NATURE PRODUCES ART RE-PRODUCES

Mrs. Norvell of NORVELL'S ARTIFICIAL FLOWER SHOP, 1312 N. E. Broadway, Trinity 7082, Producer of the beautiful fiber flowers that look and feel so natural, is now holding classes every afternoon at her shop on N. E. Broadway between 13th and 14th. She donates her time and only asks that you purchase all materials from her. She will also donate her time to churches, lodges, clubs, or schools on any forenoon that they would care to meet.

Mrs. Norvell is very well known to Portlanders through her wonderful work in furnishing artificial flowers to decorate the downtown streets and also by furnishing flowers for the auto shows in the past. I know of no better way of making Xmas presents and pin money for yourself than by making artificial flowers. By telephoning TRINITY 7082 Mrs. Norvell will be only too glad to answer any question that you might have.

My husband always complains that there is a "draught somewhere," although there isn't a door or window open.—Mrs. P. J.

YOUR MEMBERSHIP HELPS

Conservation is not a subject for debate. With a slight amount of understanding, anyone is able to see the need for it. Effective measures that they can take to improve conditions, however, usually they are ignorant of, or will not take. A few are earnestly desirous of helping and do a great good through their membership in the various conservation clubs.

Locally, and in addition to the scouting organizations are Trails, club, Mazamas, Nature study clubs, and the Oregon Council for the Protection of Roadside Beauty. The author is a member of the last-named club and solicits correspondence.

Seven scouts formed the record attendance at the last Court of Honor. The local scouts and visitors had the privilege of seeing General McAleander awarded the Silver Beaver, high scout craft medal given by the National Council.

Mr. Walsh, executive of Seattle, was introduced and gave us some of the highlights of the recent international jamboree.

The ceremony of the awards in itself was quite impressive. Nearly 500 boys got their badges, from second class thru Eagle and even ten year veteran. Leonard Wright received his first merit badge, and Robert Jackson his Star rank. Others getting badges were Gene Brown,
