DEAL HOUSE AT BEAVERTON DESTROYED BY FIRE TUESDAY

The Deal house in the Berthold addition, just outside the city limits of Beaverton, was burned to the ground Tuesday at 4 p. m. Efforts of the local fire department to save the structure failed. Neighbors removed all the furniture from the burning house, excepting two bed room suites.

Mr. Noel of the Standard Oil company was residing on the property, which is owned by E. Johnson, of Tigard.

Boy Scout News

Two local scouts attended the Portland court of honor Thursday, August 9. Scout Orin Zimmerman received the badge of the second class scout. Before the judge and the court Lisle Walker appeared for the Gold Quill, a journalistic award—the second to be offered so far by the council.

Last Friday's meeting was well attended and had a full program. Such games as "bull in ring," "take the trench," and the "crab and monkey race" were played, and a contest drill was performed. Advancement was emphasized and testwork announced.

While only a few went to the scout cabin on the August all-night camp last Saturday, a pleasant time was had. Perhaps the main feature was an obstacle race, in which Jim Miller defeated Bill Siddens by just an eyelash; to be exact, at 106 to 105 points. The fourth pow-wow of the Indian tribe was held.

Second class scout Jay Gibson is planning to transfer from the Gaston a real character actor. The rest of us just do a character. He lives him. He is him. Remember the old man "That had talked to Lincoln"?

Well that little article of this guy did some good any how. It brought back to my mind fresh memories of one of the finest characters that ever put foot on our stage. A real wholesome man that has perhaps got more applause, given more clean amusement, got more laughs per minute, than any vaudeville act in America. Gosh that vaudeville, how we miss it. No class of entertainment has ever approached it for real entertainment. The variety, the worlds various collection of talents, the years of practice to attain perfection in acts of skill. And to have been the outstanding figure in that glorious parade is something Chick Sales can be proud of.
