Convinced that the psychological time has arrived for a coordinated effort on the part of the Government, business and finance to rout the depression, President Hoover has called a national conference this week to map a coordinated program against the economic depression. Outstanding leaders in business and finance, together with railroad presidents and farming representatives, will attempt to outline a campaign to lead the business of the nation back to better days.

It is interesting to note the measures taken by Washington in an effort to "cushion" the effects of the depression. These, one after the other, include expedients for stimulating unemployment relief, appropriations for public works to provide employment, strengthening the capital of Federal Loan Bank, emergency loans to cooperative organizations in an effort to help agricultural prices, the formation of the National credit association to aid banks, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to uphold and broaden the entire credit structure of the nation, expansion of the functions and powers of the Federal Reserve banks and also the creation of the home loan banks for discounting mortgages on homes. It is apparent that the Government has been extremely liberal in extending aid to business and industry during the economic debacle.

Speaker John N. Garner, after a conference with Governor Roosevelt went to New York City where he was asked some pointed questions by inquiring Democrats of the East. Replying, the Speaker declared that he did not bolt the Democratic ticket in Texas in 1928, that he thought Al Smith was one of the greatest leaders America has ever produced, and would make a great President, that he repudiated religious bigotry and declared for outright repeal of the Prohibition law. He indicated that Republican "mismanagement and economic conditions" should constitute the leading issues of the campaign.

Governor Roosevelt plans a western trip beginning September 12th "to find out the need of the territory visited" in a "look, listen and learn campaign." He expects to visit Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, probably Seattle, Salt Lake City, Butte, Kansas City and other cities. In the middle of October he plans a second journey through the border states and the mid West. Speaker Garner, it is said, will take an active part in the campaign, visiting the East, as well as the western parts of the country.

Twenty-seven national welfare agencies are cooperating in drafting leading citizens of the nation to serve on a welfare and relief mobilization, with Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, as chairman. The organization plans to reinforce local social service organizations in obtaining adequate funds and to assist them in readjusting their programs to fit the needs of their individual communities. It plans a conference in Washington on September 15th to discuss the most effective method of accomplishing its objective.

GIRL BABIES POPULAR

Girl babies seem to be predominating in and around Beaverton, according to a report from Dr. C. E. Mason. The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Tannier was brightened by the arrival of a daughter, as were those of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rigert, Cooper Mt., and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thompson.

SON TO BE REUNITED WITH MOTHER AFTER THIRTY YEARS APART

Frank Zastrow Separated From Parents when Placed in School

Beaverton, Aug. 26—Frank Zastrow is looking forward to a happy reunion soon, he will meet his mother for the first time in 34 years. She is coming from Honolulu. His life is like a story from a book. When four years of age, he, and his brother, aged 11, were placed in a home for boys for 4 years in Buffalo, N. Y., and their board paid for that length of time. The parents had decided to separate. But within six months Frank was adopted out by Bob Zastrow and his brother had run away, and the home did not tell the parents, so that when the four years was up and the children called for, the officials would not give the parents any information about their boys. Meanwhile the brother worked on a farm for several years, always inquiring about his parents and brother and was finally reunited with his father, but it was ten years later when he saw his mother. From that time on they followed every clue, finally some one sent him a clipping of a list of persons hunting their relatives, and Franks name being listed, as Beaverton, but the state was torn off. For years he hunted thru every state in the union, finally locating him at Beaverton, Oregon. Meanwhile Bob Zastrow moved to the middle west, Frank grew up, married and moved to Beaverton. Mr. Zastrows father died four years ago in California. His name was Henry Ross.

Seek Aid of Police in Locating Missing Boy

Relatives and friends of Lester Teschner, have become alarmed at his long continued absence from home and have asked the police to aid in locating him. He left his home six weeks ago and was last heard from at Salem. He is described as having brown eyes, and a T-shaped scar on his left cheek. He is 16 years old. His folks have no phone but Ted Emerson would be glad to receive information regarding Lester.

U. L. Upson Sees Long Wait for New Roads

Referring to the statement of Leslie M. Scott, chairman of the state highway commission, that only about one-fifth of the federal funds would be available for the Wilson River and Short Road to the Sea highways, U. L. Upson, secretary of the Northwest Oregon Development association, said Monday, "I wonder what the people of the five Northwest counties will think of the prospect of securing the equivalent of about eight miles of complete highway all in one year after waiting for these roads. At that rate we will still have about 15 years to have the Wilson River and the other short road completed."

