TWO COUNTY PROJECTS TO PUT OVER 200 MEN TO WORK

Specifications Provide that Unemployed Men of County be Hired

Approximately 200 men will be given employment in Washington County, due to the authorization of two projects, the building of the Farmington bridge and the 8.97 miles of roadway to be widened from Beaverton to Hillsboro. Contracts for the work were let this week and according to reports preference will be shown Washington county unemployed men. Arrangements are being completed to establish registration offices in Beaverton, Tigard, Sherwood, Hillsboro and Forest Grove, which will be open Friday morning in order that men from the various parts of the county may register more conveniently. The Beaverton office is located in the bank building, while the Tigard quarters are at the postoffice. Hours 12 noon to 4 p. m.

Arthur W. Jones, Portland manager of the National Employment Service and Re-employment work, together with G. H. Charters of Forest Grove, consulted Francis Livermore Wednesday to arrange the use of the bank building as the registration point of districts in the vicinity of Beaverton.

The Farmington bridge will require the work of 48 men ranging in fourteen lines of work. Specifications call for 1 pile driver operator; 5 pile driver workmen; 3 steel workers. 1 concrete finisher; 1 concrete mixer operator 2 form carpenters, 2 bridge carpenters; 2 painters; 2 shovel operators, gas; 2 pitmen, gas shovels; 2 dumpmen; 12 drivers, large trucks and 12 common laborers.

Should two shifts be required to complete the bridge by the designated time, May 15, 1934, around 100 men will be put to work.

The larger of the two projects, the widening and paving of 8.97 miles of highway between Beaverton and Hillsboro, will place 148 men to work, if but one shift is worked and more should it be found necessary. Professions required are 2 shovel operators; 2 pitmen, gas shovel, 4 dumpmen; 12 drivers, large trucks; 6 roller men, gas; 6 tractor operators, large; 6 grade men, 4 motor grader operators; 2 jack hammer men; 6 form carpenters; 2 blacksmiths; 2 concrete mixer operators, 2 finisher machine operators; 8 rakers 2 powder men; 2 concrete finisher curbs; 4 watch men; 6 flag men, 10 small truck drivers; and 50 miscellaneous workmen.

Double Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday Eve

An impressive ceremony of unusual interest was the double wedding which took place on the Mezzanine floor of the Heathman Hotel in Portland, at 8:30 Saturday evening in which Miss Ortrude W. Omstead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Omstead, of Portland, became the bride of Dr. Robert A. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Wood, of Beaverton, and Miss Georgianna Jones of Hillsboro, became the bride of Dr. Boyd Sprague of Beaverton. Rev. E. F. Leake, of the First Christian church of Portland, read the ring service in the presence of relatives and close friends amid a bower of palms, ferns and fall flowers lighted by tall candelabra.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. E. Maudwyn Evans of Forest Grove, sang "To you Alone" accompanied by David Campbell of Forest Grove, who also played the wedding march from Lohengrin.

The brides were dressed alike in evening gowns of white silk lace interwoven with silver with hats and slippers of silver, carrying shower bouquets of yellow rosebuds and white lilies.

Miss Omstead was given in marriage by her father, Fred Omstead, and Miss Jones was given in marriage by her brother, Robert Jones of Hillsboro.

Miss Omstead's attendant was Miss Helen Jines of Portland, who wore a gown of turquoise blue crepe and carried pink snapdragons. Billy Wood attended his brother.

Miss Jones was attended by Miss Lucille McGee of Orenco, who wore a gown of pink crepe and carried pink snapdragons. Paul Weaver of Portland, attended Dr. Sprague.

Following the ceremony a buffet supper was served. The huge bride's cake with its two tiny bridal couples was cut simultaneously by the two brides.

Dr. and Mrs. Wood left immediately for Milton, Oregon, where Dr. Wood is in business, traveling to the Columbia Gorge Hotel that evening. Dr. and Mrs. Sprague accompanied them to the hotel, returning the next morning to the Elmira Apartments in Portland, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Sprague is a graduate of Hillsboro High School. Dr. Sprague and Dr. and Mrs. Wood are all graduates of the Beaverton High school. Dr. Sprague also graduated from the North Pacific Dental College and Dr. Wood is a graduate of the Pacific School of Chiropractic.

COUNTY NURSE TO CONDUCT CLASSES IN HYGIENE

A series of ten classes on Home Hygiene and relative subjects will be conducted at the Beaverton grade school library by the county health nurse Miss Dixon. Classes commenced this week and will be continued every Tuesday until the course is completed.

Mothers and housewives of Beaverton and surrounding vicinity are invited to attend these classes, as they are free and should prove of special interest to young and expectant mothers.

This is an opportunity, which will probably not be available for another year, as the attention of the county nurse is equally given to all parts of the county. Classes are of an hour's duration, convening at 2:30 o'clock.

There will be a card party and social at St. Anthony, Tigard, Saturday, October 14. Prizes. Admission 25c. Everybody welcome.

