Rebekah Lodge Installs New Officers Tuesday

At the regular meeting of the Rebekah lodge held Tuesday evening, January 7th, Marjorie Lewis, district deputy president, Andrew Denholm, dept. marshal, assisted by past noble grands, installed the elective and appointive officers into their respective chairs. The officers installed were: Myrtle Hardman, noble grand; Adaline Frost, vice grand; Sarah Chamberlain, secretary; Edna Sheets, treasurer; Mildred Ostfeld, warder; Anna Mae Rogers, conductor; Elizabeth Myers, chaplain; Fern Haynes, musician; Marjorie Lewis right support to N. G.; Alice Wheeler, L. S. N. G.; Florence Drorbaugh, L. S. V. G.; Cora Foster, L. S. V. G.; Hazel Miller, inside guardian; Bertha Wilson, outside guardian.

Andrew Denholm was elected trustee for three years, Robert Chamberlain was elected drill captain and Thornborg Benson, assistant drill captain, Edna Sheets, correspondent. Anna Mae Rogers, president of the Past Noble Grand club presented the retiring Noble Grand with a noble grand pin on behalf of the lodge.

At the close of lodge refreshments were served to about 45 members cake, sandwiches, pickles and coffee were served.

Tell Your Friends

Every once in a while you will receive a letter from a friend who has moved away from our town, asking what is the news. We all know there is a lot going on around here yet we are too busy to write to good friends every week and tell them all the news—one year, (52 weeks) for postage alone $1.50—to make a long story sweet tell them to subscribe for the Beaverton Enterprise, Aloha News, Multnomah Press or Tigard Sentinel and get all the home town news every week during 1936 for only $1. It's the best bargain in the country.

J. W. DONOVAN

Funeral services for John W. Donovan, 47, 2427 N. E. Knott street, of the Donovan Motor company, who died Saturday, were held at 9 a. m. Tuesday in Church of the Madeleine N. E. 23rd avenue and Siskiyou street Portland. Burial was in Mt. Calvary cemetery. He was the husband of Mildred E. Donovan, the father of Jean, brother of Mary and Thomas Donovan, Beaverton; Richard Donovan, Tillamook; James C. Donovan, Brawley, Cal., and Mrs. Ann Kerwin San Francisco.

Africans Hunt Elephant for His Meat and Tusks

The African natives hunt the elephant for his meat as well as his tusks. Their method is to lay pits in the elephant paths in the forest; but while these are sometimes effective the animal is more frequently intelligent enough to avoid the traps.

Big and clumsy as they appear the elephant's feet are peculiarly sensitive, and even the best camouflaged pit will not deceive the older animals. They have no special keenness of vision and, as a matter of fact, are much less gifted that way than man.

Another method employed by the natives is to set poisoned spears in the path of the animals, so that they will fall and pierce them when a trailing vine root is touched. The poison is a vegetable one peculiar to Africa and very powerful, but does not affect the meat. The portion immediately around the spear wound is cut out and thrown away; the rest of the meat is taken to the village to make a feast. What is left over after the feast is preserved by drying in the sun.

The "Black Mass"

What was known as satanism, diabolism, or the black mass, was the practice by organizations in the middle centuries in Europe of a form of worship which was the opposite of the Christian worship. In that the devil was held as the supreme being and orgies of the most violent and obscene description took place in his honor. During the Fourteenth and Fifteenth centuries there was in Europe also an outbreak of rowdiness and buffoonery connected with the religious feasts and holidays. In France, the Feast of the Ass was a travesty of the Nativity and the flight of the Holy Family to Egypt. Services were held in some of the churches in which a ribald congregation and mock priest conducted a litany in which the responses consisted of a series of brays by the "worshippers." The affair became so scandalous to decency that it was prohibited by law about 1500.

The Fattest Men

The fattest man ever known was probably Daniel Lambert, who died in 1809 in England at the age of forty. His name was used by Nineteenth century writers as a symbol of great size. His weight was 739 pounds and his waist line was 8 feet 6 inches. Pedro Cardoso, who was exhibited as the world's fattest man of recent years, died in Argentina. He weighed 638 pounds and measured 7 feet 5 inches around the waist.

Supreme Court Decision on AAA Stops Contracts

WM. F. CYRUS
Washington county farmers have received, up to Monday, January 6, at the time the Supreme Court decision upsetting the AAA was announced, a grand total of $117,770.10 on adjustment contracts covering wheat and hogs. Wheat payments total $71,269.77 and this amount was distributed among 256 farmers. Corn-hog payments total $46,500.33. In 1934 354 corn-hog contract signers received a total of $40,312.15. Only one payment on the 1935 contract has been received, totaling $6,188.18 and this amount was distributed among 180 signers of the 1935 contracts.

For 1935 compliance, which is already completed, these signers expected to receive another $5,800.00 under their corn-hog contract. On the old wheat contract there was still due on the 1935 crop approximately $9,000 which would normally have been paid next fall. It is not known at this time whether these payments on these old contracts will be made.

At the present time all work in connection with all the programs including the new wheat contracts, the new corn-hog contracts, and the Potato Act have been stopped by telegraphic order from Washington, D. C. This official communication states that all work on them is to be suspended pending further orders.

Piluso Pins Clayborn

In one of the best-wrestled contests ever seen at the labor temple, Ernie Piluso, husky Portland Italian gladiator, defeated "Happy Jack" Clayborn, negro whirlwind from St. Joseph, Mo., in the exciting headliner of Herb Owen's weekly card Monday night.

It was a classic of clean and thrilling mat work from start to finish with the capacity crowd cheering every minute.

Each of the three supporting tilts resulted in the opposite type of grappling, with roughhouse action predominating. In the semi-wind-up Jack Lipscomb won a hectic struggle from Ben Sherman, two falls to one.

Hobo Chambers, one of the most ferocious gent, ever to appear at the Fourth ave. arena, defeated Herb Burgess, Portland, in two straight falls in the second bout.

Otis Clingman, ex-navy champ from Oklahoma, took the one-fall opener from Totem Pole Anderson Fort Lewis "string bean," using flying tackles for the press.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Richey entertained guests at dinner Wednesday evening including Mr. and Mrs. Frank Best of Meadow Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gibson and Jay, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Osfield.

The Beaverton Kiwanis had an unusually fine meeting in their rooms Wednesday. Two new members were admitted, Mr. Grower and Mr. Leitz. Officers for the coming year were installed by Cy Gengelback Lt. Governor of Oregon Kiwanis, consisting of E. E. Stipe, president; Dr. R. S. Welsh, vice-president; Leonard Adams, secretary treasurer. Jay Gibson chairman of board of directors. L. R. Richey, retiring president was presented with a past president's pin.