PARACHUTE JUMP SUNDAY

Beavertonians first chance to see a parachute jump at the Bernard Airport will take place Sunday August 28th at 4 p. m. according to Art Appleton, local flyer. "Rusty" the well known professional jumper will make a 3000 foot jump from Appletons cabin monoplane. From all reports records of attendance at all airports where "Rusty" has jumped, is always broken on the day he performs. No admission is charged but a collection will be taken to help Mr. Appleton defray the expense of bringing this attraction to Beaverton.

Carl Lierman was bitten quite badly by a dog Monday. Misses Ruth and Ellene Martin were sent as delegates from the Nazarene church to Seattle this week to attend the Nazarene Young Peoples' convention.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis picked at McMinnville Sunday. Bill Dodson of Carlton, is spending a few days with his mother Mrs. Lulu Dodson.

Dr. Boyd Sprague Locates as Dentist in Portland

Dr. Boyd Sprague has opened dental offices in the Stevens Building, Portland, and will be glad to have his friends call and inspect his office, which is very attractive in white and black. Dr. Sprague returned from California recently where he inspected dental offices and gained much valuable information which he hopes to carry out in his office. Dr. Sprague is a Beaverton boy having graduated from our local High School and has spent the past few years at the Northwestern Dental College and deserves much praise and credit for the high achievement attained while in school.

Beaverton, Aug. 26—L. R. Dean, local druggist, received serious injuries when he fell eight feet from a step ladder. He had ascended the latter to adjust a light string attached to a globe when he was overcome by dizziness. Mr. Dean fell to the floor, striking his temple knocking himself unconscious. Mr. Dean, who has been confined to Emanuel hospital for the entire week, although in a serious condition, appears somewhat improved from the shock. He had been suffering from high blood pressure and heart trouble for sometime.

Cass Johnson slipped from a ladder, while picking apples sustaining a bad gash across his upper lip. C. W. Everett, in an attempt to start a fire with kerosene was severely burned about the face and left arm. Joe Bross, of Metzger, is nursing a sore left hand, badly cut, when the axe slipped while he was splitting wood cutting tendons on his left hand. Several stitches were required to close the wound.

Garage Leased by J. L. Schmid and Ted Emerson

Garrow's Garage at Aloha, which was until recently operated by Guy Carr, has been leased by Ted Emerson and J. L. Schmid, who will operate it as the Emerson-Schmid Garage. Ted Emerson has been until recently shop foreman at the Imperial Garage in Portland. Mr. Schmid was for a number of years interested in the printing industry in Portland, and will divide his time between his present position and the new project. We predict success for the boys in their endeavor.

DAIRYMEN PICNIC AT CHAMPOEG NEXT SUNDAY

Dairymen and dairy products manufacturers will gather at historical Champeog Park next Sunday August 28th for their third annual picnic and get-together. Indications are that cows and butterfat prices will be forgotten by dairymen and their families from all over the state and that picnic baskets will be loaded into the family car and directed toward the site of the founding of the first American government in the west. While at any picnic, the lunch is the thing, the program committee consisting of Mrs. Anna I. Hughes, Oregon City, Willard Bartlett, Independence, and Paul C. Adams, secretary of the Oregon Dairy council, Portland, has announced that a short but interesting speaking and musical program has been arranged. A plan to conduct a program of sports and races is under way but in the main the day will be devoted to the meeting of old friends and informal gatherings. Dean William A. Schoenfeld of the Oregon state college and M. S. Shrock, master of Pomona grange of Clackamas county, are two of the speakers who will give short talks. Another speaker, whose name has not been announced, will present one of the interesting solutions of the marketing of dairy products. Every Oregon resident, whether an active dairymen, or not, is invited to attend this annual event for which park has been reserved by Mrs. Edith Tozier Weathered, Champeog custodian.

Mrs. Harry Watts is recovering nicely from having her tonsils out. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Buchanan moved from the Esterly house this week and Mrs. Gore and family are moving in.

Bereavements

Frank Vaile, was born in Dayton, Ohio, December 19, 1865, and died at Beaverton, Oregon, August 22nd, aged 67 years. When a young man about sixteen years of age, he moved with his parents to Minnesota, where he resided until about 25 years ago, when he came to Oregon. Here he remained until the day of his death. For a number of years he followed the trade of bridge building. He leaves to mourn their loss three brothers, Harvey in Minn., one sister in Colorado, twelve nieces, Walter and Morris, of Portland, and nephews, besides others distantly related. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the W. E. Pegg funeral parlors with Rev. Ava S. Adams, pastor of the Nazarene church in charge.

