TILLAMOOK COUNTY ENTITLED TO CIRCUIT JUDGESHIP TERM

H. T. Botts, Tillamook attorney, candidate for the circuit judgeship of the 19th District, Tillamook and Washington counties, is a man of high standing and well qualified to handle the office, having had 32 years of active practice in the Oregon courts. He has also been active in matters of public interest, served as deputy district attorney, mayor and city attorney of Tillamook, and member of the school board for twenty-three years.

Mr. Botts has a character which leans toward a just, unbiased and impartial treatment in the disposition of cases, believing in the settlement of difficulties out of court when possible.

Present survey of the eastern end of the county, shows a favorable trend of voters toward the support of his candidacy. The general opinion is that a Tillamook county attorney is entitled to the office, having stood aside for the past eighteen years for a Washington county candidate.

LET'S MAKE OUR TOWN CLEANER AND SAFER!

Right now Spring is in the air, and nature, in her annual awakening, is doing her utmost to beautify this old world of ours. A little help on our part would not be amiss.

In Winter many things are neglected. Vacant lots, yards and even streets become unsightly. Now is the time for a thorough spring cleaning, in the interest of better health, safety and improved appearance.

Such a clean-up campaign is a splendid activity for civic clubs, chambers of commerce or Boy Scouts to sponsor. One of them will have to assume the leadership in order to start the ball rolling, then obtain the cooperation of others. Streets and parking lots should be cleaned. Vacant lots, cleared of rubbish, can be made into healthful playgrounds, parks or gardens. Not the least important phase of this work is the jobs it provides.

When a movement to clean-up, paint-up and beautify sweeps through a community, it leaves in its wake a healthier, safer and more sanitary town than it found. From the angle of fire safety alone, it is worthwhile.

IS THE WORST YET TO COME?

Writing in Nation's Business, W. M. Kiplinger, well known economist, says that this year the Federal government is going easy on tax increases, but that next year it will adopt drastically heavier levies—particularly on those in the middle and high income brackets.

No matter what group you're in, whether its the highest or the lowest, that will vitally affect your welfare. High cost of government—and don't think only of Federal but look at your local and state costs—is now delaying recovery. In the view of many competent business observers appreciably higher cost of government might make recovery impossible.

It might keep us in a continual state of depression, with unemployment an ever-present problem—because government was taking the money that would provide investments, industrial development and jobs.

Slapping extortionate taxes on corporations and sizeable incomes amounts to damming the stream of good times. When we confiscate productive capital, we are confiscating employment and opportunities. We are closing factories and offices. We are making it impossible for businesses that provide employment to continue to operate.

The result is to force money into tax-free securities, issued by government—and take it out of productive, employing enterprise.

Every worker, every home-owner, every investor, must join together to oppose expensive, unwieldy, wasteful government. That is essential if we are to have real and permanent recovery.

SKILLS OF THE ROAD

High schools throughout the United States have an exceptional opportunity to forward the accident prevention movement by following the example of the secondary schools of Bergen County, New Jersey. Youngsters in this large and populous county have organized a "Skills of the Road" program under the direction of the High School Y. M. C. A. They are spreading the gospel of safe and sane driving, and are training themselves to take over the responsibility of future highway safety.

A skilled driver, according to the young safety campaigners, "keeps in proper line; keeps inside white line; does not hog the road; makes proper turns; practices road courtesy; recognizes that a child always has the right of way observes green as the only 'go' signal; looks and signals before coming out of a parking place; thinks quickly and accurately in an emergency."

"The 'skills of the road' movement is adaptable to any high school in the country."

A BUGGY WANTED

A call for an American-made buggy in good condition and at least 100 years old has been made by the Smithsonian Institution at Washington. It is to be placed in the museum with the exhibit of transportation vehicles, ancient and modern, and preserved forever.

This call will bring back to older citizens memories of the horse-and-buggy-days, when travel was slow, yet when people took as much pride and satisfaction in the ownership of a fine horse and rig as people now get from ownership of autos. A buggy with red spokes and rubber tires, drawn by a sleek horse, was once the envy of a neighborhood. Forty years ago some of the biggest factories in the country were devoted to the manufacture of buggies, and thousands of mechanics were given employment. Today there are a few plants engaged in buggy-making, while some of the former ones have been converted into automobile factories.

Trades and customs of the old days have gone the way of the world, but the memory of them still lingers with people who are impressed more and more by the changes of time. This is a new generation and it gets its travel enjoyment out of a new type of vehicle. Future generations will probably discard the automobile the same way as the old buggy has been discarded. Uncle Sam knows this. That's why he wants to put a buggy in his great national museum for future generations to gaze upon, and marvel at.

