Kenneth Poorman Sand & Gravel Co.

Many contractors in this section of Oregon specify their products

At 1835 S. E. Grand in Portland, is a Prominent Concern of the Northwest whose Superior Products are known throughout this Territory, and whose Progressive Activities are indispensable in the upbuilding of the community, serving the people faithfully and being an essential factor in the commercial development of Portland and vicinity under the competent and capable management of Kenneth Poorman, Telephone EA. 1594.

Contractors, builders and the general public have come to know that this is a firm upon which they can depend to secure the best in sand and gravel hence they turn over the supplying of their needs to Kenneth Poorman Sand & Gravel Co.

In the past few years this part of the country has been greatly benefited by the building of roads, highways, public and domestic buildings. In each of these projects whether extensive or on a very small scale, in each one sand and gravel plays a very important part.

Real estate men who are laying out and improving new subdivisions should get in touch with this firm as they are able to furnish any quantity on short notice.

In this section particularly industrial progress has been benefited by them. There is nothing more important than the development of good gravel and supplies for the building of roads, driveways and building blocks, they have furnished large quantities of excellent gravel to this county. Being one of the firms that has been selected by the contractors to supply a large part of their orders for the product.

It is one of our most flourishing industries and is fully worthy of more than passing notice at our hands, for not only is it the leading concern engaged in its own particular field, its sand and gravel has a wide reputation for general excellence and are considered a standard product among the trade the country over.

In appreciation of the inestimable value of the location of the Kenneth Poorman Sand & Gravel Co. here the people are loyal in their support of this institution which attracts very many dollars annually to this community.

This in part accounts for their successful career. The rapidly increasing demand for their products throughout the country is being met here easily on account of their plants being well equipped with the most approved equipment for this particular production. Their years of experience coupled with the practical knowledge of manufacturing has won Kenneth Poorman Sand & Gravel Co. a well merited increasing patronage.

ening day by day as bad situations are constantly cleaned up. With prices of stocks and commodities rising, wages and employment increasing, and industry and trade re-awakening, well-informed business can ride rough shod in the next year or two over the obstacles still in its path.

Just as five years ago the tide of business was running out and nothing could stop it, so today the tide is running in and nothing can stop it—not even Washington. Several months ago I discussed the "Inevitable American Boom" and told my readers that it is now time to quit fussing about Washington and get ready to make money as the green "Go" signal is flashed. That signal is now blazing and the traffic whistle is blowing. As a slogan for this autumn's drive, try this: "The winners of fall business are already out in front."—For the longer look ahead I urge every concern, big or small, to: "Get Prepared For Prosperity—It Always Returns!"

Statehouse Gossip

By ERNEST L. GRAY

The farmers will be having their day at the state capital every day for ten days, beginning Saturday. The big state fair will be in full swing until the night of September 8. And judging from exhibits in place early, and from the program announced, it will be a busy time for both exhibitors and visitors.

One of the things missing will be the customary entrance and headquarters building. These have been condemned and torn down, and up to the present writing nothing has been constructed in their place. But back of this lies a story, uncovered when the present state fair director took office. Max Gehlbauer made a good reputation as a fair director, and he did much to place it upon its feet as well as liquidate some of the bonded indebtedness upon the grandstand building. But as he left office, the present administration reports, he turned over all available fair funds into debt payments and left Solon T. White with nothing to work with for the present fair.

About that time the buildings at the entrance were condemned, and White asked the governor to call an emergency board meeting to appropriate about $100,000 for razing work and for new buildings, much of the work to be done by SERA.

The board met, argued at length relative to this request being an emergency, cut the fund in half and voted $50,000, which was conceded enough to put up a fine looking entrance structure and sufficient to enable the fair director to make a fair appearing place. But here is where more misfortune was met.

In the first place, since the $100,000 appropriation for the emergency board did not carry the "emergency clause," the money was not available until June 12. The board met in April. Then since there was one vote against it, it was not unanimous, but this would have been satisfactory if it weren't for the disqualifications of two members of the board.

The state law required five votes of the seven to approve an appropriation. Speaker John E. Cooter and Henry Seman at that time were disqualified because they held other state or federal positions. This required a unanimous approval of the other five members. Ronald Jones of Marion county, voted against the appropriation because he did not consider it an emergency. Thus the fair board had to get along without any funds. So if the entrance does look bare, consider the story behind the picture. But this did not hinder White going ahead to do all he could to make the fair a success. It looks promising.

The state capitol is still a "burning" issue. Each day however draws nearer to some possible conclusion of the matter of a site and perhaps by the time this column has been read, something definite may come out of the parley between the state and the trustees of the Willamette university, the site which the state is attempting to get along without any funds. So if the entrance does look bare, consider the story behind the picture.

At the present writing however, it appears the state and the trustees are at logger-heads. Reports coming to this writer indicates what Willamette is asking will be rejected. The trustees, it was reported, requested $820,000 for the property in addition to a free grant of land in Bush' pasture.

This undoubtedly will be rejected. The book value of the university buildings and grounds is set at $620,000. The state perhaps would be willing to pay this much, but not the extra $200,000 plus a new site. More will be heard about the proposal later. None of the profers at this time have been publicly announced.

In the meantime the old question as to whether or not a special session would be held early or late changes from day to day. The past week it was definitely learned the session would not be called before December 1 of this year, and that the governor was committed to this idea. But conditions keep changing, and with them the dates of the extra-ordinary session.

But when it is called, information has it, the members will be organized to adopt the governor's program in general. With this in view many of the members are coming with a free mind. They will perform their duty for the state, leave the details to the hard working members on major committees, and the majority enjoy the respite from their daily routine from whence they came.

The question of speakership likewise holds the spotlight. John Cooter, it was reported, will seek appointment to his seat in the house and thus eliminate himself as a candidate for the leadership. It still swings between William Graham of Portland, and Earl Hill of Lane county. The latter is a republican, but is well liked by many democrats, and should be wrong it, undoubtedly would have a strong start. Other candidates mentioned to date have been given little consideration.

Your columnist's attention has been drawn to an "erroneous" statement by him several weeks ago—that relative to Dean Wayne L. Morse. If such statement was incorrect, and Morse contends it was, we wish here to retract. To review the picture and cite our source, however, no doubt would be appreciated by both the readers and Mr. Morse.

The statement referred to was that "he has agitated the Banks hearing." Morse says, "this is a falsehood and I am confident that you published it without being informed of the facts." Our source of information, we believed, was correct, but Morse's correction is appreciated. We had only quoted from a statement made to Governor Martin more than a month ago by Mrs. Ariel Pomeroy of Central Point, who declared, when she presented petitions for Banks pardon, that the suggestion had come from Mr. Morse.

Are there elderly people in your home?

keep them comfy with a GAS Radiantfire

no chill can compete with its cheery healthful rays

• Elderly folks and children who often require more heat than average, delight in the penetrating, sun-like rays of a Gas Radiantfire. This fireplace heater quickly banishes morning chill—is ideal for weather not quite nippy enough to justify a furnace fire. A very handsome model, installed in any first-floor fireplace, costs $15.75. Slightly more when installed in a second-floor fireplace. Terms, $1.75 down; $2.00 monthly, plus small carrying charge.
