

PRESENTATION MARKS TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Ten years ago Warren J. Rich, left, delivered the first gallon of gasoline in the retail history of General Petroleum Corporation on the Pacific Coast. To commemorate the occasion W. B. Curtis, right, sales promotion manager for the company, recently presented Rich with a ten-year pin and picture of the truck with which the first delivery was made. Center is H. D. L'Heureux, also of General's sales staff.

Ten years ago Warren J. Rich, now district manager for General Petroleum Corporation in Northern and Central Washington, delivered the first gallon of gasoline in the retail history of the company on the Pacific Coast. The event has just been commemorated by the presentation to Rich of a ten-year pin and a picture of the truck with which he made General's first retail delivery. The presentation was made by W. B. Curtis, company sales promotion manager, on behalf of General Petroleum.

Progress Cited

The incident marked not only an interesting anniversary in the company's history, Curtis stated, but also completion of a decade of steady progress and growth in popularity in the Pacific Coast market.

"The first ten years of its activities in the retail field has seen General Petroleum accomplish a splendid record of expansion," the executive declared. "Each year, even during the worst of the depression, healthy annual gains have been recorded, proving that the company's policy of rigid adherence to quality standards is becoming increasingly popular with Pacific Coast motorists."

Sales Up

The recent introduction of General Mobilgas, Curtis added, sets in motion what every General employee believes will be another decade of phenomenal progress in the company's history. The first three weeks sales of the new product indicate that all past volume records for a similar period will be broken.

DONALD WALKER TOAST MASTER AT BANQUET

The Public Speaking class of the Beaverton high school held their second annual debate banquet recently with Donald Walker as toastmaster. A lovely seven course dinner was served by the Home Economic class after which many very interesting speeches were made.

Among those making speeches were Ivan Bierly, Margaret West, Delbert Burke, Bob Denney, Douglas Taylor, Mildred Twohy, Kenneth Taylor, and E. G. Webb. Many other interesting speeches were given by alumni who were present. The banquet was enjoyed to the utmost by all those present.

GASTON GIRLS' MEAT ESSAY WINS STATE HONORS

With an essay titled "The Highway to Health," Miss Betty Hoover, Gaston, won highest honors among all Oregon entrants in the eleventh annual meat story contest sponsored by the National Stock and Meat Board. Announcement of this signal honor was made by a committee of prominent home economists meeting in Chicago. The contest was participated in by 10,594 home economics students from 560 high schools of 47 states. National honors went to Miss Anne Ocz-

GAS... better for roasting

Your family will like
BONED SMOKED SHOULDER OF PORK

3 1/2 to 4 lbs. boned shoulder,
1/4 cup brown sugar, 10 whole cloves, 1/2 cup boiling water.

Rub pork with brown sugar and insert cloves. Sear until brown, then add boiling water. Cover and roast for 3 hours at 275°

● Every festive dinner calls for a roast! Roast turkey for Thanksgiving or Christmas—perhaps roast duck or goose for New Year's—roast beef, veal or pork for Sunday or company dinners!

Gas is better for roasting each of these meats because its adjustable heat keeps them tender, juicy and full-flavored—makes them wholesome and easily-digested.

Gas gives an immediate intense heat to raise the oven quickly to the desired temperature. This quick-heating feature permits you to sear your meat in the oven.

After your meat is browned, it is a simple matter with a gas oven to adjust the temperature so that your roast will cook slowly and not burn or dry out.

The circulation of air prevents food vapors from settling on the sides of a gas oven. This ventilated heat minimizes shrinkage during roasting, reduces the roasting time and insures perfect results.

With a completely automatic gas range, you can place your meat in the oven; set the oven control to turn the oven on and off at any specified times; and leave your home with the assurance that your roast—or even your entire dinner—will be ready to serve when you return.

Ask Miss Elizabeth Reger, our Home Economist, to tell you some of the fine points of roasting meats and fowl. Ask also, when you are in our showroom or at your dealer's, to see the beautiful 1934 model automatic gas ranges. We know you will want to plan to own one.