WEEDS IN THE GARDEN

There are thousands of persons throughout the nation, and a small army of lawmakers in city councils, state legislatures and congress, who seem to feel that the way to bring about recovery from depression is to destroy private business and undermine public confidence in capital.

These theories remind one of the weeds in a garden—they flourish until the owner realizes that they are sapping the strength of the productive plants on which they depend for a living. And then they are quietly removed.

The people may find it necessary to do considerable weeding in their political gardens before long if they wish to retain time-tested American traditions and ideals.

"We do not believe R. R. Turner is good Congressional timber" says the Oregon City Banner Courier. We agree with the Banner-Courier in that he is not "good congressional timber" after reading the personal attack made by Mr. Turner against his two opponents, published recently in the Voters Pamphlet.

milk but Holman's whiskies," according to newspaper comment.

At the rate they're going with the liquor regulations they'll probably have them so complicated finally that the only way a man can get a drink will be to consult a lawyer.

For the government, as for the individual, there is but one way to reduce taxes—spend less money.

If you see a man trying to kick himself he is the one who borrowed on his life insurance to save his stocks.

If France waits until she paid her debts before she opens another keg of powder she'll be a long time getting into another war.

COUNTIES TO GET FUNDS FOR GRASSHOPPER FIGHT

Oregon counties that are facing a possible serious grasshopper infestation this year will be enabled to obtain federal assistance to carry on eradication work under the terms of a recent appropriation. A committee headed by Paul V. Marks, director of extension at Oregon State college, has been appointed by W. A. Schoenfeld, dean of agriculture to set up organizations in the counties to bring about the cooperative control work. This was done on instructions from Washington.

Early indications were that Klamath Lake, Deschutes, and possibly Harney would be the counties seeking this federal assistance. It is open to any county where grasshoppers threaten to become a major menace to crops. Eradication work must be carried on, however, on a community basis. The federal funds are to be devoted largely to purchase of supplies for poisoning operations.

Successful control work was carried on in Klamath county for several years under a plan worked out by the county agent and experiment station entomologists, but county funds for carrying on the campaign have not lately been available.

LAMBS CONTRACT PARALYSIS FROM DOCKING INFECTIONS

An increase in paralysis among young lambs can frequently be traced to the practice of not thoroughly disinfecting the wound left in docking, according to investigations made by Dr. J. N. Shaw, assistant veterinarian, at Oregon State college.

Organisms frequently enter the spinal tract from this wound and cause abscesses which in turn bring on paralysis. Several recent post mortems performed on lambs revealed these abscesses at various points along the back almost to the neck.

Growers who follow the old practice of using turpentine on the wound in docking do not get effective disinfection, says Dr. Shaw. Sheep dip or any other standard disinfectant will serve, while turpentine does nothing more than possibly relieve the soreness.

The London (Eng.) Zoo animal corner who must hold an inquest on every creature which dies at the institution to determine the cause of death, performed 964 post mortems during the past year.

OAKS OPENING MAY 5

Thousands of persons will throng the Oaks Amusement Park at the gala opening Saturday, May 5. Featured on the opening night will be a big free dance at the Oaks pavilion which has just been modernistically re-decorated in green, white and black, with artistic lighting effects. Bill Darby and his orchestra are arranging a lively program of new music and dancing will be from 9 to 1.

At the Oaks Roller Rink a "carnival" night is scheduled when skaters will be given free noisemakers, serpentine and all sorts of carnival novelties with which to make merry. Both the floors at the rink and the dance pavilion are being re-sanded and polished. All rides are in tip-top condition.

A large crew of men is now at work rushing to completion renovation at the park so that everything will be in readiness Saturday. Silver and red will predominate the ornamental scheme at the park.

The same congenial spirit will be fostered at the Park as always according to Manager E. H. Bollinger and it is not now too early for organizations and parties to make reservations for picnic dates. Picnics are already scheduled for as far off as June and many are becoming aware that under the "massive" oaks picnic joy reigns supreme.

MILK CONTROL TOPIC FOR RADIO ADDRESS WEDNESDAY

The problem of milk control, one of the most interesting topics now before the people of the state, will be the subject for a radio address to be given May 9, from 5 to 8:20 over station KOAC by P. M. Brandt, mayor of Corvallis and head of the division of animal industry.

The address will be one of a series sponsored each Wednesday by the Bureau of Municipal Research and Service of the University of Oregon and the League of Oregon Cities. The next address, scheduled for May 16, will be delivered by S. Lyle Kelly, professor of business administration at the university.