Susan Thompson, aged 75 years, of Cedar Mills, died Monday. She was the wife of the late Robt. Thompson, was born in Switzerland and came to this country when 15 years old where she spent the balance of her life. Six children were born to this union, only three surviving Mrs. Katherine Becker, Portland, Isabelle Lungren, Dayton, and Susan, at home. The funeral was held Thursday at Bethany Baptist church with interment in Union cemetery. W. E. Pegg in charge of arrangements.

Funeral Services were held Monday at Finley's chapel for Charles J. Bernard, husband of Augusta L. Bernard, of Tigard; father of Mrs. Percy Clibborn, Mrs. Julia Munger of Portland, Arthur Bernard, of Salem, and Roy Bernard, of Chicago. Commitment was in the Lincoln Memorial Park.

Harry J. Gee, aged 46, died Tuesday after an operation in a Portland hospital. He was the husband of Hazel father of Fred and Chloa. Funeral services will be conducted in the Aloha Baptist Church Saturday, at 2 p. m. W. E. Pegg, will be in charge of arrangements.

Minnie M. Farrington, aged 59, died Friday, August 19, at her home 904 Williams avenue, Portland. Minnie Moore was born in Indiana in 1872 and was married to Chas. Smith, in 1886, near Stanton, Mercer Co., North Dakota. To this union three children were born. In 1891 she married Richard Farrington and to this union five children were born. She and her husband lived for many years at Stanton, traveling extensively and made many trips to Oregon. Finally they sold their property at Stanton and came to Oregon to live, coming to Beaverton August 5, 1931, where they resided a short time, moving to Portland where she made her home until her death. She is survived by her husband, Richard Farrington and four sons, William A. Smith, of Beaverton, Richard Farrington of Chicago, Ill., Harry and Frances Farrington of Portland, one daughter Anna Bell Straightmatter, died of flu in 1918, Lillian died in infancy; Mary, another daughter, was drowned at the age of 6 years. A son Roy died at the age of 13 years. Mrs. Farrington has been in poor health for several months and it was her desire to come to the home of her son Sunday at 3 p. m., feeling that the change would do her good. Having died Friday her wishes were carried out, her body, in care of Miller & Tracey, was brought to the Smith home Sunday. Funeral services were held at St. Cecilia church, Beaverton, at 9:30 a. m., Monday, interment was in Mount Calvary cemetery.

Owner Identifies Slain Varmint as His Pet

The animal shot by Deputy Sheriff's Minely and Stanley near Garden Home Thursday night was a pet of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rogers Garden Home road and Dietrich lane. Rogers said Saturday. The animal was killed by the officers after complaints had been made that a "cougar" or some other predatory animal had been killing chickens in the vicinity of Garden Home. Rogers said the fisher was named John and that it disappeared from its wire pen a week ago. Joan, the fisher's mate, remained in the pen. Rogers said he paid $300 for each of the animals three years ago at Franklin, Idaho. He said he would ask the deputy sheriffs for the pet.

Farmers Union to Picnic at Rippling Waters

Farmers, dairymen, attention! The Washington County Unit, the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union of America, invites you all to join in helping to make a success of its first picnic to be held in Rippling Waters Grove on Gales Creek, Sunday, August 28. Basket lunch, music and games. A good time for all.

ATTEND MEETING

Beaverton, Aug. 26—In the interest of the "Short Cut to the Sea" Jim Lewis, Mr. Fordney, V. L. Reimer, of Beaverton, and delegates from Hillsboro, Scholls, Bethany, Aloha and Huber attended the meeting of the state highway commission Tuesday.

Pavement Repairing Process Puzzles Many

Beaverton, Aug. 26—The public has been at a total loss to analyze methods used by the state highway commission, in repairing cement pavement on the Canyon road especially on the fill just below Sylvan. Many were the theories advanced. Investigation reveals the use of special machinery and an electric drill on the pavement, to make way for the use of a "Mud Jack", a new machine, which pours a mixture of mud, cement and water into the holes, thus raising the sunken road to its original height. This method solves a problem which had been a puzzle to road workers for a number of years. Two Beaverton boys L. Nelson and H. L. Dean have been employed on the crew administering this work.

