Oregon Concern Leads in Retread Tire Mfg Procedure

Huntington Rubber Mills, 7100 S.
W. Macadam, Portland, has been continuously expanding during the lean depression years because they have perfected an economical and highly satisfactory method of retreading tires for passenger cars and trucks.

Prices of retreads are less than one-half the price of new tires whereas retreads give service of 80 to 90% of that of new tires.

Just recently the Huntington Rubber Mills announced a reduction of approximately 25% in price made possible by a new method which they have been trying out on test cars for the past several years. This method, though less expensive gives greater and more satisfactory mileage.

The Huntington Rubber Mills has achieved its expansion through giving satisfaction through actual test. Whereas former retread tire companies replaced the tread so that it appeared satisfactory to the eye, their methods often resulted in the tread leaving the carcass after short mil-age had been received by the user. Huntington uses factory methods, factory material and factory equipment—resulting in factory results and appearance.

By use of improved equipment, too expensive for ordinary retread manufacturers to have available, Huntington is able to inspect the carcasses to be retreaded so that nothing is left to chance. The retreading operation is similar to treading of the original tire and the use of only the best of gum rubber insures a high type of finished product.

Many long-haul freight lines, covering hundreds of thousands of grueling miles per month with the heaviest of loads, have—after subjecting Huntington retreads to every hard use to which a tire could be put—made it a policy to have many of their tires retreaded by Huntington Rubber Mills when the tread of the original tire has become smooth.

Huntington Rubber Mills is an Oregon Company, home-owned and operated, with an Oregon payroll—insuring that when you pay for a retread your money stays in Oregon. When you buy a Huntington retread or have your own tires retreaded by them, you are helping yourself both by savings in initial tire cost and by keeping your money in circulation in Oregon where it will benefit you when you, in turn, have products, merchandise or personal service to offer.

Simple Entertaining

There is no meal that is as pleasant in its informality as the Sunday supper—or Saturday evening dinner —say for instance following a football game. We think of it as a leisurely meal which should be made as easy as possible for the homemaker as well as for the family and guests. There is no need for an elaborate menu. The more informal and simple the supper is kept, with everyone helping in the preparation, the more pleasant and cheerful the occasion becomes.

The ideal supper menu should be made up of foods which are apt to have on hand most of the time. One simple hot dish for fall evenings taste good. A delicious one easy to prepare is Salmon Souffle. It needs no before-hand preparation and can be put together in a very few minutes.

Salmon Souffle

3 tbsp butter
3 tbsp flour
1 1/2 cups cold milk
1/4 tsp salt
4 eggs, separated
1 No. 1 can (2 cups) Salmon Make white sauce of first four ingredients. Pour over beaten egg yolks.
Add flaked salmon. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and turn into buttered baking dish or individual baking dishes. Place in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven for about 35 minutes. Serves 6.

For the family who has canned chicken on its shelves or even better, left over chicken, a Casserole of Chicken Noodles would be a delicious hot dish. For the homemaker who likes to get things done in advance this dish could be all prepared in the morning and put in a cool place until time to bake.

Find Weed Killer Successful

DALLAS—Polk county farmers are demonstrating to their own satisfaction that sodium chlorate, properly handled will kill out patches of Canadian thistles, reports County Agent J. R. Beck. A total of 7,284 pounds of this material has been purchased in pooled orders through the county agent's office during the past two years, Mr. Beck says. A number of the trials were visited recently and in all cases where proper methods had been followed control was excellent.

Beef Cattle to Get Bang's Test

BAKER—Beef cattle owners in Baker county are coming to be as much interested in the Bang's disease testing program as are the dairymen, according to P. T. Fortner, county agent.
It is expected that grazing associations throughout the county will get under way for testing their beef herds this fall and winter, he says.

Farmers Fall-Seeding Pastures

HILLSBORO—The practice of tearing up old pastures with a spring tooth or disk where it is possible to do so and seeding grass mixture on it in the fall is a method being followed by more and more Washington county farmers each year, says County Agent W. F. Cyrus. Of course this can't be done in all cases, he says, but where it is possible it often means a much improved pasture for the next two or three years, and in addition helps to prevent erosion.