Contracted Land Can not be used for Crops to Be Sold in Any Way

WM. F. CYRUS
County Agent

What may be planted on the land that is taken out of wheat production under the terms of the wheat allotment contract? This is a question that some of the nearly 250 farmers are asking who have made application for allotments. Copies of the regulations of the wheat administration covering the approved uses of this land have been mailed to all those who have turned in applications. Generally, the proper answer to the question is perhaps well understood.

In the beginning of the wheat campaign it was stated that vetch for seed, field peas, crimson clover or any crop not grown nationally could be grown on the contracted acreage. Later this was changed and the crops named cannot be grown on the land taken out of wheat. As things now stand it will not be permissible to grow anything on the contracted acreage that is going to be sold either directly or indirectly. Another point frequently asked about is covered in the following paragraph from the wheat administration regulations. "It shall be deemed to be a violation of this contract for a producer, who has executed a contract, to shift food crops grown for home consumption on the farm or feed crops grown for the production of livestock for home consumption or use on the farm, to the contracted acreage, thereby releasing other lands on the farm for the planting of crops for sale or for feed for the production of livestock or livestock products for sale." This part of the regulations covers the question of the use of such land for growing horse feed.

Contracted acres may be summer fallowed for weed control, may be planted to red clover or alfalfa or permanent grass pasture. Land so seeded will usually not be producing any crop the year it is seeded but will not be eligible as the contracted acreage the second year when used as pasture or a hay crop is harvested. The second year another acreage may be seeded and designated as the contracted acreage for that year. The following is copied from the regulations regarding the use of such crops "Fencing contracted acres may be necessary if needed to prevent livestock, producing for market, from taking off a substantial amount of pasture during the contract year. Where it is the custom to use the new seedlings in wheat stubble for the small amount of pasture available in favorable seasons, it is not deemed practical to incur the expense of fencing the contracted acres lying alongside the wheat stubble field. This must not be construed as indicating that fencing may not be necessary under other conditions in order to maintain the terms of the contract. Contracted acres being removed from wheat production should be measured off and marked by stakes or posts at the corners of the area or areas that are selected."

LAW FIRM ASKS $150 TO GIVE OPINION ON CITY'S CHARTER

For the purpose of ascertaining as to whether or not Beaverton's new charter was such as to warrant the approval of Teal Winfree, McCulloch and Schuler, the above law firm was asked to state the amount they would charge for reading said charter and expressing an opinion on it. Their reply to the city was, that for $150, they would express an opinion on the same, any changes or revisions, as in their opinion would be warranted, to be extra. No action has been taken on the matter.

Mortgage Lenders Greatly Effected by Success of Home Owners Loan Corp.

The success of the Home Owners Loan Corporation is of the utmost importance to mortgage lenders, according to J. F. Lipscomb, state manager of the Corporation in Oregon, in a statement just issued.

"If half a million homes which would otherwise have to be foreclosed and placed on a distressed market are removed from the market and the indebtedness permanently refunded," he states, "the greatest possible good will have been done for the real estate market."

"The results will be an increase in the value of all the assets held by all of the mortgage lenders and in the value of all homes and all home owners will benefit. Likewise, as the market value of houses is established, investors will respond, prices will rise and normal mortgage lending can go ahead by all mortgage lenders."

"Furthermore, construction can go ahead after a solution of the mortgage problem and this program resulting in an increase of house values and stimulating mortgage lending will make possible the reconstruction of homes, thereby putting the people to work who are now idle. It is one of the most essential phases of the recovery program."

"The construction industry has been almost at a standstill for four years. It must go ahead. It can and will go ahead with the successful consummation of this relief plan and it behooves every mortgage lender to cooperate in every way. Also, the greatest strength of the Corporation lies in the fact that the mortgages held by it will be written on a basis so that the debtor will be able to pay. Everyone who has studied the home mortgage business knew that the greatest secret of success in this field is to make a mortgage that the borrower is able to pay according to its terms."

BETHEL LADIES AID HONOR MRS. TAYLOR AT TEA

Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, mother of Rev. Geo. Taylor, was guest of honor at a tea given by the Bethel Congregational Ladies Auxiliary at the home of Mrs. Floyd Teft Monday afternoon. Thirty three ladies were present. After a trademark guessing contest, Mrs. Taylor was presented with a corsage, a remembrance record, and a shower of handkerchiefs and other remembrances. Mrs. Ruth Ferguson, Mrs. Taylor's daughter of Klamath Falls, was also given a corsage. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. Teft, Mrs. R. B. Denney and Mrs. Louise Carter.

In the afternoon of the next meeting of the Auxiliary October 19, the ladies will sew on the articles for the missionary box. Each lady is asked to bring her thimble, needle, thread and scissors.

FIRE PREVENTION

I can think of but few enterprises more valuable than forest fire fighting. Properly done, it may represent a saving of many acres of virgin timber and of other plant and animal life. However, more to be valued than fire fighting is fire prevention. Then our streams, woods and all essentials to beauty and worth of scenery would be safe from the greatest danger. Thoughtlessness and carelessness are the biggest causes of forest fire; lightning and other unpreventable sources are small causes.

This is fire prevention week. If the ideal back of this week would be extended to the cities of trees and beasts as well as to cities of buildings and men, there would be a nation at once revived and glorified! The cause of conservation is impotent without human assistance.
