

St. Mary's Starts 78th Year On September 8

When this historic school for girls opens its doors on Tuesday, September 8th, the seventy-eighth scholastic year will be inaugurated, and Portland's "School with traditions" will again offer to students from Portland, and the Northwest, the best that any institution has to give in her varied curriculum of studies, as well as in the department of Music, Art and Athletics.

The school of Music offers splendid advantages for advancement on piano, violin, cello and harp, as well as vocal training in solo and concert work, while St. Mary's String Orchestra and Treble Triad are too well known in Portland's Music Circles to require any special tribute.

The Grade Classes enjoy the advantage of personal contact with their teachers; and the Pre-school has won very favorable comment from all the parents whose children enjoyed its excellent advantages during the 1935-1936 sessions.

For further particulars address Sister Superior, 1615 S. W. Fourth Avenue, Portland; or call ATwater 3717-ATwater 7930.

Burns School of Business Locates in Portland

One of the new enterprises of the Walnut Park district is the Burns School of Business located at 5018 N. E. Union Avenue, in Portland. Thos. L. Burns, the owner and principal has moved his equipment down from Hood River where he has been operating the Mid-Columbia Business College for the past five years.

The Burns School of Business will be operated on the same principles that built up his former school to the point where it was necessary to locate in a larger city.

Mr. Burns operates a rather unique private school. Only young people of good family background with an aptitude for business and with good personality traits will be enrolled. Girls who smoke and boys who drink are not admitted.

Northwestern College of Law Fall Semester Starts Friday, September 11th

Institution in Twenty-First Year; New Entrance Requirements Announced

Northwestern College of Law opens its 21st college year on September 11th when students for the Fall Semester will be registered between 8 and 9 p. m. at the class rooms in the Sherlock Building, Portland.

In 1884 the law department of the University of Oregon was established in Portland by Dr. Richard Thornton, and in 1915 when the state university was removed from Portland Judge Calvin U. Gantenbein organized the Northwestern College of Law, which, with its predecessor, constitutes the second oldest law school west of the Rocky Mountains.

Twenty active Judges and practicing attorneys comprise the faculty offering instruction three nights weekly in a four year course leading to the degree of LL. B. The case book system is employed exclusively and the law school has announced the adoption of three new case books for students taking Fourth Year work, all other schedules remaining unchanged. During 1935-36 registration included 222 regular students and 36 special students.

In view of the Rules of the Oregon Supreme Court effective in April, 1936, Northwestern College of Law will admit High School graduates as candidates for a degree during 1936 and 1937. Effective thereafter, the requirements for admission applicable to all candidates for a degree of LL. B. will coincide with the Rules of the Supreme Court necessitating the satisfactory completion of one half of a four-year period of study in an approved college or university, or its equivalent to be determined by examination.

The Catlin School To Open Sept. 9th

The Catlin School, located at 651 N. W. Cullpepper Terrace, Portland, announces the opening of the fall term on Wednesday, September 9th. The grounds are spacious, affording ample room for three school buildings, a tennis court, covered play court, and an open air stage. Both resident and day pupils are accepted, and the boarding department offers to resident pupils a carefully supervised home life.

Both boys and girls are accepted for grades 1 to 8, this department being called the Hillside School for Boys and Girls. These groups are housed in a separate building, under an able staff of men and women teachers. In addition to the usual grade subjects provision is made for art, music, dramatics, sports and manual training.

Insured Mortgage Loan Plan Provides Full Dollar Value on Homes

Every one who borrows to build or buy a home under the insured mortgage system of the Federal Housing Administration is assured of receiving a dollar's worth of home value for every dollar invested.

The system did even more than that for one borrower down in Arizona. It was the means of speeding a salary increase for a young man who applied for an insured loan with which to build a home.

The applicant desired to build a home in a price class slightly in excess of the cost his income justified. Instead of rejecting the application as unsound, the lending institution explained the situation to the applicant's employer.

The interview revealed that the applicant was an ambitious and steady worker who had been employed by the firm for a number of years. The result was an increase in salary sufficient to meet the requirements of the desired loan.

The employer had confidence in the applicant and in the soundness of the insured mortgage system.

Gabel Country Day School Located Nearby

Miss Priscilla Gabel's experience in educational psychology has fitted her for her present position as head of the Gabel Country Day School. She is a graduate of Reed College and has specialized in her chosen field at Smith College, the University of California, and Columbia University. As active head of The Gabel School and as teacher, she has won recognition in the educational circles of the Pacific Northwest.

Miss Gabel is assisted by a competent corps of ten teachers, all of whom have the strongest academic foundations. At the head of the high school department is Mr. Ruben T. Ross, an honor graduate of the University of Oregon. Mr. Ross has had wide teaching experience and has made a specialty of leadership in the field of boys' work. At college he was a member of the varsity track team and at the Gabel School he is in full charge of the extensive program of athletics and organized play for both boys and girls.

Classes are limited in size, with emphasis placed upon the mental and physical growth of the individual child. The requirements of the State Department of Education are met in all departments, but the course of study goes far beyond its demands. Conversational French is begun in the first grade, with daily classes under native French teachers, and is taught throughout the school. Music, Creative Art, Manual Training and Dramatics have a large place in the curriculum.

The school is located in the buildings formerly occupied by the Multnomah Golf club east of Beaverton, just off Canyon Road. For further information write or call The Gabel School, BEacon 8313 Route 2, Box 151, Beaverton, Oregon.

Portland Branch Albany College Opens Fall Semester Sept. 14

Dr. Thomas W. Bibb Announces Appointment of New Dean at School

A man who has been twice around the world and spent time in the Orient, the Philippines and Europe, will be dean of Albany college at Portland when the doors open September 14, according to Dr. Thomas W. Bibb, president of Albany college. In announcing the appointment of Dr. Gilbert O. Robinson of Columbia, Missouri, Dr. Robinson, who is enroute to Portland, received his higher degrees from the University of Missouri. He is a graduate of Maryville college in Tennessee. He is a Peabody scholar in the University of Missouri graduate school. In addition to service as superintendent of schools in Missouri, Dr. Robinson served as administrator in Prince Royal's college in Chongmai, Siam and Bangkok Christian colleges, also in Siam. He has traveled in Japan, China, Malay states, India, Italy, France, England, Honolulu, and the Philippine islands.

Dr. Robinson made a special study and investigation of college administration in the middle west. He was, also, active in church work at the University of Missouri, where he was a member of the faculty of Y. M. C. A. camp and the Young People's conference. He is an elder in the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Robinson will accompany her husband to Portland.

Lowes Dance Studios Opens Kindergarten

The Lowes Studios of Dancing announce the opening of their Kindergarten at 1511 N. E. 21 Street. They feel that Portland will be proud of this new institution. Dancing, music and body building will be stressed under the direction of Sydney Mae Jackson assisted by the entire staff of the Lowes Studio of Dancing. The aim of this kindergarten is to develop the talent in each child as it is discovered under close observation while engaged in play and study.

The beautiful kindergarten building will be devoted to teaching old time ballroom dancing and practicing socials.

Modern Ballroom, Tap, Ballet and Fencing will be taught at their East 10th and Broadway studios.
