FEDERATED WOMEN'S CLUB CONVENTION TO BE AT ROSEBURG

The attention of clubwomen throughout the state is turning this month to Roseburg, where the biennial convention of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs will be held from May 7 to 10. The Roseburg Woman's club of which Mrs. C. S. Heinline is president, are hostess groups and are arranging a busy schedule of business meetings and social affairs for the four-day session. "For without vision the people perish" has been chosen as the convention theme and about it an inspirational program is being built under the supervision of Mrs. J. O. Holt of the Monday Book club of Eugene, general program chairman.

The convention is proving of more than ordinary interest this year because as one of its important features an entire new board will be chosen. The present officers headed by Mrs. Charles N. Bilyeu, of Dallas, president were given the usual courtesy reelection at the Portland biennial in 1932 and much speculation has been awakened throughout the state as to their successors. Mrs. W. S. Nicolson of Marshfield, is as yet the only announced candidate for the state presidency although there are rumors of several exciting contests for some of the lower officers. Nominations will be made on Wednesday morning, May 9, and election is slated for Thursday, May 10. In addition to the president, two vice-presidents, a recording secretary and a treasurer are to be elected this year. The corresponding secretary and the parliamentarian will be appointed by the incoming president.

According to the tentative convention program, registration will take place on Monday, May 7, at the Roseburg Woman's clubhouse with the formal opening of the session scheduled for that night at the Presbyterian church. The Roseburg Women's club will entertain at dinner Monday night at the Bell apartments for members of the state board. On Tuesday night a dinner honoring the state officers will be held at which Dr. Victor P. Morris, professor of economics at the University of Oregon will speak. Sharing honors with the state board members at this affair will be Mrs. Saidie Orr Dunbar of Portland whose candidacy for the first vice-presidency of the General Federation of Women's club will be presented to the convention body for ratification. The state board endorsed Mrs. Dunbar at its meeting in Portland on March 17 and her name will be introduced at the council meeting of the general federation in Hot Springs, Ark., in late May as a candidate for election at the 1935 triennial convention.

Mrs. Arthur Austin, vice-president of the Roseburg Woman's club who is acting as first assistant to the general convention chairman, Mrs. C. S. Heinline, has appointed these committee chairmen to take charge of local arrangements.

Registration and credentials, Mrs. M. D. Brand, hospitality, Mrs. A. G. McMillin; conference luncheons, Mrs. W. E. Ott; reception committee, Mrs. William Bell; information booth, Mrs. Irma Carstens; music, Mrs. C. S. Heinline; ushers and pages, Mrs. Homer Grow, decorations, Mrs. Foster Buttner; dinners, Mrs. A. C. Maesters; motor corps, Frances Ellison; door, Mrs. William M. Campbell.

A complete convention program will be published in the March-April issue of the Oregon Clubwoman, which will be off the press during the coming week. DEPOSITORS of the

Bank of Beaverton

You are hereby requested to attend a Mass Meeting of all depositors having RESTRICTED DEPOSITS

in the Bank of Beaverton

THURSDAY EVENING, APRIL 12th, 8 o'clock Sharp

at Beaverton High School

DEPOSITORS COMMITTEE:

Bank Depositors to Receive Information From Their Committee

A mass meeting of all depositors having restricted accounts in the Bank of Beaverton has been called by the depositors committee, with H. L. Robinson as chairman, for Thursday, April 12 at 8 o'clock at the Beaverton high school building. Every depositor is urged to make an effort to attend this meeting.

Extensive publicity is being given the meeting through the columns of the daily, county seat and local newspapers, in order that no depositor is left uninformed as to the time and place. It is necessary that as many of the 1500 depositors of the bank as possible be present.

