METHODIST CHURCH NEWS

George F. Gordon

The summer is ended, school is now in session, vacations mostly over. Now is the time to return to your church and resume again your rightful place. Beaverton should be a church going town. Protestant and Catholic alike need the ministry of the church. Your home life would be richer if once again the Christ of Calvary were living on the altar of your heart. The church needs you. Your gifts and talents should be allowed to express the depth of your soul life. Regardless of your denomination or no denomination find your place in a church of your choice, the variety of ministry through the churches of Beaverton is such that you can find the thing for which your soul longs. Choose one of the Beaverton churches and go to work. Become a part of that church. Offer your services to your pastor or Sunday school superintendent. There is a place for you to work. While you need the church the church needs you. No man can be at his best unless he is doing those things most beneficial to society. The church offers you that opportunity. Will you accept it? We would like to remind those who go out of town to find a church home that their presence and cooperation in a local church is worth more than it is in a larger church in the city where they are only considered as mass. Just as well go to the city to do all our buying. The sense of Christian loyalty has never filtered into the thinking of many people. These same people are very religious but decidedly short sighted.

We could have a better and bigger Beaverton if all our citizens would cooperate to make our town what it could be. The merchants and business men of Beaverton deserve the patronage of our citizens. It is they who pay Beaverton taxes and not the outsider. Loyalty I say has played so little part in the life of many people.
