A New Day for the Small Business

1928 and 1929 was the time to get out of business, 1936 is the time to go into business—especially a small one. Why is this true? Technical progress has forged steadily ahead, but business expansion, with a few exceptions, has been standing still. Hundreds of improvements have been made in the things people buy to use. Today there is a large and hungry market for these "consumer goods." The voice of this market is suddenly making itself heard (how many million cars have been sold in recent months?) Inflation may bring a further flight into merchandise.

Why a small business?

A small business carries no unwieldy debt load. It can adapt itself swiftly to changing times, "shifting gears" up or down as conditions may require. It can expand or "draw in its horns" very quickly. It is easier to adapt to new lines and methods, easier to sell or to liquidate. The years ahead are promising for the small business. If you have ability and foresight, now is the time to act.

Death on the Highway

What caused serious accidents last year? As in the past, excessive speed was the undertaker's friend, accounting for 31 per cent of all accidents in which persons were killed and injured. A heavy foot on the accelerator smooths the path to the morgue.

Next came driving on the wrong side of the road, the cause of 17 per cent of the accidents. "Keep to the right" seems to be a laugh to many drivers.

Cars not having the right of way caused 15 per cent of the accidents. Their drivers saved a second or two—at the expense of life and health.

Fourteen per cent of the accidents occurred when cars drove off the roadway. Many causes may enter into this type of accident—and drunken driving, which seems to be on the increase is among them. A substantial portion of motorists must be taught, no matter how roughly, that alcohol and gasoline make a poor mixture.

Reckless driving caused 13 per cent of the accidents with the remaining 10 per cent laid to miscellaneous causes.

Think over this list. How often have you been guilty of one or more of the violations listed? Sure, you got away with it last time—but remember that next time you may not be so lucky.

Lasting Progress

The agricultural legislative situation is, to put it mildly, in a chaotic state.

The Supreme Court found the AAA unconstitutional months ago. Immediately Congress was deluged with new farm relief proposals. A bill, based on the Soil Conservation Act of 1935, has been passed—but many authorities, including some of the legal experts who helped frame it, are uncertain as to its constitutionality.

During depression much progress in farming has been made. Farmers have learned how to produce better crops on smaller acreage—they have gone ahead perfecting marketing machinery that gives them a fair break in dealing with distributors. Thousands of them have gotten a new understanding of such problems as the tariff and monetary standards, which vitally, if indirectly, affect agriculture's welfare.

This progress has come, not from politics, but from farm cooperatives, created and owned by farmers to study production and distribution of farm crops. It is the kind of progress that is lasting, and is not determined by the ebb and flow of political movements, or by the action of courts on legislation.

A World's Tax Record

At present, taxes take approximately 20 per cent of our national income. England, highest taxed of all countries, pays 25, per cent to the tax collector.

However, the English budget is balanced and current revenue balances outgo. In the United States, to the contrary, we are paying but a part of the cost of government, and charging billions against the future, as our soaring national debt proves.

It is probable that if we followed the pay-as-you-go plan, our taxes, in relation to national income, would break all world records.

Turkey Disease Topic for Forest Grove Meeting

Turkey raisers of Washington county will meet in the Forest Grove Chamber of Commerce rooms, Wednesday, March 25, at 8 p. m., according to L. E. Francis, assistant county agent. Dr. W. T. Johnson, poultry pathologist of the Oregon State College, will discuss turkey diseases. Oregon's turkey industry has reached the point where its successful continuation is going to depend to a large degree upon proper disease control, states Francis. With the turkey brooding and range season close at hand this discussion of the prevention and control of disease is very timely and should be of considerable benefit to turkey raisers.

Dr. Johnson is an internationally recognized authority on poultry diseases. The turkey raisers can well afford to take this opportunity to get advice and instruction from him. Anyone interested in this meeting is welcome to attend.

Share the Wealth

Bill asked Jake if he was in favor of the divide-the-wealth plan. Sure, said Jake. If you had a thousand dollars in the bank would you give me half asked Bill? Certainly. If you had a dozen cows would you be willing to give me six? Sure. If you had forty acres of land would you give me twenty? Of course. And if you had two pigs would you divide? No, you dern fool; I have two pigs.—Buffalo, South Dakota, Times Herald.

Hollow Clay Tile Used to Lower Construction Cost

Sylvan Brick Company and Columbia Brick Works, through their local dealers in our territory, are supplying large quantities of hollow clay tile for basements and building walls for new house construction as well as for remodeling old houses. These companies find that this tile has been gaining in favor among up to date builders. The reason for this increased use of hollow tile is economy of construction costs and damp proof results in the completed jobs.

It is found that tile is more economical than ordinary foundations to install, not to mention the convenience of immediate use coupled with the fact that it is not necessary to place or remove forms as in concrete construction. Too, the fact that lumber forms become dirty and the lumber is then unfit for use in any future building operations detracts from concrete construction.

These companies have also perfected a corner tile seal, permitting an outward gas escape and a completed job in erection results.

Those interested in brick and tile construction may see a home under present construction on Canyon Road at West Hills near the West Hills Memorial Park. The Beaverton Enterprise building at Beaverton on the new highway was completed on the first of the year and is of brick and tile construction.

Either Sylvan Brick Company or Columbia Brick Works as well as your other local dealers are always glad to advise you on this type of construction and to furnish pictures, specifications and to show sample material for your inspection without obligation.

Cosby Heads OSC Poultry Work, Hartman Advanced

Promotion of H. E. Cosby, extension specialist in poultry husbandry, to the head of that department at Oregon State college, and the increase in time and duties of Henry Hartman, pomologist of the experiment station, were approved by the state board of higher education at its latest meeting.

The position as head of the poultry department has been vacant for some time. A. G. Lunn, who served in that capacity many years, is now in Massachusetts, where he has purchased a poultry farm.

Professor Hartman, who has carried on outstanding research in the northwest fruits, had been offered an important position with a cooperative marketing organization at a large increase in salary.