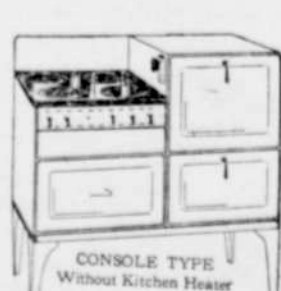

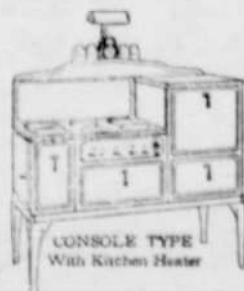

ELECTROLUX IS UNIQUE!

The new Air-Cooled Electrolux Gas Refrigerator operates on a different principle than any other refrigerator—a simpler, more efficient principle. A tiny gas flame circulates a simple refrigerant. Ordinary air cools it.

Having no moving parts, Electrolux is permanently silent! It never needs repairing, gives steady constant cold, and is economical. Ask your dealer or a gas company employee for more details.

Saturday afternoon scouts hike to the cabin for the May overnight journey. A night game was played covering several hours. Scouts were not required to enter this feature.

The first session of the forestry nature course was held last Tuesday evening. A session of botany may be held on the hike.

At the court of honor last Thursday Lisle Walker appeared for the Sheep Farming merit badge.

Last Friday nine scouts and two dads attended the camp rally at Benson. Nearly two hours of entertainment was enjoyed. The scout executive introduced scouts who are veteran campers and pointed out the desirability of Camp Meriwether as a scout builder. The dates for this camp are for six weeks following June 27.

Nine scouts went to the cabin Saturday, and spent a night of outdoors fun. Tracking a wood hike, work projects, and a log rollole contest were features. Crisp weather, too, was a feature.

Wednesday evening several scouts went to Portland for their last session of astronomy nature course. At A. V. Goodards telescope they learned of many wonders of the sky. Mr. Goodard is an able astronomer, and offered a great deal of helpful information.

INQUIRY LIST

The following people have written to the State Development Department asking for information on Oregon:

A. H. Bourgerie, Excelsior, Minn.; has 4-acre tract at Lake Minnetonka that he would like to exchange for 5 to 10 acres of improved land near Portland suitable for general farming. Plans to make a trip of inspection next August.

W. F. Hubbard, Iuka, Miss.; intends making a trip to Oregon in the near future and is desirous of securing about 240 acres with at least 200 under cultivation, suitable for general farming. Interested in the Willamette Valley near Portland.

Morgan Aasheim, Enderlin, North Dakota; has half section all tillable modern farm with very good soil that he would like to trade for small improved tract near Portland. Trade includes stock and equipment. Will engage in dairying and poultry raising in Oregon.

H. E. Peterson, Parma, Idaho; wants 40 or 50 acres of improved land near the Coast, suitable for poultry and general farming. Coming in the near future.

V. G. Kolar, Cortona, Arizona; has 640 acres near Tucson, that he would like to trade for acreage near Portland.

KENNETH PETERSON ELECTED MEMBER OF BLUE KEY

Willamette University, Salem, Ore., May 25—Kenneth Peterson, sophomore from Beaverton, was elected a member of the Willamette chapter of Blue Key, national service honorary, here this week. Requirements for election include outstanding service on the campus during the freshman and sophomore years.

Peterson is this year manager of spring sports.

BING CROSBY MADE A "DOUBLE UNCLE"

Spokane, Wash., May 25—Bing Crosby, Hollywood crooner and motion picture star, was twice an uncle here today.

Two girls were born to the wife of his brother, Ted Crosby, publicity manager for the Washington Water Power Co., here.

The event is significant for two reasons. The twins upset the calculations of both the doctor and the Crosby family; only one baby had been expected. The other reason is that Bing expects to become the father of twins in July.

Mrs. R. L. Snyder of Aloha, is an aunt of Mrs. Ted Crosby.