H. R. Findley has Tree Ripened Peaches Ready for Home Canning

Beaverton, Aug. 26—Peach season has dropped in, practically unannounced and housewives are scurrying about to place their orders for canning peaches. It is always well to secure a highly flavored fruit for home canning. H. R. Findley and Sons, of Route 2, Portland near Cedar Mills, have been in the peach growing business for years, and make a specialty of furnishing the housewife with tree ripened peaches. They are taking orders now for peaches, Crawfords, Elbertas, Hales and Muirs. This firm boasts of good fruit and charge no more for it than one pays for the poorer grades. These can also be purchased at Beaches Market, Beaverton.

New Plumbing Shop Under Construction

Beaverton, Aug. 26—Work was commenced this week on the new store building and plumbing shop located on the old Hughson place which was recently purchased by Dewey Drorbaugh. The structure will face Broadway street, with two large windows for window display purposes, with a shop in the rear and space for his truck. N. P. Johnson is the carpenter in charge. Guy Carr is settled in his new location in the Hughson Garage and is receiving congratulations and best wishes from his many friends.

Illinois Visitors Praise Oregon Country Highly

Aloha, Aug. 26—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson and family, of Ishpeming, Illinois, are visiting their relatives the Naul family of Reedville and Aloha. They claim Oregon unsurpassed for natural scenery of anything they have passed thru their drive of 2786 miles to the Pacific coast. They report Oregon has the "Paradise of the West" and hope to locate here in the near future.

STUDENTS ORGANIZE AGAINST CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS

John Hare, Hillsboro, to Direct an Intensive Canvass of County

In a determined effort to bring to all corners of the state the true facts bearing on the question of consolidating the two major institutions of higher education of the state, University of Oregon students under the direction of Arthur Potwin, Albany, are girding themselves for an intensive canvass of the state this summer, in an attempt to show the fallacious nature of the claims to economy being made by the consolidation bill's proponents. In this district under the direction of John Hare of Hillsboro who will serve as chairman of the West-Central Oregon District are eight county chairmen James Wells of Hillsboro has been named to lead the students' fight against the claims of the Marion County Tax League in Washington county Other county chairmen in this district are: Tillamook county Virgil Langtry; Yamhill county Nelson Rose and Ed Fields; Polk county Charles Stryker; Lincoln county Esther Hayden; Marion county Cecil Epsy; Linn county Art Potwin and Benton county Margaret Atwood. At a meeting of the entire state committee held just prior to the closing of the University for the summer vacation, Potwin, the state chairman who will maintain offices in Eugene, explained to the group the lines on which the fight will be conducted. Briefly the arguments against the proposed measure, as outlined by Potwin, are: 1 The proposed bill would cost the state from $2,000,000 to $6,000,000 in new building alone were the 2,500 students of the University to be transferred to Corvallis 2 That figures of the U S Office of Education reveal that the cost per student in states where the university and the state college are on one campus is $61 more annually than in states where the institutions are operated separately as in Oregon, and that the state of Oregon, at present spending $351 per student, would if it were to rank up to the average of consolidated institutions, have to spend approximately $60 more per student a year, or an increased cost of $282,000 annually. Potwin told the committee members that all forms of higher education in the state were responsible for using only 6 cents of the tax dollar. He stressed the fact that a consolidated school would completely submerge both the identity of the College, and that the loss to the state in educational efficiency and reputation would be great. Of special interest to the students themselves was the argument put forth by Potwin that should the two schools be merged, approximately 4,200 students who are at present either wholly or partially self-supporting while attending school would be forced to look for jobs in a city of 7,500 while at present these students have the combined population of Eugene and Corvallis to draw on for jobs. The population of the two cities is 27,000. In closing his outline of arguments against the initiated measure, Potwin stressed the fact that losses to fraternities and sororities in Eugene would be great; that $712,000 worth of state-owned property at Monmouth would be completely abandoned; that the resultant deflation of private and city property in Eugene would reverberate thru-out the state; and that the bill does not provide for any reduction in the set millage tax for higher education of 2.04. Robert Hall president of the University of Oregon student body, is working with Potwin this summer in fighting the proposed measure which would destroy completely the University and scramble the entire educational system of the state just as the State Board of Higher Education has completed a plan of unification under one head which has affected a saving of $900,000 annually in school costs.

FOREST GROVE TO HAVE COMMUNITY FAIR

Members of the Fair board met Tuesday evening with L. M. Graham, to form final plans for the Forest Grove community fair to be held Saturday, Sept. 2 and 3 at Forest Grove Union High School.
