee

According to the survey made by the Veterans Committee the nomination of Senator Steiner is assured in nearly every county except Washington County.

The result in Multnomah County is very favorable because of the fact that nearly every organization has endorsed the Senator for renomination including the Anti-Saloon League.

Washington County has generally been considered favorably because of the strenuous campaign for his election by certain political leaders at Hillsboro. The survey indicates however that the eastern part of Washington County will support Senator Steiner which will make the campaign very close. Members of the Veterans Steiner-for-Senator club who have been active in behalf of the Senator are: J. O. Johnson, Metzger; E. Britt Nedry, Tigard; Dr. Rucker of Sherwood; Thos. Ramsdell, Hillsboro; and H. W. Farnham Robt. Hansen, A. W. Kane and Dr. R. R. Mills of Forest Grove.

SERIOUSLY INJURED IN CRASH WITH TRAIN

Olaf Gjerde of Forest Grove was severely injured Wednesday morning about 1:15 a. m. on the Canyon road at the O. E. crossing. He was returning home from work when he collided with a freight train. Reports are he had fallen asleep.

Last Tuesday at the same place about 6 p. m. a car was forced to drive into a fence to avoid being struck. Trains do not attain much speed while crossing the highway and accidents could easily be avoided if the motorist were a little more cautious.

Attorney Allen Speaks in Favor of Samuel B. Lawrence as Senator

SAMUEL B. LAWRENCE

To the Voters and Citizens of Washington County, Oregon:

Soon the electorate of your County will be called upon to elect a Senator. There are a number of candidates who aspire to this important office. I am not personally acquainted with all of them, but it has been my privilege to associate with and be acquainted with one of the candidates who is now seeking this office; this particular candidate to whom I refer is SAMUEL B. LAWRENCE, who resides at Raleigh Station.

I have known Mr. Lawrence since I entered college at Pacific University, Forest Grove, Oregon in 1903, at which place Mr. Lawrence was also attending school. After graduating from Pacific University, Mr. Lawrence later attended the University of Washington and secured his L. L. B. Degree from that institution, graduating in the same class in which I graduated in June, 1919. Since that time Mr. Lawrence and myself have both been engaged in the practice of law, and we both feel that we have made progress in our profession.

I have always been and am still interested in the welfare of the citizens of Washington County; my folks Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Allen still residing at Beaverton, Washington County, Oregon. Furthermore, I have always been a believer in electing honest, courageous and fearless men and women to public office. When Julius L. Meier came out as a candidate for Governor, I espoused his cause and campaigned for him in various parts of the State, because I believed that he would act to reduce taxes and cut the cost of State Government. His actions since being elected have proved that my belief was not unwarranted or unfounded.

I know personally that Samuel B. Lawrence is pledged to this same economical program and will use his unceasing efforts to further reduce the tax burden and lift the yoke of taxation from the necks of tired taxpayers. Mr. Lawrence is a man of good judgment, a hard worker, a careful student, and is absolutely fearless and courageous in his actions. In him you will find a champion if your cause is right and just but not otherwise.

It is my belief that the citizens and voters of Washington County will make no mistake in electing SAMUEL B. LAWRENCE Senator for Washington County.

Very respectfully yours,
A. C. ALLEN