The purpose of getting the depositors together at this time, is to give them an opportunity to express their wishes, as to the signing of a waiver agreement for 70 per cent, on commercial deposits, which include checking accounts, and time certificates, and a waiver of 40 or 50 per cent on savings accounts, or whether they prefer immediate liquidation. The general understanding is that 90 per cent of the depositors must sign the agreement, in order to bring about any proposed rehabilitation of the bank. It is also understood, that all depositors, who do not sign the waiver, must be paid in full.

There is another question to be cleared up, are the depositors willing to voluntarily contribute $28,125 of capital stock in the reorganized bank out of the dividends they receive of 30 per cent on commercial and 50 or 60 per cent on savings accounts, which is necessary to rehabilitate the new bank. These are some of the important matters the depositors will have to decide on at this time.

At the last meeting of the depositors committee A. M. Janssen, who was named to serve as a director of the new bank, resigned from the board leaving Doy Gray, Katie Desinger, J. H. Buck and Charles Imley, the remaining directors.

Candidates from Eastern End of County File for the Primary Battle

The Republican Primary election in Washington County will be one of the most interesting of campaigns for years according to present indications due to the fact that the Eastern part of Washington County has several candidates for office in the field.

The race for State Senator will be between Samuel B. Lawrence attorney residing at Raleigh and Edward Schulerich, wealthy banker at Hillsboro. J. Henry Jacobson from Hillsboro has also filed for republican nomination. The only Democrat interested in the Senator race was Geo. Aitken of Garden Home.

Representative J. O. Johnson, Tigard attorney, will have some competition for reelection. Al Janssen, of Beaverton and Aloha, will again try for one of the seats in the House of Representatives. Janssen was defeated by Representative Johnson two years ago. Johnson and Janssen should make a good combination as Representatives from Washington County. H. R. Findley from Cedar Mills and J. W. Hughes of Forest Grove also campaign for the republican nomination. Only two Democrats filed. They are E. L. Ross of Hillsboro and J. W. Raynard of Scholls.

The Circuit Judgeship race for Washington and Tillamook Counties will be another interesting race being made more complicated by the last minute filing by prominent Tillamook County Attorney H. T. Botts. Loyal Graham, of Forest Grove, Frank R. Peters of Hillsboro, Mark B. Bump of Hillsboro, C. A. Cobb, of Beaverton and Thomas Goynne of Tillamook, have all entered the race. From present indications it is difficult to determine who the two high candidates will be. The Judgeship is a non-partisan race and the two highest candidates will be on the ballot at the General election unless one candidate receives a majority at the primary election.

The County Commissioner race between Oscar M. Taylor, who gives his address as Beaverton resides near Aloha, will give Commissioner H. D. Kerkman, of Cornelius, a real race. J. M. Vander Zanden of Verboort has filed for the Democratic ticket.

The only other primary contests seems to be for Justice of Peace for Beaverton District. N. J. Skeel of Aloha, will run against George Thyng, of Beaverton.

Hannchen Barley Very Desirable by Maltsters for Brewing Purposes

WM. F. CYRUS
County Agent

During the past fall and winter there has been a rather good demand for Hannchen barley from this section for malting purposes. This development in the use of Hannchen barley for brewing has probably been more or less of a surprise to everyone. In the old days before prohibition, Hannchen was not considered good malting barley. This was perhaps due to the fact that most of the Hannchen was eastern grown. Maltsters want a clean, bright barley for brewing. The fact that bright barley was scarce in the middle west and east the past season has probably had much to do with the demand for barley grown here. In spite of the reasons the fact remains that maltsters have been well satisfied with the malting qualities of barley obtained from this section.

From a malting standpoint, the Pacific Northwest at this time is producing two varieties of barleys that are apparently rather outstanding from the malting viewpoint. These are Hannchen and what was formerly known as Wisconsin which is now some times called Van. Both of these varieties seem to be gaining considerable favor but there is also a rather wide difference in opinion among maltsters about which is the better. One Washington county dealer has had considerable success in selling the locally grown Wisconsin barley for malting purposes. Other dealers report that the only demand they have had was for the Hannchen. So far as the yield of the two varieties is considered there is not much to choose from. Growers in this county who have grown both have found that under the same conditions there probably will not be much difference in yield. Last season some of them harvested a heavier yield of Wisconsin barley than they did of the Hannchen. A few growers in other years have reported the reverse, so taken year in and year out there probably is not much difference.

