Gold Decision Awaited

Big industries, in company with government, are anxiously awaiting the Supreme Court's decision on the gold forfeiture cases, which will be handed down early in February. If the court decides that holders of gold bonds and gold certificates must be paid on the basis of the old 100-cent dollar, as specified in the bonds held by individuals who loaned their money to the government and many industries, instead of the present 59.4 dollar, the nation's public and private debts will show a paper rise of more than $60,000,000. Attitude of the Justices, during the arguments of the case, frankly worried Administration officials.

The Resolution Against Fire

Here's a resolution for the New Year that is worth making and keeping "I will do my part to lower America's fire loss during the next twelve months."

If every home-owner will do that, it will mean money in everyone's pocket. It will mean that thousands of lives that would otherwise be destroyed will be saved. It will mean that homes will continue to stand that would become mounds of ash.

For the past two years the nation has witnessed a fairly substantial decline in the fire loss. This is partly due to the fact that property values are lower than in previous years—and partly to the fact that there has been a real drop in the number of fires. But our waste is still disgracefully high—higher than in any other civilized country.

Business Quiet

Business is quiet since the holiday spurt and reports are neither encouraging or discouraging. There have been a few small advances in various lines, while no industry has fallen back. Business activity as a whole is getting better.

State House Gossip

BY ERNEST L. GRAY

correspondents. And the House and the Governor's office so far have the most closely watched.

One feature of the inaugural ceremony at the opening of the session has been generally overlooked. That was the presence of the Reverend Father Joseph Lonergan, who gave the invocation. He was sent here as a representative of the Governor of Illinois to greet the incoming Governor since Martin was born in Illinois. Lonergan was chaplain under Martin during the World War and is a brother of Frank Lonergan of Portland.

One newspaperman is having a lot of fun in the House as a member and at the same time injects some humor, much to the disgust of Hannah Martin, Marion County's woman representative. He is Clint Haight, editor of the Blue Mountain Eagle at Canyon City, who has been giving daily witty reports of Grant county and who wants to go home, he says. Haight is one of the smartest of the house members.

First meetings of the Board of Control have aroused the ire of some newspapermen because the sessions were closed and Rufus C. Holman, State Treasurer, calls them "conferences" rather than board meetings. He says there will be some open meetings this week, but the so-called conferences would be much interesting.

Those who have watched the procedure declare that for once Rufus is enjoying full sway and is actually Governor at the present time because he is the hold-over member of the Board. But these observers also state his reign will not be for long—only as long as he is not crossed up in his wishes and desires.

William Elmig culminated one day for the State Treasurer. The Purchasing Agent resigned orally at once and Monday tendered his written resignation, thus robbing Rufus of the chance to fire him. Elmig has been a thorn in Holman's flesh for a long time. His resignation however has not yet been accepted by the Governor. In the meantime Elmig is anxious to quit and start on his private enterprises.

No new appointments had been made the first week of Martin's administration but several are expected at any time. These would include a budget director and possibly two members on the State Liquor Control Commission. Others will perhaps follow regularly.

"Truth" Subject of Sermon

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ Scientist, Sunday, January 27.

The Golden Text is "Teach me thy way, O Lord; I will walk in thy truth; unite my heart to fear thy name." (Ps. 86:11)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "There is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be known" (Luke 12:2)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Though error hides behind a lie and excuses guilt, error cannot forever be concealed. Truth through her eternal laws, unveils error" "The muddy river-bed must be stirred in order to purify the stream. In moral chemicalization, when the symptoms of evil, illusion, are aggravated, we may think in our ignorance that the Lord hath wrought an ace that the Lord hath wrought an ace; but we ought to know that God's law uncovers so-called sin and its effects, only that Truth may annihilate all sense of evil and all power to sin." (pp. 542, 540)

ADS. WILL TELL BANKERS' STORY

American Bankers Association President Announces Move to Stimulate Newspaper Advertising

NEW YORK.—Plans for stimulating wider use of informative newspaper advertising by banks in promoting public understanding and confidence in regard to existing banking conditions and methods have been announced by R. S. Hecht, President of the American Bankers Association, as a part of his organization's activities in aid of business recovery.

A general groundwork was prepared through a nationwide survey of advertising by banks relative to their willingness to extend justifiable loans to industry and trade. This, he said, revealed that a large number in all parts of the country are pursuing aggressive policies along this line and encouraging their customers to develop forward-looking business plans. "It is our aim to aid in fostering this constructive attitude wherever possible," he said.

The association's Advertising Department, under the direct supervision of the general executive officers, has prepared, at the headquarters in New York City, an informative advertising series for the use of member banks in the association to aid them in developing in their own communities better general public understanding regarding banking, Mr. Hecht said.