Apparently it would be difficult to suppose that eastern brewers are going to come out here to buy barley when good quality stuff is available in the east. Growing a bright barley in the east is perhaps more uncertain than it is here but the opinion seems to prevail that in years when a good crop is available in the east then our sales of barley from the Pacific Northwest for brewing purposes will be restricted.

When Hannchen barley is in good demand for malting purposes, and when maltsters report that it is proving satisfactory; also when we consider that generally it is about the best yielding variety we have and that if a grower is sure of an outlet for it, if a grower is sure of an outlet for the other stuff and is working with a dealer who is in a position to push the market of the other he may afford to make the change but for general purposes it would seem that the Hannchen variety should remain our main barley crop.

Ben Beardless, another barley that has been grown the past two years in a very small way, is a strictly feed barley. It has a stiffer straw than the Hannchen. Where barley is to be sold the other varieties offer better possibilities. Where a farmer is growing barley only for his own feed purposes and must cut it with a binder and he objects to a bearded strain, then Ben Beardless will fill his requirements.

LAND BANK LOAN BONDS GUARANTEED BY GOVERNMENT

J. M. Person, secretary-treasurer of the Washington County National Farm Loan Association, Hillsboro, Oregon, received word today from Wm. I. Myers, Governor of the Farm Credit Administration, Washington, D. C., that Federal land bank loans and land bank commissioner's loans will be made in the future through the Federal Land bank in bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, which bonds are guaranteed by the United States Government both as to principal and interest, for the bonds to be issued at this time. These bonds will take the place of the cash distribution in the disbursement of the unclosed loans previously approved by the Federal land banks.

The bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, according to the statement by Governor Myers, will have behind them not only the unconditional guarantee of the Federal Government as to both principal and interest, and the capital of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation amounting to about $200,000,000 but also the consolidated bonds of the Federal land banks issued in exchange for the bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation and the mortgages accepted by the land bank commissioner as security for loans.

Governor Myers assured Secretary J. M. Person that the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation bonds will be an attractive investment. "They will be as readily marketable as bonds of the United States Government and they will be quoted in all of the principal markets," he continued. "Holders who have to dispose of these bonds should not sell them without first ascertaining their real market value."

The Governor particularly stressed the fact that country bankers probably will be large investors in these securities since the creditors of farmers who are being refinanced may not all be in the position where they can hold the bonds so acquired and will find it necessary to sell them. Secretary J. M. Person states that these bonds, which will be tendered to farmers' creditors in payment of the refinanced indebtedness and "exempt from all Federal, State, municipal and local taxation, except surtaxes and estate, inheritance and gift taxes. They are lawful security for fifteen-day borrowings by member banks of the Federal Reserve system. They are also lawful investments for all trust, public and fiduciary funds of which the deposit or investment is under the authority or control of the Government. The payments of the interest on these bonds and the repayment of their principal are guaranteed by the United States which means that if the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation should ever be unable to meet the payments on the bonds, the Treasury will assume such payments.

"These bonds will be issued in denominations of $100, $500, and $1,000. However, amounts less than $100 will be disbursed in cash. For example, a loan of $965 would be made in a $500 bond, four $100 bonds and the rest in cash. In addition, to provide for certain debts, such as taxes which cannot be paid in bonds, cash covering the required amounts will be provided.

"Loans which have been applied for and approved, but on which the cash has not been paid out, as well as those approved by the bank in the future, will be financed on the above basis. This arrangement in no way disturbs or alters the other provisions of the loans. The interest rate on new loans will continue to be 4½ per cent for the emergency period when made through Washington County national farm loan association and 5 per cent when made directly by the bank."