"The underlying theme of this advertising is that sound banking is based on helpful human relations and that it has a unity of interest with the people of its community which binds them together with a common purpose," he said.

"We are confident that if a clear understanding of this is brought home to the people in all our banking communities, it will go far in restoring the public confidence which good banking deserves. A bank in which people deservedly believe is doubly safe. It is to the public interest for the people to have confidence in their banks.

The Place of Advertising
"We feel that bank advertising has a special public duty to perform in this connection under existing conditions. The copy which will be supplied in the service we have developed will not only aid the individual bank in promoting the use of its own facilities but is also aimed to bring about with the aid of newspaper advertising a clearer public viewpoint regarding the essential part it occupies in the life of its community."

Mr. Hecht emphasized in regard to the new advertising facilities being offered to the members of the association that they are not a profit making venture and that there is no intention to disturb existing advertising arrangements, the idea being that these institutional services shall supplement rather than replace present plans, or that they will give assistance to member banks now lacking satisfactory arrangements.

Ladino Returns Good Profit

DALLAS—Irrigated ladino clover pasture on three dairy farms in Polk county produced an average of $89.56 worth of butterfat per acre last year after calculating the value of all other feeds received by the cows, records compiled by County Agent J. R. Beck show. The figures were compiled for the farms of S. H. Robinson, J. A. Campbell and C. W. Brandstetter, with a total of 30 acres of irrigated pasture, on which they kept 87 cows more or less continuously throughout the summer. Each acre averaged 643 cow days of feed during the season, or nearly three cows to the acre, Mr. Beck reports.

Economical Winter Desserts

Desserts are often looked upon as the least important part of the meal but they can be made to take on new importance. Squeezing extra calories into a meal can be done easily by serving a substantial dessert. When dessert are made with milk, butter and eggs they furnish not only energy but the necessary protective elements—the vitamins and minerals, which make them highly nutritious foods.

Fruits, either dried or canned, can be used in combination with milk and eggs and will add variety, as well as food value. Fruits are actually cheap at present and are a good investment because they too are protective foods. Of the dried fruit, prunes, apricots and peaches are the most widely used.

Left-over breads of all kinds have countless possibilities and can be transformed into delicious puddings and cakes. Bread crumbs are really a quickly available form of flour that is seasoned, cooked and ready for use. Desserts made with rice or tapioca, fruit short cakes and fruit whips all add protective value, as well as energy value to the low-cost meals.

The following recipes are suitable for cold weather desserts.

Baked Rice Custard
4 eggs, yolks
3 cups milk
2 cups cooked rice
1 cup granulated sugar
1/2 tsp grated lemon rind
4 egg whites
6 tsp sugar
1/2 tsp salt
Beat egg yolks thoroughly, add milk and stir until well blended. Then add rice, sugar, salt and rind. Turn into buttered baking dish or into individual buttered molds. Place molds in a pan of hot water, then put in a moderate oven and bake until firm or for about 25 minutes. Cover with a meringue made of the egg whites and six tbsps. of sugar. Brown in a slow oven (300 F) for about 15 minutes.

Indian Pudding
2 qt. milk
1 cup corn meal
1 cup molasses
1 cup finely chopped suet
1 egg
1 tsp salt
1/2 cup butter
Cinnamon & Ginger
Scald 1 1/2 qt. of the milk and gradually sift into it the corn meal, stirring all the time. Add the suet, molasses, well beaten egg, salt and butter. Powder with cinnamon and ginger to taste. Mix well and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven 300 deg. and bake for 3 1/2 hours. After the pudding

Better Breakfasts

EVERY country has its own special foods, and one way to vary your first meal of the day is to take a leaf out of the menu book of some particular land, and see how well it fits in to the kind of breakfast you prefer. Here is a breakfast at which you can close your eyes and imagine that you are sitting in a picturesque little inn nestling on a hillside grey-green with olive trees stirring slightly under a treading Spanish sun. But you'll be sure to open them again to get the last forkful of your portion of this foreign breakfast's delicious main dish.

Can't you imagine a scene like the above and the delight of sitting there eating a breakfast like the following:

Baked Apples with Cream
Cooked or Ready-to-Eat Bran Cereal
Spanish Omelet
Toast
Coffee
And here's the way to make the main dish:
Spanish Omelet: Add two slices onion, diced, one-half a green pepper, sliced, and the sliced contents of a 4-ounce can of mushrooms to two tablespoons olive oil, and cook gently for five minutes. Add the contents of a 10-ounce can of tomatoes, season highly with salt and pepper, and cook five to ten minutes to reduce the bulk. Spread over a six-egg French omelet, fold over and turn out onto a hot platter. Serve at once. Serves six.*
